

speakout 2ND EDITION

Discover English as it is really spoken

Speakout 2nd Edition is a comprehensive six-level general English course for adults that has been developed in association with BBC Worldwide and BBC Learning English. The course integrates authentic video from popular BBC programmes into every unit and builds the skills and knowledge learners need to express themselves confidently in a real English-speaking environment.

Completely revised and aligned to the Global Scale of English, this edition has striking new visuals, updated reading and listening texts, new video clips and a large bank of additional practice material.

Speakout Extra

Speakout Extra provides downloadable worksheets that meet learners' individual needs by providing them with additional grammar, vocabulary, pronunciation and skills practice. It also includes extra video exploitation activities to help learners get the most out of the BBC clips.

INTERVIEWS

 What makes a good flatmate?

Eat, chat and make friends

Come along to a sociable and stimulating evening of conversation that goes beyond the normal 'What do you do?' or 'Did you see last night's TV?' You'll have a number of different conversation partners during the evening, and have a menu of interesting topics to get you started. There will be Turkish mezé dishes on the tables and coffee or other drinks are available. Some of our most recent conversation topics include:

- * When do you feel most alive?
- * Which three adjectives might people use to describe you?
- * What was the last photo you took on your phone?
- * Where do you feel most 'at home'?
- * What three ingredients would you look for in an ideal job?
- * Would you prefer to live with a view of the ocean or of a city?
- * What three questions would you ask a potential flatmate?
- * What do you always have in your wallet or handbag?
- * What music do you have on your phone or MP3 player?

SPEAKING

- 1 A Work in pairs. Write three things that people talk about when they meet for the first time.
- B Read the text above about a conversation evening and discuss the questions.
- 1 What is special about the conversations?
 - 2 Which four conversation topics mentioned would you be the most interested in discussing?
 - 3 Are there any conversation topics which you would avoid asking in your culture/country?

LISTENING

- 2 A 1.1 Listen to people at the conversation evening. Which two topics from the text above do the speakers discuss? What can you remember from each conversation?
- B Listen again. Are the sentences true (T) or false (F)? Correct the false sentences.
- 1 The woman would like someone very sociable.
 - 2 She is at her best in the mornings.
 - 3 She is quite tidy.
 - 4 She would ask a flatmate about their salary.
 - 5 The man has a lot of original ideas.
 - 6 He thinks carefully before making a decision.
 - 7 He works for an outdoor adventure school.
 - 8 He agrees with the three adjectives.
- C Work in pairs and discuss the questions.
- 1 What examples do the speakers give about being: antisocial, tidy, reliable with money, creative, adventurous and non-judgemental?
 - 2 Which of the two topics would you prefer to talk about? What would your answers be for this topic?

VOCABULARY

PERSONALITY

- 3 A Complete the extracts from the conversations with words and phrases from the box.

a people person a computer geek keep yourself to yourself witty down-to-earth a good laugh

GRAMMAR

DIRECT AND INDIRECT QUESTIONS

4 A Look at the conversation extracts. Complete B's questions and then check in the audio script on page 164.

- 1 A: Another question is about housework and cleaning.
B: Yes, something like 'Who cleans the place where you live now?'
- 2 A: You need to know they can afford the rent.
B: But I wouldn't ask 'Could you tell me _____ earn?'
- 3 A: ... I like doing new things, things that are out of the ordinary.
B: Such _____?
- 4 A: That's useful in my job, too.
B: Can I ask _____?
A: I work for a web design company.
- 5 A: My friends would say 'creative, spontaneous and disorganised'.
B: I'd be interested to know _____ agree with them.
- 6 B: What _____ by 'non-judgemental'?
A: Well, I try not to make up my mind about people until I get to know them, ...

B Check what you know. Look at the questions in Exercise 4A and find:

- A direct question with an auxiliary verb
- Three indirect questions
- A question with a question word as the subject
- A short question with a preposition at the end.

C Circle the correct word in bold to complete the rules for indirect questions.

RULES

- Indirect questions are often used when a question is rather personal/impersonal or to make a question sound more polite/interesting.
- Word order in indirect questions is the same as/different from positive statements.
- Indirect questions use/don't use the auxiliaries do or did.
- When there is/isn't a question word in the direct question, add if or whether in the indirect question.

5 A Make sentences with the opening phrases.

- Why are you studying English?
Can you tell me why you are studying English?
- How long do you plan to study?
Do you have any idea ... ?
- What do you do in the evenings?
Can I ask ... ?
- Do you have a full-time job?
Do you mind me asking ... ?
- Which countries have you visited?
I'd be interested to know
- Where did you get that watch?
Could you tell me ... ?
- Is there a good café anywhere near here?
Do you know ... ?
- Would you like to come for a coffee?
I was wondering

B  1.2 Listen and check your answers. Which opening phrase is best for asking a very personal question?

6 A SENTENCE STRESS Listen again and underline the main stressed syllables in each sentence.

B Say the sentences at the same time as the recording and copy the stress.

7 A Choose three questions from Exercise 5A to ask other students and write two more indirect questions of your own.

B Work in pairs and practise saying your five questions.

C Work with other students and ask your questions.

D Work with a new partner. What did you find out about the other students?

SPEAKING

8 A Work in pairs. Choose a conversation topic from the text on page 8 and discuss it with your partner.

B Work with a new partner. Choose a new conversation topic.

C Discuss. What do you think of the idea of a conversation evening? Where would you hold it? What other food or drink could you have?

WRITING

AN ADVICE FORUM MESSAGE; LEARN TO EDIT FOR ACCURACY

9 A Work in pairs and answer the questions.

- 1 How important is speaking English for you?
- 2 Which aspects of speaking do you find difficult?
- 3 What problems are there in practising speaking outside class if you are studying in a) your own country b) an English-speaking country?

B Read the messages from a discussion forum and answer the questions.

- 1 What do you think of the suggestion in the reply?
- 2 What types of video would you choose?

Rafael

Hi everyone, I live in Spain and I don't use English at work, so I don't have any chance to practise speaking English. Does anyone have any good ideas how I could improve my speaking?

Galya

Hi Rafael,

I know exactly how you feel because I'm in a similar situation. I live in Bulgaria and also struggle to find opportunities to practise my spoken English. I know a really great idea which has really helped me. It's called 'shadowing'.

You find a short video which has the words on the screen at the same time. I really like sitcoms so I often use these, or you can find some good English video podcasts with the script under them. You listen to the speaker and you say the words at the same time. It's really good because you have to listen very carefully to the 'music' of English. You notice the stress and the intonation, how the person phrases things and where the pauses are. It's really helped me to become more confident and fluent and has improved my pronunciation.

Hope that helps. Good luck!

C Read the list of features which appear in this type of advice. Which ones are in the message above?

- 1 Show you identify with the problem.
- 2 Give advice referring to personal experience.
- 3 Say where to get more information.
- 4 Sign off and wish the person luck.

10 A Read the advice. Which of the features in Exercise 9C does the writer include?

Radu

Hi Rafael,

I think it's easy to solve your problem. You just have to make some research.¹[ww]

There are a lot of opportunities to practise speaking on internet.²[gr] You can found them by searching for 'practise speaking English online free.'³[v] Be careful, some arent really free!⁴[p] On some sites you can find a speaking partner in another country and talk to them on Skype. Often they are at the same level as you, but it's good for practise and for getting more confidence.⁵[sp] It helped me become more fluent and I also liked very much meeting new people.⁶[wo]

I hope you try this out and enjoy it as much as I did. I wish you the best success in your future endeavours!⁷[st]

B Read the advice again and correct the mistakes. Use the teacher's correction code at the end of each sentence.

Correction code:	sp = spelling
v = verb form	p = punctuation
gr = grammar	wo = word order
ww = wrong word	st = style

11 A Read the forum question below and write a reply either to Miki or Rafael (120–180 words).

Miki

Hi Rafael,

My situation is different from yours and I also need advice. I'm studying in the UK so there's English all around me but I'm quite a shy person. My grammar is good but I don't feel confident about speaking, so I end up talking to other students in the coffee bar and outside in my own language. Does anyone have any advice on this?

Miki

B Swap replies with another student. Read their text and tell them one thing you like about their advice. Then read it again and mark a maximum of three mistakes with correction codes.

C Look at your own text again. Check it carefully and make corrections.

D Read other students' advice. Whose advice is the most useful?

speakout TIP

We often miss our own mistakes, so it's a good idea to give your text 'a rest' and come back after several minutes or hours to take a fresh look. Also try reading your text aloud. You will probably spot more mistakes.

VOCABULARY

FEELINGS

1 A How do you feel about trying new things, such as a challenging sport, a new dish or a new skill? Tick the statements that best fit you. Then work in pairs and compare your answers.

- Fine if no one's watching. Why should I?
 Food yes, sports no. Not very positive, but I love it! I know it's good for me.

B Match the comments below with photos A–D. What activities are the people talking about?

1 All my friends put pressure on me to do it. Looking down, I felt scared out of my wits – who wouldn't be? Then I jumped, and I don't remember much, but I was relieved when it was all over.

2 The very thought of eating them made my stomach turn. I thought I'd throw up and I knew that would be awkward, with everyone in the restaurant watching! So I simply ate them as fast as I could. When I finished, everyone clapped. They were really impressed.

3 The really interesting thing was how quickly we learnt the steps; I was fascinated by the way the teacher taught us. At the end of the lesson the teacher gave us a prize for best beginners – we were over the moon.

4 I was shaking like a leaf as I stood up. Everyone was staring at me and I just ran out of the room. I'd wanted so much to do it, and it was over before it began; I've never felt so frustrated in my life. All my colleagues were watching and I wished the earth would swallow me up.

C Work in pairs and circle ten adjectives or verb phrases in the comments which describe feelings. How many have a positive meaning?

D Match the adjectives or verb phrases you circled to words with a similar meaning 1–10.

- | | |
|--------------------------|-------------------|
| 1 disappointed and angry | 6 very interested |
| 2 felt embarrassed | 7 felt nervous |
| 3 thrilled | 8 petrified |
| 4 disgusted me | 9 admiring |
| 5 glad it was finished | 10 embarrassing |

E 1.3 WORD STRESS Underline the stressed syllables in the adjectives and phrases from Exercise 1C. Listen and check. Then listen and repeat.

2 A Check what you know. Work in pairs and cross out the incorrect alternative in each sentence. Explain the reason for your choices.

- 1 A: I felt really frustrating/frustrated because I tried so hard but I still failed the driving test.
B: And it's your fifth time! How embarrassing/embarrassed!
- 2 A: I was very/really/totally interested in the book.
B: Yes, it was very/really/totally fascinating.
- 3 A: I was very/really/absolutely relieved at the end.
B: Yes, and we won! I was very/really/absolutely over the moon.

B What other modifiers could be used instead of absolutely or totally?

3 A Choose three adjectives or phrases from Exercise 1C and write notes about times you felt those emotions.

B Work in pairs. Tell your partner about the experiences. Are any of your experiences similar?

30 days to a new life

It's a simple idea: Choose something you've never done before, and spend the next 30 days doing it. It can be something ordinary like walking more, or changing your diet – or something that really takes you outside your comfort zone, such as mountain climbing, writing a story or getting up before sunrise every day.

It's all about changing old habits into new ones, overcoming your fears and moving your life in a healthier and more interesting direction. So go ahead, pick one of the ideas from my list or one of your own, and get started. Today. Let me know how you get on.

Easy

- Take a 30-minute walk each day.
- Keep a daily journal.
- Take a new route to work/school every day.
- Meditate for 30 minutes each day.

Intermediate

- Try a new recipe each day.
- Learn how to draw a human face.
- Stop using the internet for 30 days.
- Take a daily cold shower.

Hard

- Talk to a stranger every day.
- Take one photograph a day.
- Write a 10,000-word short story in a month.
- Get up before sunrise every day.

Comments

Jasmine21: I've just finished my first challenge: no internet for 30 days. At first, I thought it would be impossible, but I noticed after five or six days that I felt much more relaxed. For one thing, I had more time on my hands ... but more importantly, I began to pay attention to things around me more, especially the people. I realised that I often used things like social networking to avoid the outside world.

TallThinGuy: Talking to strangers is relatively easy for me because I do it all the time in my job. So I tried something a bit different – talking to a friend every day, a different friend every day. I wasn't sure I had 30 friends altogether, so after going through the obvious people – the ones I'm in touch with and socialise with now – I started digging into my past, going back to friends I'd lost touch with from university, then high school, then primary school. Since then I've made much more of an effort to stay in touch with a few really precious friends.

Chiek: I started doing this half a year ago and in the last six months I've learnt how to sail, I've taken art lessons, and become a member of an online book club. For me, the best experience has been meditation. I've done yoga for years, but I've never really tried meditation before. It's not just that I feel calmer and don't get so stressed, I also find I can focus on tasks more clearly and I sleep better. So that one's something I'm going to carry on doing.

READING

- 4 A Work in pairs and look at the title of the article above. What do you think it is about?
- B Read the first two paragraphs and check your predictions.
- C Work in pairs and look at the writer's list of suggested activities. Do you agree with the level of difficulty (easy, intermediate, hard) that the writer gives for each?
- 5 A Read the comments then work in pairs. Cover the texts and discuss. What did each person do and how successful were they?
- B Find phrases in the texts which mean:
- 1 new and difficult for you (paragraph 1)
 - 2 what happens to you (paragraph 2)
 - 3 had spare time (Jasmine21)
 - 4 searching carefully (TallThinGuy)
 - 5 tried hard to (TallThin Guy)
 - 6 continue (Chiek)
- C Work in pairs and discuss. What would you like to try for 30 days?

GRAMMAR

PRESENT PERFECT

- 6 A Complete these sentences using the words in brackets. Then check in the texts.
- 1 Choose something you _____ before. (never/do)
 - 2 I _____ my first challenge. (just/finish)
 - 3 In the last six months I _____ how to sail. (learn)
 - 4 I _____ yoga for years. (do)
- B Check what you know. Match 1–4 above with rules 1–3.

RULES

Use the present perfect for:

- 1 a completed action or experience at an unspecified time before now, often with phrases such as ever/never, this week, this month.
- 2 a recent completed action at an unspecified time before now that has a present result, often with words like just, already.
- 3 states or actions which are not complete; they began in the past and continue up to now, often with for or since.

50 Things To Do Before You Die

BBC

When the BBC asked its viewers what one thing they'd like to do in their lifetime, the response was overwhelming, with some 20,000 members of the public sending in their ideas. 50 Things To Do Before You Die takes the viewers on a tour through the top fifty viewer choices. These range from observing rare and exotic animals in their natural habitat; to travelling a historic route by train, car or jet plane; to some more extreme activities not for the faint-hearted, among them bungee jumping, husky dog sledding and wing-walking. Whether you're a hard-core traveller or an armchair tourist, you're sure to find inspiration for your next journey.

DVD VIEW

B Read the article below and check your ideas.

Local heroes

Big help can start out small scale. With simple acts of generosity, like offering a morning's work in an elderly neighbour's garden or buying a coffee for a homeless person, individuals are making a big difference. And the creativity underlying some of these acts of generosity is remarkable.

Making a good impression:

A dry cleaner's is offering its services free of charge to unemployed people to help them look their best for job interviews. Ken Thind, who owns Thind Cleaners in Vancouver, got the idea from an article he read on the internet. 'It was about a dry cleaner's in the States who put an advert in their window: Need a job, we'll clean your suit for you for FREE,' explained Indian-born Ken, 'And I thought that was a great way to give something back to the local community. We've been doing this for three years now and since we started, the company has cleaned over a hundred outfits. I don't vet people to see if they really are unemployed, but it's a one-off deal. The money comes out of my profits but to me it's worth it. I always say to them, "Go out and get that job!" and a lot of people do. That makes it all worthwhile.'

4 A Choose the correct option to complete the statements then read the text again to check.

- Ken Thind's business helps unemployed people by offering _____.
a) jobs b) clothes c) services
- The thing that makes Ken happiest is when someone _____.
a) says thank you b) gets a job c) offers to pay from their profits

Re-cycling bicycles: Twenty-six-year-old Ryan Sinclair has always loved bikes. 'I can't remember a time when I wasn't either on a bike or fixing one,' he says. 'And it was when I was cycling in Holland that I heard about a charity which mends old bikes and sends them off to people who are living in extreme poverty.' Ryan now donates all his spare time at weekends to fixing bikes for the charity. 'People often have old bikes in their garages and don't realise what a huge difference a bike can make. I recently went out to Zambia to see where our bikes end up. It was an eye-opening experience. In one family the man and woman had to walk for over an hour to get to their fields and the journey to market took the whole day. The bike has turned their lives around. Their income has trebled and the parents now have time to go to classes to learn to read and write. I get an enormous sense of satisfaction from it and I've made some lifelong friends.'

Shall we dance? That was the suggestion made by students at one Oxford college to raise money for young carers in the local area. They've organised a 24-hour dance marathon, where locals pledge £5-10 for every hour a couple dances. Sarah Lupien and Tom Wang took a break from dancing to explain. 'I met this kid, he was only twelve years old and was the full-time carer for his mother who had multiple sclerosis,' Sarah said. 'He never got to play with other kids and he couldn't keep up with his schoolwork.' Tom joins in, 'So we decided to raise money for a centre which gives children like this time off, where they can meet each other and just have some fun. We've already raised £4,000.' Sarah signals the end of their break as they head back to the dance floor. 'We've been dancing since 5 o'clock and I'm exhausted! Only twelve more hours to go!' And their next project? 'A sponsored silence at a local school. No talking for the kids all day. The teachers are looking forward to it!'

Surveillance technology: Keeping us safe or an invasion of privacy?

VOCABULARY

SURVEILLANCE

1 A Work in pairs. Look at the photo and discuss.

- How many of these surveillance techniques are you aware of?
- How many are common where you live or where you are now?
- How does surveillance make you feel? Why?

B Match meanings 1–8 with the phrases in bold in the photo.

- an official group, e.g. the government or the police
- to watch or follow (two phrases)
- to keep data (on a computer) for future use
- getting information about someone's private life in a way they don't like
- to say/find out who someone is
- stopping people from doing something illegal (two phrases)
- to obtain information
- a situation in which there is a lot of observation, filming or recording of people

C Work in pairs and discuss. How might each surveillance technique be used in a good or a bad way? How would you answer the question at the bottom of the photo.

LISTENING

2 A 2.5 Listen to two people discussing types of surveillance technology and complete the table. Put ✓ if they like it or X if they don't like it.

B Work in pairs and listen again. Student A: make notes on the woman's opinion. Student B: make notes on the man's opinion.

GRAMMAR

THE PASSIVE

3 A Check what you know. Look at the sentences from the conversation and underline the passive forms.

- 1 Not long ago a friend of mine was robbed at a bus stop.
- 2 I think statistically more crimes are solved because of CCTV than not.
- 3 I don't want to be sent adverts from companies that I don't know.
- 4 But we're being sent stuff all the time anyway.
- 5 I've been given quite a few fines over the years.
- 6 Money should be spent somewhere else to be honest.

B Underline the correct alternative to complete the rules. Use the sentences above to help.

RULES

- 1 Use the passive to put the focus on the person or thing doing the action/affected by the action.
- 2 Use the passive when one or more of these is true:
The person or thing that did the action:
 - a) is/isn't obvious
 - b) is known/is unknown
 - c) is/isn't important
 - d) is/isn't the main focus
- 3 Use the passive to bring the object of the verb to the beginning/the end of the sentence.
- 4 Use the passive to make certain written texts (e.g. academic) more personal/impersonal or formal/informal.

4  2.6 SENTENCE STRESS: passives
Mark the stress in phrases 1–6. Listen and check. Then listen again and repeat.

- 1 A friend of mine was robbed.
- 2 More crimes are solved.
- 3 I don't want to be sent adverts.
- 4 We're being sent stuff all the time.
- 5 I've been given quite a few fines.
- 6 Money should be spent somewhere else.

5 A Read the text about microchips. How many different uses for microchips are described?

Microchips are everywhere ...

... and their uses range from the ordinary to the more worrying. For example, ¹*companies can place them/they can be placed* in food packaging. Then your fridge monitors your food so that ²*they can remind you/you can be reminded* when it's time for ³*you to buy something/a product to be bought*.

The medical world has suggested that ⁴*doctors could implant microchips/microchips could be implanted* in newborn babies. Then the person's movements and habits can be tracked throughout their lives. ⁵*Scientists could also implant/Microchips could also be implanted* in criminals so that police can ⁶*keep/be kept* track of them, and possibly identify the whereabouts of known criminals at the time ⁷*someone commits a crime/a crime is committed*.

And if you're the kind of person who loses things easily, ⁸*you can buy a set of clip-on microchips/a set of clip-on microchips can be bought* which ⁹*you can attach/can be attached* to any object you want to keep track of – for example your handbag. If the object gets lost, ¹⁰*you can use your phone/your phone can be used* to find it.

B Underline the best form, active or passive, so that it a) keeps the focus on the main ideas and b) is correct.

C Work in pairs and discuss. Which ideas in Exercise 5A do you find disturbing and which don't bother you?

SPEAKING

6 A Work in pairs. Read the article and answer the questions.

- 1 Which plans would be the most useful for cutting crime?
- 2 Would you like to have these things in your local area?
- 3 How do you think the following groups of people would feel about the plans: the police, parents, teenagers?

POLICE TO INSTALL TOWN-WIDE SURVEILLANCE

In response to the recent surge in crime, police have announced plans to install the following security systems:

- » CCTV cameras to cover the whole town
- » police spot checks for identity cards
- » monitoring of phone calls
- » monitoring of social networking websites
- » all teenagers' mobile phones to be registered on police GPS systems
- » number plate recognition cameras on all main roads

B Work in pairs. You belong to one of the three groups in Exercise 6A, question 3. Make a list of your reasons for or against the plans.

C Role-play a meeting with the three groups of people. Take turns and discuss your opinions.

D Vote for one of the other two groups. Which one gave better reasons for their opinion?

WRITING

A LETTER OF COMPLAINT; LEARN TO USE FORMAL WRITTEN LANGUAGE

7 A Work in pairs and discuss. In what circumstances would you write a letter of complaint or make an official complaint? Have you ever done this? What happened?

B Read the letter and answer the questions.

- 1 Who is the letter to?
- 2 Why is the writer complaining?
- 3 What does she want to achieve?

LaGrande Travel Agency
1422 La Grande Avenue
Hartwood, 03735

To Whom it May Concern:

I am writing with regard to the misuse of a personal photograph of myself and two of my friends on your website.

The photograph in question is one I posted on my personal blog several months ago, and it involves my friends and I celebrating the end of the examination period at university. Several days ago, I was shocked to discover that my photo had been used in an online advertisement for your study abroad programme. This is both unfair and illegal, as you have been using the photograph without my permission, and as you are advertising a product with it, you are in fact using it for personal gain.

I have taken up this matter with a lawyer, who has advised me to contact you in writing. She has also indicated what further steps might be taken should you fail to respond promptly and appropriately.

To resolve this matter, I request that you remove the photograph without delay. In addition, I ask that you issue a statement of your policy regarding use of images that are not your property.

Please contact me within one week of the date of this letter to confirm that these steps have been taken. If you need to reach me by telephone, my number is (0141) 985-001.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

Yours faithfully,

Charlene Jones

Charlene Jones (Ms)

C Put the parts of a letter of complaint a)–f) into a possible order. Then check your ideas with the order in the letter above.

- a) explain what you have done so far
- b) give a time frame for action and a way of contacting you
- c) state the overall reason for writing, in one sentence 1
- d) write a polite closing comment
- e) ask for specific action from the person/company you are writing to
- f) give additional detail about the reason for writing

8 A Find the formal phrases in the letter that match the informal phrases below.

- 1 Get in touch soon to let me know that you've done something.
- 2 To put things right, I want you to ...
- 3 I'm writing about
- 4 With best wishes
- 5 Thanks for dealing with this problem quickly.
- 6 I've already discussed the problem

B In the last four paragraphs of the letter, circle the passive verbs and underline the active ones. Why does the writer choose each?

speakout TIP

A letter of complaint should follow 'The Four Cs'. It should be: concise, clear, constructive and considerate. Reread the letter. Does it follow the rules of 'The Four Cs'?

9 A Plan a letter of complaint.

- 1 Read the notes below and choose one of the situations.
- 2 Decide what you want to achieve in the letter.
- 3 Make notes on the content of each paragraph.

Situation 1

Your neighbours / new burglar alarm / alarm gone off three times / neighbours away / tried to talk to them / too busy

Write a letter of complaint to your neighbours.

Situation 2

Recently you parked car / thought it was legal / returned / parking fine / no-parking sign behind tree

Write a letter of complaint to your local council.

B Write the letter (120–180 words).

C Check the grammar, spelling and punctuation of your letter.

D Exchange your letter with another student. Check that he/she has:

- followed 'The Four Cs'.
- used paragraphs well.
- used a formal style.

- F opinions
- P intonation for partially agreeing
- V opinion adjectives

SPEAKING

1 Work in pairs. Match the newspaper extracts 1–3 with the pictures A–C. Then discuss the questions.

1 Research done at a high school in Italy showed that teenagers who played violent video games were not only more aggressive than those who didn't, but also cheated eight times more and ate three times as much chocolate.

2 One study showed that nearly 100 percent of those who get cosmetic surgery reported an increase in self-esteem, and there was a 30 percent decrease in the use of anti-depressants.

3 This is theft and thieves can be punished. In 2012, an American man was fined $1.5 million for downloading and sharing films, and several people have been fined large amounts for downloading and sharing music.

- 1 Which extracts are for and which are against the topics?
- 2 Can you think of any other reasons for and against each idea?
- 3 What is your opinion about each idea?

SUPPORT YOUR VIEWPOINT

5 Look at the phrases in bold in 1–6 below. Which phrases are used:

- a) to give an example?
- b) for facts which you have read, heard or believe to be true?

- 1 According to one article I read, kids are less aggressive ...
- 2 Apparently, the games give them a chance to use up some of their energy.
- 3 As far as I know, musicians these days get very little money ...
- 4 For instance, what about that man in America?
- 5 Like Mike's girlfriend – she actually had some Botox injections ...
- 6 ... serious health problems. Such as maybe they're extremely overweight.

6 A Cover Exercise 5 and put the underlined phrases in the correct order.

- A: ¹article to this according, teachers shouldn't give kids homework because kids learn better without it.
- B: Yes, but homework is beneficial in a lot of ways, ²for for content memorising instance.
- A: It says here that homework robs kids of the time to do other important things, ³spending such time as with their families.
- B: Well, ⁴is homework essential apparently for developing discipline and time-management skills.
- A: Well, this article says the exact opposite.
- B: You shouldn't believe everything you read ⁵that in magazines like.
- A: I suppose not. ⁶far I as know as, teachers are giving less homework these days, and I like that.

B Work in pairs and discuss. Do you agree with any of the points about giving homework in the conversation in Exercise 6A? Give examples and reasons.

VOCABULARY

OPINION ADJECTIVES

7 A Read sentences 1–6 and match the adjectives in bold with items a)–f) which are similar in meaning.

- 1 I find it deeply disturbing that children are forced to work in factories.
 - 2 It's completely unethical for a company to profit by paying workers less than a living wage.
 - 3 It seems reasonable to steal food if you're poor and hungry. Otherwise you would die.
 - 4 It is irresponsible when people leave newspapers on the train. It's just rubbish that someone else has to pick up.
 - 5 University education has become too expensive – I think it should be free for all. It's totally outrageous.

- a) having good reasons
 - b) against the law
 - c) morally wrong
 - d) shocking and unacceptable
 - e) very worrying
 - f) not thinking about the results of your actions

speakout TIP

When stating your opinion, it's important to use specific adjectives to get your exact point across. Vague adjectives like good, bad or nice are unlikely to be persuasive enough.

B Work in pairs. Student A: rephrase a sentence in Exercise 7A beginning It's terrible/bad/OK. Student B: close your book and reply with one of the adjectives.

- A: It's terrible that children have to work in factories.
B: Yes, it's deeply disturbing.

SPEAKING

8 A Work in pairs and choose three topics from Exercise 7A to discuss. Make notes on why you agree or disagree with each statement.

B Work in groups and discuss the statements. Give reasons for your opinion.

DVD PREVIEW

- 1 A Work in pairs and discuss. Are there traditional gender roles in your country? What are they?
- B Look at the statements and tick the ones you agree with. Then compare in pairs.
- 1 A husband and wife should have clearly defined roles in terms of who does what.
 - 2 I would say I have traditional values regarding these roles.
 - 3 I would prefer my partner to take care of the children so that I can develop my career.
 - 4 If I were the opposite gender, I would still answer question 3 in the same way.
- 2 Read the programme information and answer the questions.
- 1 What is the 'quiet revolution' that is taking place?
 - 2 What reasons can you think of for this change? List at least three ideas.

BBC News:

A quiet revolution

Traditionally it has always been women who do part-time jobs when a family needs one parent at home, while the man's career has always come first. But more recently it's men, not women, who are scaling down their work time and with over a million British men now working part-time, a quiet revolution is taking place. BBC reporter Emma Simpson meets three of these men to find out more about this trend.

DVD VIEW

- 3 A Watch the DVD. How many of your ideas from Exercise 2 are mentioned?
- B Watch the DVD again. Who mentions each reason for working part-time? Write 1 (Rob), 2 (Richard) or 3 (Bernard).
- to make money
 - to get back lost energy
 - to help his partner's career
 - to have more time for himself
 - to avoid getting bored
 - to spend more time with his family
- C Work in pairs and choose the correct alternative to complete the phrases in bold from the DVD. Then watch again to check.
- 1 With two young boys, he and his wife realised something had to give/go.
 - 2 It seemed to make sense for me to take the lead/load in moving down to working part-time ...
 - 3 He has to make up/do with less money, but for Rob, life's now on a more even keel/cool.
 - 4 He could have retired two years ago and put his feet down/up. Instead he's choosing to stay busy.
 - 5 It's never easy but these men are breaking the mould/roles.
- D Match the phrases in 1–5 above with meanings a)–f).
- a) less troubled and more balanced
 - b) live on not so much
 - c) end a restrictive practice
 - d) have a relaxed life
 - e) have to change to remove the pressure
 - f) act first
- E Work in pairs and discuss. Is your country seeing similar trends to those described in the DVD clip? Which reasons for men going part-time in Exercise 3B would be a 'revolution' in your country?

speakout a joint presentation

4 A Work in pairs and discuss. What are the pros and cons of traditional gender roles? Look at the two ideas below and add two more of your own.

pro: women have more time with children – closeness with mother is important con: family depends primarily on man for financial support

B  2.9 Listen to two people giving a presentation about the pros and cons of traditional gender roles. Which of your ideas do they mention?

C Listen again and tick the key phrases you hear.

KEY PHRASES

Our presentation is about ...

We'd like to talk to you about ...

First, to make it clear what we mean by [traditional roles] ...

What tends to happen is that ...

Generally speaking [the woman does the housework]

On the [positive/negative] side ...

That's bound to be [good/bad] for ...

Finally, and perhaps most importantly, ...

It also can be [risky/problematic], in that if [the man can't work/the woman hates housework] ...

5 A Work in pairs and prepare a presentation on the pros and cons of one of the topics below. Make a list of three pros and three cons.

- Women and men competing in the same teams and leagues in sports.
- Laws that say companies should have 50 percent men and 50 percent women as directors.
- Husbands and wives sharing household chores equally (housework and home repairs).

B Practise your presentation together. Agree on who will:

- introduce the presentation.
- give more information about your topic.
- state the pros.
- state the cons.
- make a summary statement.

C Make your presentation to other students. Ask them to vote on the stronger argument.

writeback notes for a presentation

6 A Read the notes for the presentation. Which topic below is it about? Which side of the argument appears stronger to you?

- Full salary for whichever parent stays at home with children
- Gender-blind hiring – your name, gender and photo do not appear on job applications
- Compulsory school uniforms, identical for boys and girls

PROS:

- best person chosen for job
- no problems re sex discrimination
- may change how society regards men/women

CONS:

- Impractical: how to conduct interviews?
- resistance from traditionally minded people/cultures
- problem with gender-specific positions, e.g. casting female role in film

B Look at the notes again. How does the writer make the notes as short as possible?

C Choose a new topic from Exercise 5A or 6A and write notes for a presentation.

D Work in pairs. Read your partner's notes and:

- say which argument appears stronger.
- identify where they can make their notes shorter by using the techniques you noticed in Exercise 6B.

V ISSUES

1 A Add letters to complete the adjectives.

- Why is gang violence more of an ur___ problem than a ru___ problem?
- Do politicians focus more on do_____ issues or gl_____ issues before an election?
- Here's a typical eth_____ question: You see a colleague steal money from your boss. What do you do?

INTERVIEWS

 What was the last book you read?

Performance of a lifetime?

Many years ago a crowd gathered outside the Paris Opera House to see a performance by one of the most famous opera singers of the time. Tickets had sold out weeks before, and opera fans had been looking forward to this epic moment ever since the performance was announced. It was a gorgeous spring evening, and everyone was wearing their finest clothes in celebration of the event.

In the moments before the curtain went up, the house lights dimmed slightly, and a hush fell over the audience as they saw something every theatregoer dreads. A man in a suit was slowly walking out onto the stage. It was the house manager, and he announced to the audience that unfortunately, the famous singer had fallen ill and that her understudy, an unknown opera singer, would be performing in her place. A sense of disappointment pervaded the theatre. Some people got up and left.

Moments later, the curtain went up and the performance ¹began. Throughout the nearly three-hour opera, the understudy, who ²had never appeared in a major opera before, gave the performance of her life. At the end of each major scene, when people usually applaud, there was literally no sound at all from the audience. Finally at the end of the opera, as the understudy sang her final notes and the orchestra played the last bars and stopped, there was only very faint applause. Suddenly, on one of the upper balconies, a little boy stood up.

READING

1 A Work in pairs. Look at the pictures and the titles of the stories above. What do you think the stories are about?

B Read the stories and check your ideas. Work in pairs and think of an ending for each one.

C Turn to page 158 and read the two possible endings for each story. Which one do you prefer?

2 A Work in pairs. Guess the meanings of the words in bold in the stories in Exercise 1B.

B Check your ideas. Match meanings 1–8 with the words in bold in the stories.

- 1 did something better than ever
- 2 didn't give up
- 3 expected to arrive
- 4 fears
- 5 got darker
- 6 shaking, usually from cold
- 7 spread through
- 8 in a way that can be seen

C Work in pairs and discuss. Which versions of the stories have a point or moral? Which story is more effective?

GRAMMAR

NARRATIVE TENSES

3 A Read the first paragraph of Performance of a lifetime? again and underline examples of the past simple, the past perfect simple, the past continuous and the past perfect continuous.

B Underline the correct verb form in the rules. Use the first paragraph of Performance of a lifetime? to help.

RULES

- 1 Use the past simple/past continuous for completed actions which give the main events in a story.
- 2 Use the past simple/past continuous for actions in progress at a particular time or when another (shorter) action happened. Also use it to set the scene of a story.
- 3 Use the past perfect simple/past perfect continuous for completed actions that happened before the main events.
- 4 Use the past perfect simple/past perfect continuous for longer actions that started before other events and often continued up to them.

C Work in pairs and look at the numbered verbs in both stories. Discuss how each example fits one of the rules above.

4 A WEAK FORMS: auxiliaries Work in pairs. Mark the stress on the phrases in bold. Circle any weak forms (/ə/ or /ɪ/).

- 1 The woman had been standing there for a long time and was shivering badly.
- 2 When she was paying for her meal, the old lady remembered what Steve Hunt had said.

B 3.1 Listen and check. Then listen and say the sentences at the same time as the audio.

It pays to be honest

One day a man ³was driving down a small country road in Tennessee on a cold winter evening when he saw an elderly woman standing by her car, apparently in some kind of trouble, so he stopped. The woman ⁴had been standing there for a long time and ⁵was shivering badly. She looked anxious as he got out of his car, so he introduced himself. 'I'm Steve Hunt. You look like you need some help.' The woman had a flat tyre so Steve sat her in his car to stay warm while he changed it.

After ⁶he'd finished the job, the old lady tried to give him money but Steve refused. She persisted, so Steve said, 'Listen, the next time you see someone in need, do something to help them. That's the best way to pay me back.'

They said goodbye, and the woman ⁷drove into the next town and stopped at a busy diner. There was only one waitress and she was moving a bit awkwardly because she was visibly very pregnant. 'When's it due, honey?' the old lady asked. 'Any day now,' answered the waitress. 'You don't look too happy.' 'To be honest, I don't know how we're going to manage on just my husband's pay.'

When she ⁸was paying for her meal, the old lady ⁹remembered what Steve Hunt ¹⁰had said and left five one-hundred dollar bills on the table, then left quickly. The waitress was astonished and grateful. She went home and found her husband watching TV.

Nothing ventured ...

I used to love the saying 'Nothing ventured, nothing gained,' but now I'm not so keen.

I started work as a computer programmer just after university, but it had always been my ambition to be a stand-up comedian. I'd been thinking about it for some time and my friends were always telling me I was funny, but I was nervous about the idea of going on stage.

Anyway, stupidly, I listened to my friends. I worked on some material and put together a twenty-minute show. I practised it for my girlfriend, which wasn't easy since naturally it was difficult for her to laugh at the same joke twenty-five times.

Finally, after I'd waited a couple of months, I was given time at a local comedy club. It was late at night when I went on, and the audience had already been sitting there for three hours. My friends were there – they'd reserved seats in the front row.

I started, and on the first joke I tripped over my words awkwardly. Apparently, the surest way to kill a joke is to hesitate. But I pushed on, and realised that my mouth was so dry I couldn't speak. Unfortunately, a couple of people in the audience started to giggle, but I knew they were laughing at me, not my jokes. My friends smiled politely.

Well, twenty minutes isn't such a long time, and eventually I finished. As I collapsed into a chair backstage, in my mind I rewrote my favourite saying to: 'Nothing ventured, nothing lost.' And I ventured nothing after that for a very long time.

A life in six words

In the 1920s, the American author Ernest Hemingway bet ten dollars that he could write a complete story in just six words.

He wrote: 'For Sale: baby shoes, never worn.'
 He won the bet.

An American online magazine has used the Hemingway story to inspire its readers to write their life story in just six words, and they've been overwhelmed by the thousands who took up the challenge. They have published the best in a book, which they have given the title of one of the submissions: Not Quite What I Was Planning. The online magazine editor, Larry Smith, appeared on Today, BBC Radio 4's early morning current affairs programme.

Today then invited its listeners to send their own six-word life stories to the BBC website.

R run out phr v 1 a) to use all of something, so that there is none left; +of We've run out of sugar. I'm running out of ideas. b) If something is running out, there will soon be none left: We'll have to make a decision soon - time is running out.

From Longman Active Study Dictionary.

speakout TIP

A dictionary gives useful information about multi-word verbs, including: the meaning, an example, whether the verb takes an object, whether the verb and its particle can be separated. How are these features shown in the extracts above? How does your dictionary show them?

7 A Look at the photo in the article on the right. What do you think this woman's life has been like?

B Read the text and answer the questions.

- 1 Did she have an easy life?
- 2 What jobs did she have in her life?
- 3 What were her major interests?
- 4 Why is she a role model?

Maya Angelou

Celebrated black African–American writer and actress Maya Angelou was born in St Louis, Missouri (USA), in 1928 and grew up in St Louis and in Stamp, Arkansas. She was brought up first by her grandmother and then her mother. As a child she suffered violence and racism and at one point even decided to stop speaking for five years.

Because of her love for the arts, she won a scholarship to study dance and drama in San Francisco, but at fourteen she dropped out and was the first African–American woman to become a cable car conductor. After going back and finishing high school, she gave birth to a son, then took on a number of different jobs, mainly as a waitress and a cook, to support her family.

Her great passion, however, was the arts. She studied modern dance and in the 1950s performed regularly in clubs around San Francisco, singing and dancing to calypso music, as well as touring around Europe.

In the 1950s she travelled extensively, living abroad in Cairo and Ghana, and picked up several languages along the way. In the 1960s, after she'd become increasingly active politically, she was devastated when two of her heroes and associates, Malcolm X and Martin Luther King, were assassinated. It was then that she published her first memoir, I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings.

She went on to write seven other memoirs as well as poetry, drama and even cookbooks. As the years went by, Maya remained active as an inspiring lecturer and she received many awards and recognition from world leaders. Millions of women looked up to her as a role model. To many people, her name stands for great courage and a huge appetite for life and expression.

Maya Angelou passed away on May 28th, 2014.

C Read the article again and match meanings 1–10 with the multi-word verbs in bold. Write the multi-word verbs in the infinitive.

- | | |
|----------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1 spend your childhood grow up | 6 pass (about time) |
| 2 learn by experience not study | 7 agree to do some work |
| 3 respect | 8 represent |
| 4 die | 9 stop doing (a course) |
| 5 continue to do something | 10 be raised |

SPEAKING

BBC

This film of Thomas Hardy's 19th-century novel tells the tragic story of Tess, the daughter of uneducated peasants in rural Wessex, the semi-fictional setting for many of Hardy's novels. In this episode, Tess and three other dairymaids* are all in love with Angel Clare, the son of a local clergyman. On their way to church one Sunday, the four dairymaids find their way blocked by a flood, but fortunately Angel arrives to save them.

4 A Read the magazine article. What type of film is it? Have you seen it? Can you complete the missing words?

My favourite film moment

My favourite scene is the one in . It doesn't happen until a long way into the film. You have been getting glimpses of the monster for a long time so the tension has been building up for over an hour. You've mainly seen shots of people trying to get away and heard the disturbing music several times. It's very cleverly done with a very slow build-up and lots of tension. So there are now three of them on a boat, the police chief, a biologist and a World War II veteran and it's all very quiet and one of them is just throwing meat into the water. There's no music, just the sound of the water and the people talking. Then the suddenly appears when you least expect it. And Roy Scheider is so cool. He goes quiet for a minute, then he walks back into the cabin and says, 'You're gonna need a bigger boat.' He doesn't even drop his cigarette. It's a lesson in perfect timing and it always sends shivers up my spine. If you've never seen it, you really should.

B Write a description of a favourite TV/film scene for a magazine. Use phrases from the description above and the key phrases in Exercise 3B to help your writing. Don't include the name of the programme/film.

C Read other students' descriptions and write the type of programme/film and, if you know it, the name.

 What's the perfect way to switch off?

VOCABULARY

FREE TIME

- 1 Work in pairs and discuss. Do you have enough free time? What do you do with it?
- 2 A Work in pairs and check what you know. What's the literal (or basic) meaning of the words in the box? Which can be used with a drink, a phone, an old clock or someone's face?

wind up switch off focus on recharge chill

B Complete the sentences with the correct form of one of the verbs in the box above.

- My phone's dead. I need to _____ it.
- I need to _____ my ancient watch.
- Please _____ the air conditioning; it's not that hot.
- _____ the lemonade before you serve it – it tastes better cold.
- If you _____ your camera _____ that tree over there, you'll get a better picture.

C Work in pairs. All the verbs above have another informal or idiomatic meaning. Which verbs do you think mean:

- relax completely? _____ out
- think about, listen or watch something or someone carefully? _____
- get your energy back _____
- say or do something to annoy someone? _____
- stop listening or thinking? _____

D Complete the sentences with the correct form of one of the verbs in Exercise 2C.

- I completely _____ when people talk about work at parties. It's so boring!
- It really _____ me _____ when a friend checks his email when we're out together.
- A summer holiday is a time to _____ so you have all your energy when you go back to school or work.
- By Saturday I need some downtime, so I stay home and _____ – you know, relax, do nothing.
- I find the easiest way to unwind in the evenings is to _____ something different like cooking.

E Work in pairs. Which sentences in Exercise 2D do you agree with/are true for you?

More free time than ever? I don't think so!

Do you have more or less free time than you used to? In our survey, an overwhelming majority (96%) said they have far less than they used to. And they were shocked to discover that according to recent research, we actually have far more than we had a decade ago. So where does the time go?

One would be quick and perhaps right to blame the internet. Eight out of ten adults say they now go online in any location, not just at home or at work.

But contrary to current opinion, television still rules. Looking at adults of all ages, over 90% reported watching TV as their main free-time activity. Spending time with friends and family came in a close second (87%), followed by listening to music (79%). Spending time on the internet ranked 4th in the 16–44 age range, but much lower among the 45-plus group. Shopping seems to have greater appeal for pensioners – it's their third-favourite way to spend free time.

Perhaps it is most revealing then to look at what people actually enjoy.

Unsurprisingly, spending time with family and friends ranked near the top, and doing household chores near the bottom.

But what was most surprising is that watching television – an activity we seem to devote most of our leisure time to – also ranks very low in terms of pleasure.

READING

- 3 A Look at the headline of the article above and tick the topics you think will be in the article.

shopping working hours the internet exercise housework sleep television

B Read the article and circle the topics in Exercise 3A that it mentions. Were your predictions correct?

C Which of the following statements can be supported by the article?

Most people ...

- have less free time than they used to.
- use the internet wherever they are.
- prefer watching TV to listening to music.
- over 65 spend less time on the internet than younger adults.
- have a negative attitude towards their job.
- enjoy the internet more than watching TV.

- 4 A Read the opening sentences from two experts responding to the article. Work in pairs and list two things you think each expert will say.

THE EXPERTS HAVE THEIR SAY:

Sandra McCullough, psychologist and parent

'What's changed isn't the amount of free time, it's people's ability to do nothing.'

Gerald van Halen, sociologist and parent

'Nothing has changed except what we mean by "free-time activities".'

B Student A: turn to page 159. Student B: turn to page 160.

C Students A and B: work in pairs and discuss.

- 1 What were your expert's main points?
- 2 Who identifies a more serious problem?
- 3 How could either problem be solved?

GRAMMAR

PRESENT AND PAST HABITS

- 5 A Look at sentences 1–5 and underline the phrases that express habits.

- 1 We used to have more free time ...
- 2 People would sit around and watch TV or read.
- 3 Why are they always talking on their mobiles?
- 4 ... or they'll often play a computer game together.
- 5 They usually watch YouTube clips together ...

B Work in pairs and check what you know. Look at the rules and underline the correct alternative. Use the sentences above to help.

RULES

- a) Use used to + infinitive for activities and states that happen regularly now/happened regularly in the past but not now.
- b) Use would + infinitive for regular activities/states in the past which no longer happen now.
- c) Use frequency adverbs (always, usually, generally, normally, typically, etc.) + present simple/continuous for present habits or + past simple/continuous for past habits.
- d) Use always + present continuous to talk about long/repeated activities that are often annoying/surprising.
- e) Use will + infinitive to talk about activities/states which are present/future habits, often with frequency adverbs.

C  4.1 CONNECTED SPEECH: contractions Listen to the examples of fast connected speech. Write 'd', 'll or present simple (PS) for each sentence.

- 1 _____ 2 _____ 3 _____ 4 _____ 5 _____ 6 _____ 7 _____ 8 _____

- 6 A Complete the readers' comments about the article on page 44. Use present and past habits. Write ONE word in each gap.

I remember 1995, and it does seem like I had more free time then. I ¹ _____ to meet friends a few times a week. Now we ² _____ get together once a month max.

Denise, Canberra

Everybody is ³ _____ blaming technology and work. So quit your job and turn off your mobile! And stop whining. Remember, it didn't ⁴ _____ to be like this.

Tatiana, Poznan

I can identify with this article. In my twenties I ⁵ _____ commute three hours a day to and from work and I ⁶ _____ worked on the train. I never seemed to switch off.

Craig, Edinburgh

Young people don't understand. They ⁷ _____ happily spend hours sitting next to each other in a café and never saying a word. When I was their age my friends and I ⁸ _____ talk for hours.

Scott, Los Angeles

On a day off I ⁹ _____ nearly always check my work emails, and then I get into the whole internet thing. But doesn't everybody ¹⁰ _____ do this?

Steff, Berlin

B Work in groups and discuss. Which of the readers' comments can you identify with?

SPEAKING

- 7 A Work in pairs and look at the pie chart showing the hours spent on different activities in a working father's average weekday. Discuss the questions.

- 1 Do you think this person has a balanced life?
- 2 Is there anything he should spend more or less time doing?
- 3 What would be similar or different on a pie chart of your average weekday?

B Draw a pie chart like the one above for your average weekday.

C Work with other students. Show each other your pie charts and discuss.

- 1 What are the differences between your pie charts?
- 2 How should other students change their lives?
- 3 Who has the most balanced average day?

WRITING

AN OPINION ESSAY; LEARN TO USE LINKERS

8 A Look at the essay title. Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

Most people fill their leisure time with meaningless activities. Do you agree?

- 1 What do you consider a 'meaningful' and a 'meaningless' leisure activity?
- 2 What is your opinion of the statement?

B Read the essay. Do you agree with the writer's point of view?

- 1 It is said that technological development has given people more leisure time than they used to have, and that this frees them up to concentrate on pursuing their interests or improving themselves. It seems to me, however, that most people spend their free time doing things that do not contribute to their development and are essentially unproductive.
- 2 To start with, the most popular free-time activities seem to be ones that people do alone. For instance, most people spend a large part of their time on the internet and, even when they are interacting with others, they are only doing so electronically. In addition to this, when people do go out it is often to visit the shopping centre; for some families, their main time together consists of a few hours walking, filling a shopping trolley and eating at a snack bar in a shopping mall.
- 3 At the same time, there are examples of people making good use of their time. At weekends, there are parks, forests and beaches full of people doing sports or taking walks together. Some people do volunteer work for charity organisations for a few hours a week. Other people join theatre or singing groups. All of this supports the view that there has been some positive change; sadly, however, this reflects a relatively small part of the overall population.
- 4 In conclusion, I agree that people use their free time wastefully, and I feel that the situation is getting worse. It is my hope that this might change in the future.

C Work in pairs. Identify the purpose of each paragraph.

D Underline three phrases for giving opinions.

9 A Complete the table with the linking words/phrases in bold in the essay.

firstly to start with	furthermore	to conclude in contrast	for example	this shows

B Add the following phrases to the correct columns of the table.

moreover	in the first place	to sum up
this proves	as an example	as opposed to this

10 A Choose one of the essay titles below. Work alone and make notes on the questions.

Adults need to play as much as children do.

Leisure activities have become too expensive.

Children need more play time in order to develop into healthy adults.

Friendships formed over the internet are as strong as ones formed in person.

- Do you agree with the opinion?
- Why/Why not? List three points.
- What examples can support your points?

B Work in groups and discuss your opinions. Note any new points you could include in your essay.

C Write a plan for your essay.

speakout TIP

One way to organise an opinion essay is as follows:

- An introductory paragraph – state the topic and give your opinion. You can start, 'Some people believe ...' or use a question or a quotation.
- The main body of the essay (two or three paragraphs). When you make a point, give a reason and/or example.
- A conclusion – you restate your opinion using different words.

D Write the essay (120–180 words). Check your work for accurate grammar and use of linkers.

VOCABULARY

POSITIVE ADJECTIVES

1 A Work in pairs and tell each other about your last holiday. Did you enjoy it? How did you choose it?

B Read the website adverts and answer the questions.

- Which adverts offer free holidays?
- Which ones are holidays where you learn something?
- Which, if any, appeal to you most?

2 A Underline eight positive adjectives in the adverts. Circle the nouns they describe.

speakout TIP

Many adjectives with similar meanings are not interchangeable because they collocate with particular nouns, e.g. a stunning view but not stunning fun. Always make a note of typical adjective-noun collocations.

B Cover the text and complete the adjective-noun collocations. Then check in the text.

- 100% right: _____ opportunity/place/example
- important and popular for a long time: _____ destination/car/film
- unusually good and more than expected: _____ results/talents/ability
- giving a lot of pleasure: _____ city/village/garden
- important and easy to notice: _____
progress/improvement/change
- very good or beautiful:
_____, _____, _____ views/location/scenery

C 4.2 WORD STRESS Put the adjectives from Exercise 2B in the correct group. Then listen and check.

1 0o 2 o0 3 0oo 4 o0o 5 o0oo

D Work in pairs. Student A: say an adjective-noun collocation. Student B: give an example from your country and say why you chose it.

A: a delightful town

B: Trapani in Sicily because ...

LISTENING

3 A 4.3 Listen to three conversations and match the people with the holiday adverts above.

B Listen again to the three conversations and answer the questions.

- In Conversation 1, what is the man likely to enjoy the most and least about his trip?
- What does the other man think of the trip?
- In Conversation 2, what three suggestions does the woman make?
- Does the official agree to these suggestions?
- In Conversation 3, what does the woman mention having done on her trip?
- What does she want to do next summer? What could stop her?

GRAMMAR

FUTURE FORMS

4 A Work in pairs and read the extracts from the conversations in Exercise 3A. Who is speaking?

- 1 A: When are you off?
B: The taxi _____ me _____ (pick up) at seven tomorrow.
- 2 A: Not my idea of a holiday!
B: Actually, I don't think it _____ (be) too hard.

- 5 A: The plane _____ (arrive) at 10.30 at the earliest.
B: But that's over three hours' time!
A: I'm sorry, Sir. And it _____ (be) later than that.
- 6 A: So are you hoping to go back?
B: I'd love to. Maria's invited me and I _____ (go back) next summer but only if I can afford the flight. But I have a plan. I _____ (look for) a new job, with more money.

B Complete the extracts with the verbs in brackets and one of the future forms from the box below. In several cases, more than one form is possible. In each case which forms cannot be used? Why?

be going to be likely to present continuous might be due to will ('ll)

C Look at audio script 4.3 on page 167 and check the forms.

D Match rules 1–8 with the examples in Exercise 4A.

RULES

Intentions and plans

- 1 Use the present continuous for definite arrangements.
2 Use be going to/be planning to/be hoping to + infinitive for a general intention.
3 Use will ('ll) + infinitive for a decision made at the moment of speaking.
4 Use might/could + infinitive for an intention that is not certain.

Predictions

- 5 Use will ('ll)/won't + infinitive for general predictions often with adverbs such as definitely/possibly.
6 Use be due to when something is expected or scheduled to happen.
7 Use be likely/unlikely to for a prediction that is probable.
8 Use might/could + infinitive for a prediction that is not certain.

5 A CONNECTED SPEECH Work in pairs and say sentences 1–4 out loud. Which pronunciation is more natural, a) or b)?

- 1 What are you going to do after class? a) /wɒtɑːjuː/ b) /wɒtəjə/
2 Who will be there? a) /huːwɪl/ b) /huːl/
3 When will you have time to talk? a) /wenəljə/ b) /wenwɪljə/
4 When are you meeting them? a) /wenɑːjuː/ b) /wenəjə/

B  4.4 Listen and tick the pronunciation you hear. Then listen and repeat.

- 7 I'm hoping to/thinking of travel to China at some point in the future.
- 8 I might/I'm unlikely to live abroad in the future.
- 9 We are due getting/to get our test results by the end of the week.
- 10 Our national team definitely won't/won't definitely win.

B Change five of the sentences so that they are true for you.

C Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: tell your partner your sentences. Student B: ask follow-up questions.

A: I might go to Croatia on holiday this year.

B: Sounds good. Whereabouts in Croatia?

VOCABULARY PLUS

UNCOUNTABLE AND PLURAL NOUNS

8 A Read the email. Why is Valerie enjoying her holiday?

To: Gabriel14@mailbox.com

Hi Gabriel,

Just a quick note from the middle of nowhere . . .

We got off to a bad start when Marianna fell down the stairs coming off the plane (no major injuries). Then our luggage got lost, along with all of my clothes and my reading glasses, as well as our toiletries. Things are pretty basic here – you can't buy soap for instance. We're staying on the outskirts of a tiny village, in a yurt, a sort of house made of cloth and wood (see attached photo). In fact there's no concrete anywhere, only these yurts, except the remains of an old stone hut nearby. So how do we spend our time? Well, we do a bit of horseback riding during the day and we play cards in the evening. The locals are incredibly friendly. You know, I've realised that simpler is better and I really don't want to come home!

Valerie

SPEAKING

7 A Work in pairs and take turns. Ask and answer questions and make notes on:

- your partner's interests and hobbies.
- the type of accommodation and transport he/she prefers on holiday.
- things he/she doesn't like on holiday.
- if he/she wants to spend a lot on a luxury holiday or wants something more reasonably priced or free.

B Work with a new partner. Use your notes to design an alternative holiday for each of your previous partners. Think about the following things:

- name of the alternative holiday
- location
- means of transport
- length of time
- accommodation
- main activities
- other information (clothing, equipment, climate, health, preparation, items to bring)

C Tell your original partner about the alternative holiday you have designed.

Your holiday is called Patagonia by Horse. It's likely to be cold and rainy, so you should bring ...

B Work in pairs and discuss. Would you enjoy this type of holiday? Why/Why not?

C Look at the email again. Underline six uncountable nouns and circle eight nouns which are usually found only in the plural. Use a dictionary if necessary.

DVD PREVIEW

- 1 Work in pairs and discuss. Which ways of completing the statement do you agree with? Check any new words with your partner or in a dictionary.

Money can't make you happy ...

- but job satisfaction can.
- is a silly thing to say! Of course it can!
- but you can't be happy with none. You need a basic standard of living.
- but shopping does make me feel good.
- and neither can possessions or designer goods.
- but a good income gives you status in society.
- but I need enough for my leisure activities.
- but I would still like to be very, very rich!

- 2 Read the programme information and answer the questions.

- 1 What does the programme say about the relationship between money and happiness?
- 2 What are some of the theories that explain this, do you think?
- 3 What suggestions do you think the experts will make?

The Happiness Formula

BBC

Happiness: everybody wants it, it's such a simple concept, so why is it so hard to get, and to hold onto? Scientists have begun to look for answers, and this six-part series explores their findings. In tonight's instalment, presenter Mark Easton looks at why consumerism has failed to increase our happiness, and some theories and research that scientists use to explain this failure. He talks to experts who give us some ideas of how we might change our life and become happier people.

DVD VIEW

- 3 A Watch the DVD. How similar were your answers for Exercise 2 to the ideas in the programme?

B Work in pairs and try to complete the suggestions about topics 1–3 from what you remember. Then watch again to check.

- 1 the rat race: _____
- 2 the rich: _____
- 3 holidays: _____

C Check what you remember. Underline the correct words. Then watch the DVD again and check.

- 1 ... does happiness come in a gift-wrapped box/package? And if it doesn't, what on earth are we all doing?
- 2 ... the standard of living has increased dramatically/hugely and happiness has increased not at all and in some cases has fallen/diminished slightly.
- 3 Then your neighbours drive up in two top-of-the-range/of the latest BMWs. And suddenly your Mini just doesn't do it for you/make you happy anymore.
- 4 In our search for happiness we work longer, commute/travel further, to get richer, to buy more. And yet the science of happiness suggests we should do exactly the opposite/take a different direction.
- 5 The next task, though, is to persuade/convince us all to change the way we live.

D Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 Did you find the programme persuasive?
- 2 Which ideas do you agree with?
- 3 How might you go about making the changes that are suggested?

speakout a happiness survey

- 4 A Work in pairs and discuss. Look at the box below. What do most people consider the single most important 'ingredient' of happiness? Which one is the least important?

a life partner peace and quiet a nice car free time friendship sport or exercise money clear goals good food music other (what?)

- B  4.7 Listen to a man answering questions about happiness. Which topics from Exercise 4A does he talk about? Which are the most important for him?

- C Listen again and tick the key phrases you hear.

KEY PHRASES

[Could I/Do you mind if I] ask you some questions?

Which would you find the [easiest/hardest/most difficult] to live without?

Do you think that most people feel [money/a nice car/...] is essential to happiness?

How important are these things to you, on a scale of one to five, five being very important?

Which is [the easiest/hardest] to achieve?

What would you say is missing from your life?

- 5 A Work in pairs and prepare a short happiness survey using the key phrases.

- B Talk to other students and ask your questions. Make notes on their answers.

- C Summarise your findings to the class.

writeback tips for being happy

- 6 A A website asked its readers for tips for being happy. Work in pairs. Read two of the responses and discuss which you agree with.

Don't read the news or watch TV

The news is filled with negative images and stories and each one contributes to your stress levels, making you feel more depressed. Following the news can also take up a great deal of your attention. Instead, use the time to do something you enjoy, such as cooking a meal, phoning a friend or going for a walk.

Get a pet

Studies have shown that people who have a dog or cat are happier and live longer. A pet can give companionship that, for some people, is almost as good as having a partner. Be realistic about what type of pet would be most suitable for you and for your accommodation. Remember, if you choose a dog, you'll have to take it for walks, whereas a cat is more independent.

- B Work in pairs. Choose three topics from the box or your own ideas to write tips for being happy. Make notes using the headings below.

exercise friends family work money nutrition

Tip:

Why this helps:

How to do it:

- C Write about your tips for the website (120–200 words). Use one paragraph for each tip.

- D Read other students' tips. Whose tips would work best for you?

V FREE TIME

1 A Add the vowels to complete the verbs.

Don't wait till it's too late!

These days more than ever it's important to know how to ¹r_ch_rg_. But some people don't know how to relax and how important it is to do so before it's too late.

First of all, notice the danger signals. If you get ²w_ _nd _p easily by the little annoying things people do, it's time for a break. It's time to ³f_c_s _n yourself! Go and sit by a lake or on top of a hill. Don't think about anything, just ⁴ch_ll _ _t. Don't listen to music or anything – music might be another way to ⁵sw_tch _ff, but it's an artificial solution. So listen to the wind and the water. You'll feel your energy change, you'll feel yourself ⁶_nw_nd.

B Work in pairs and discuss. Which part of the author's advice do you agree with?

G PRESENT AND PAST HABITS

2 A Correct the mistake in each sentence. One sentence is correct.

- When I was younger, I'd often went to clubs with my friends.
- People are thinking always about the next task; of course they can't pay attention to now.
- I didn't used to check my email first thing in the morning, but now I do.
- I used to get up early these days and go for a jog.
- Most weekend mornings I'll staying in bed till noon since I don't have a reason to get up.
- As a child, I used to play board games a lot with my family.
- My best friend always sending me texts. It's really annoying.
- Years ago I would believe I was always right. Not anymore.

B Work in groups and discuss. Which of the habits above are good and which are bad? Which of them do/did you share?

V POSITIVE ADJECTIVES

3 A Rearrange the letters to complete the phrases.

- a _____ place to relax (rpecetf)
- a _____ book (aislsc)
- a _____ view of a city (rheabnikatgt)
- a _____ restaurant (ubpesr)
- someone with a/an _____ talent (lixeeoncpat)
- a _____ improvement to public transport (figistnican)
- a _____ village (flughdielt)
- _____ scenery (tnninsgu)

B Think of something, somewhere or someone for five of the phrases above. Then work in pairs and compare your ideas.

G FUTURE FORMS

4 A Work in groups. Look at the headlines from a future newspaper. Which ones:

- are likely to happen?
- will definitely never happen?
- could happen, but are not likely to?

A ITALIAN BECOMES UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE

B Average lifespan increases to 100 years

C LAST WAR ENDS – WORLD PEACE ACHIEVED

D Petrol supply exhausted – price of bicycles soars

E INTERNET BANNED WORLDWIDE

B Which three predictions can you confidently make about the world in twenty years' time?

I think the average lifespan is likely to increase because ...

5 A Write the conversations in full using different future forms.

1 A: What / you / do / Friday?

B: I / go / Julia's party / or / maybe / go / cinema.

A: I / go / Julia's party / so / I / give you a lift / if / want.

B: Thanks. / I / phone / if / I / need / a lift.

2 A: How / you / planning / use / your English / in the future?

B: I / try / get a job / international company. How / you?

A: I / hoping / get / into / American university / but / I / unlikely / get / my first choice.

B: I / sure you /.

3 A: Hurry up or we / miss / the bus!

B: What time / due?

A: It / due / two minutes.

Leave / coat. You definitely / not / need / it today.

B: But it / rain. / I / take / umbrella just in case.

B Work in pairs. Use the prompts to practise saying the conversations.

F DESCRIBING PROCEDURES

6 A Underline the correct alternatives.

The Oyster Card

The best way to get around London is with the Oyster Card. ¹A/The point is that you don't need a new ticket every time you travel. ²Basic/Basically, the way ³it works/it's working is that you put credit on your Oyster Card. What ⁴does happen/happens is that, at the entrance to the underground, you swipe the card over a reader. The next thing ⁵what/that you do is to swipe it again when you exit, and the cost is taken from your credit. The ⁶goal/main thing is to top up your credit before it runs out. ⁷After/Afterwards you've left London, you can pass the card on to a friend!

B Write your own tips for getting around a town/city you know using five phrases for describing procedures.

BBC

INTERVIEWS

 If you could start a business, what would it be?

The world's worst inventions

Fast food and speed cameras are among the most hated inventions of all time. But what really gets you annoyed? Thousands of people voted and the results, published by the BBC science magazine, Focus, make for a surprising read.

7 FAST FOOD

Americans are the ultimate fast food eaters, spending an estimated $142 billion (£73 billion) on it in one year. But it seems our days of carefree consumption of fatty, cholesterol-rich food may be limited, as we gradually wake up to the health risks. In 2002, some obese U.S. teenagers filed a lawsuit against McDonald's, accusing the fast food chain of fattening them up. A judge later threw out the lawsuit.*

*threw out the lawsuit – decided there was no reason for any legal action

6 TELEVISION

Many of us are probably surprised by this one. But it's actually reality TV that's the main offender with 3% of the total vote. Making its debut in 1948 with Candid Camera in America, reality television's popularity has risen in the 21st century; in the USA there are two TV channels devoted to it. Why it's so popular is anyone's guess.

5 CIGARETTES

Cancer-causing chemicals in cigarettes mean that men who smoke are twenty-two times, and women twelve times, more likely to develop lung cancer than those who don't. Smoking is also linked to other cancers and heart attacks. Pregnant smokers are at greater risk of giving birth to underweight babies. The World Health Organization says up to 29% of British men and 19% of women smoke.

READING

- 1 Work in pairs and discuss. What do you think are the five worst inventions of all time?
- 2 A Look at the photos. Were these the same as your ideas? Write down one reason why each is on the worst inventions list.
B Read the article. How many of your reasons were the same?
C Read the article again. Are the sentences true (T), false (F) or not given (NG)? Where possible, underline the phrase or word that helped you decide.
 - 1 Americans consume the most fast food.
 - 2 Candid Camera is famous for being the most popular U.S. reality show ever.
 - 3 Smoking is more dangerous for women than men.
 - 4 Cars being less expensive has meant that more people use cars.
 - 5 Alternative fuels will probably replace petrol in the near future.
 - 6 Traditional power plants are less expensive to run.
 - 7 Research has shown mobile phones are not more dangerous as you get older.
 - 8 People felt equally negative about all types of weapons.D Work in pairs and discuss. Which inventions should not be on the list?

VOCABULARY

CHANGE

- 3 A Complete the sentences. Then check your ideas in the reading text.
 - 1 Nuclear accidents are rare but can _____ devastating effects.
 - 2 [The mobile phone is a gadget] that's _____ communication.
 - 3 Innovations that go bang or _____ bodily harm were the most hated.B Match 1–8 with a)–h) to make sentences.

1 We are already having to adapt	e	a) their fight for equality.
2 Streaming services have transformed		b) to the change of seasons.
3 It takes some people time to adjust		c) on travellers' experiences.
4 Hosting a global sports event can do harm		d) to access high-quality education.
5 Coal and gas mining cause damage to		e) to extreme weather events.
6 Online hotel reviews have a positive effect		f) the environment.
7 E-learning courses have enabled millions		g) the way we listen to music.
8 The appearance of female journalists in the media has revolutionised		h) to a country's economy.

C Underline the verb phrases related to change in Exercises 3A and 3B and write them in the correct group according to their meaning. Include the part of speech that follows them.
 - 1 react to change: adapt to + noun
 - 2 make a positive change:
 - 3 make a negative change:
 - 4 make a big change:D Work with other students and discuss. Which issues in Exercise 3B do you agree with or relate to personally? How many views or experiences do you have in common?

4 THE CAR

Car haters out-voted petrol users. Developed in the late 1880s, the modern car was initially the toy of the wealthy, but falling prices have made it a key part of family life. The motor industry is now booming – over 60 million cars and light trucks are produced globally in a year. But a green fuel is unlikely to take over from petrol soon, so the car continues to add to our growing carbon footprint.

3 NUCLEAR POWER

Nuclear accidents are rare but can have devastating effects. Nuclear power plants cost more to construct and operate than fossil fuel ones, and are supported by large subsidies from the taxpayer. Waste storage is also a concern but supporters promote nuclear power's green status as it produces no carbon dioxide directly.

2 MOBILE PHONES

A surprising silver medal for the gadget that's revolutionised communication. Mobiles have been available in the UK since 1985 and have been widely used since the late 1990s. Almost three-quarters of Britons now own one. Despite health scares linking mobile phone use to brain tumours, most studies have found there is no increased risk. Maybe it's those annoying ring tones that have put mobile phones here.

1 WEAPONS

Bombs, guns, biological weapons, you name it – innovations that go bang or cause bodily harm were the most widely hated in our survey. Nuclear weapons were the worst offender, getting 11% of the total vote. They've only been used twice in wars – in 1945, the USA dropped the bomb 'Little Boy' on the Japanese city of Hiroshima, followed three days later by 'Fat Man', which fell on Nagasaki.

GRAMMAR

ARTICLES

4 A Check what you know. Complete the sentences with a(n), the or – (no article). Then check your answers in the article.

- 1 In 2002, some obese U.S. teenagers filed _____ lawsuit against McDonald's, accusing _____ fast food chain of fattening them up.
- 2 In _____ America, _____ reality television's popularity has risen in the 21st century; in _____ USA there are two television channels devoted to it.
- 3 _____ World Health Organization says up to twenty-nine percent of _____ British men and nineteen percent of _____ women smoke.
- 4 Developed in _____ late 1880s, _____ modern car was initially the toy of _____ wealthy, but falling prices have made it _____ key part of family life.

B Complete the rules 1–6 in the table with a(n), the or –. Write a word or phrase from the sentences above as an example of each rule.

RULES	Use:
	1 a/an with singular countable nouns when you are not talking about a particular thing, or when you mention something for the first time. a lawsuit , _____
	2 _____ with any type of noun when you and your reader/listener know which particular thing you are talking about, for example because it is unique or it has been mentioned before. _____, _____
	3 _____ with plural and uncountable nouns to talk about things in general. _____, _____, _____
	4 _____ with most place names such as continents, countries, cities. _____
	5 _____ in fixed phrases such as in ... 1960s , in ... beginning . In some country names. _____, _____
6 _____ with a singular countable noun or an adjective used as a noun for something in general. _____, _____

5 A 5.1 WEAK FORMS AND LINKING: the LINKING: the Look at sentences 1–3. Circle the where it is pronounced /ðə/ and underline it where it is pronounced /ði:/. Then listen and check. What is the rule?

- 1 The interesting thing is that many of the people who hate it are the ones who watch it.
- 2 The automobile has done less well since the economic crisis.
- 3 Those who voted for the car mentioned the harm it does to the environment as the biggest problem.

B 5.2 Listen to the pronunciation. What sound is used to link the and the following vowel? Listen and repeat.

- the interesting thing / ɪ /
- the automobile / ə /
- the economic crisis / ə /
- the environment / ə /

- 6 A Look at the headline. Why do you think people chose the bicycle? Read the article and check your ideas.

*It's transformed the way ...
It has enabled people to ...*

Bicycle chosen as best invention

¹ _____ humble bicycle has won ² _____ UK national survey of ³ _____ people's favourite inventions.

Listeners to BBC Radio 4's You and Yours programme were invited to vote in ⁴ _____ online poll looking at ⁵ _____ most significant innovations since 1800.

It was ⁶ _____ easy victory for ⁷ _____ bicycle, which won more than half of ⁸ _____ vote. Second came ⁹ _____ radio with eight percent of the vote, and the electro-magnetic induction ring – the means to harness electricity – came third.

Despite the fact that you can find them everywhere, ¹⁰ _____ computers gained just six percent of the vote and ¹¹ _____ internet trailed behind with only four percent of all votes cast. There were more than 4,500 votes cast in total.

People chose the bicycle for its simplicity of design, universal use and because it is ¹² _____ ecologically sound means of transport.

- B Complete the text with the correct articles, a(n), the or -.

SPEAKING

- 7 A Work in pairs and discuss. For each pair of inventions, which one do you think is more important? Why?

- the oven or the fridge
- the pen or the pencil
- fire or the wheel
- the bicycle or the car
- the zip or Velcro
- sunglasses or sunscreen

- B Work with another pair.

Pair 1: say a number from the list, and choose one of the two items. Say why it's more important.

Pair 2: say why the other item is more important.

After two minutes, agree on which pair is the winner.

A wrist radio

B bottle cap

C ring pull

D jet pack

VOCABULARY PLUS

COMPOUND NOUNS

- 8 A Work in pairs and look at the pictures above. Which inventions do you think were the least successful? Why?

- B Complete the encyclopedia entries with the names of the inventions in the photos.

The ¹ _____ was expected to be a major breakthrough for transport but in the trade-off between safety and efficiency, safety won. The outlook for its future remains poor.

The ² _____ was expected to revolutionise communication but had a serious drawback: it could not be used over a long range and communication breakdowns were common.

As glass bottles were replaced by cans, drinks manufacturers needed a replacement for the ³ _____, and the outcome was the ⁴ _____. The downside of the move to cans was a huge increase in the amount of rubbish.

- C Match definitions 1–6 with the words in bold above.

- | | |
|-------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 compromise trade-off | 4 a discovery |
| 2 expectation | 5 disadvantage (2 words) |
| 3 system failure | 6 result |

- 9 A Complete the information with examples from the entries in Exercise 8B. More than one answer is sometimes possible.

Compound nouns are usually made of two words. They can be written as separate words, e.g. bottle cap, or a single word, e.g. ¹ _____. or they can be written with a hyphen, e.g. ² _____. The plural is made by adding an s to the end, e.g. breakdowns. Several common compound nouns are made of a verb + preposition, e.g. ³ _____, or a preposition or adverb + verb, e.g. ⁴ _____. If you understand both parts of the compound, you can often guess the meaning.

- B 5.3 Listen to seven sentences. Write the compound noun in each sentence in your notebook and underline the stress. Where does the stress usually fall?

- C Work in pairs and choose three inventions. Write an encyclopedia entry for each one using two of the compound nouns above. Write they/it instead of the invention.

They were an important breakthrough in the 20th century. They give us relatively clean energy but they also have some serious drawbacks, including the danger of a major breakdown.

- D Exchange entries with other pairs and guess the inventions.

REAL AND HYPOTHETICAL CONDITIONALS

3 A Check what you know. Which sentences refer to real situations and which to hypothetical ones?

- Experience shows that if the price is higher, people think your product is better.
- If a video goes viral, it will get millions of views.
- People will click off unless the video is memorable.
- Your brand name will travel around the world provided the video goes viral.
- Supposing you wanted to sell a new brand of chocolate, ... what price would you set?
- If another coffee shop opened next door ..., they'd sell at least a thousand cups each.

B In 1–6 above, circle the verb in the conditional clause and underline the verb in the result clause.

5 A Work in pairs and discuss. How could a company promote a new product? Give three ideas.

B Read the text. Does it mention your ideas?

If you wanted to launch a new product for a specific audience and only that audience, what ¹would/will you do? The answer is to get a vlogger to endorse your product. A vlog is a video blog and a vlogger is the person who presents the videos. If your product were, for example, lipstick, you ²will/would choose someone who gives advice on makeup – her followers are your perfect target audience. It works like this: you send the vlogger a sample of your product and then, ³providing/unless the vlogger likes your product, she ⁴will/would mention it on one of her vlogs. OK, you pay her of course, but ⁵as long as/unless she's a vlogger with a large following (some have over a million), your investment ⁶will/would be worthwhile and sales should boom. Just be sure that your suppliers have full stocks – if the vlog ⁷goes/went online in the morning, your lipstick may be sold out by afternoon. A REPORT; LEARN TO MAKE WRITTEN COMPARISONS

7 A What influences you when you buy a new phone or a computer? Write a list of factors.

B Work in groups and compare ideas.

8 A Look at the chart on the right which shows the results of a survey on why people choose a particular smartphone. What is the most and least important factor for each group of people?

B Read the report written by a student on the survey results and answer the questions.

- Which factors are mentioned?
- The student has made one factual error. What is it?
- How would you complete the main headings?

C Look at the report and write true (T) or false (F).

- A report has headings for the first and last paragraph only.
- The first paragraph states the purpose of the report.
- The last paragraph gives a final comment and sometimes a recommendation.
- The language is formal.

D Read the report again and complete tasks 1–3.

- Circle three phrases for saying that two things are the same or nearly the same.
- Underline four different phrases for talking about differences.
- Put a box around four linking phrases.

9 A Work in pairs. Look at the chart again and make notes on four points you could make about teenagers.

B Complete the report by continuing the paragraph about teenagers. Write 40–60 words. Include at least four of the phrases in Exercise 8D.

C Read your partner's text. Did you choose the same information to focus on? Did you both use a formal style?

Introduction

This report looks at the results of a survey of students and employees in our language school in relation to their reasons for buying a particular smartphone.

Men and women: ¹

First of all, comparing the results for men and women, it can be seen that some factors affect both groups more or less equally. For example, there is no difference in how much size and colour influence their choice of phone, and the results for 'my friends have the same one' show only a slight variation.

Men and women: ²

There are, however, significant differences in the results for other factors. The usefulness or practicality of a phone's features is far more important for men than for women, as is the price and how much it makes the owner look successful. On the other hand, women place greater importance on brand loyalty.

³

The results for teenagers showed an interesting contrast to those for men and women. First of all, ...

Conclusion

It appears that despite the differences, there are two factors which have relatively high importance for all three groups: what smartphone their friends have, and what is fashionable. Given this, it can be concluded that people are more influenced by social factors than practical ones.

10 Complete the task below.

A group of adults were asked about how they choose a summer holiday destination, giving a score from 1–10 to each of a number of factors to indicate their relative importance. The graph below shows the results. Write a report of 120–180 words summarising the results, highlighting the similarities and differences.

- F suggesting ideas
- P intonation: showing reservations
- V collocations with idea

VOCABULARY

COLLOCATIONS WITH IDEA

- 1 A Work in pairs and discuss. What do you understand by 'brainstorming'? What is it used for?
- B Read the article and check your ideas. Which rule do you think is wrong?

THE SIX RULES OF BRAINSTORMING

- 1 Quantity is more important than quality. Suppose you're looking for a way to get people to walk more. One brilliant idea isn't enough, you want five, ten, dozens to choose from. The goal of the brainstorming stage is to come up with as many ideas as possible.
- 2 No idea is too predictable or bizarre. In fact, sometimes these ideas can lead to the perfect solution.
- 3 Zero judgment. Never reject an idea because you think it's dreadful or unrealistic, because what you need is just ideas, ideas, ideas. The worst thing you can do in a brainstorm is to criticise an idea.
- 4 Everybody's equal. You have to identify shy people and encourage them. There's no hierarchy, it only works if you work as a team.
- 5 Have no time limit. People often get their best ideas if they have as much time as they need.
- 6 Write all the ideas down – each and every one. Have a secretary who records whatever anyone says. You can develop the ideas further after the meeting.

C Read the text again. Underline six verbs and circle six adjectives which collocate with idea(s).

Come up with as many ideas as possible.

D Replace the words in bold with a word from Exercise 1C.

- 1 I get my best ideas when I'm in the shower.
- 2 Having a four-day working week is a terrible idea.
- 3 I would never say no to an idea completely unless I had slept on it.
- 4 It's OK if people say my ideas are bad.
- 5 People in my country are creative but are not so good at expanding their ideas into something with business potential.
- 6 Allowing teenagers to start school at 11a.m. is a crazy but brilliant idea.
- 7 People's ideas about married life are not very practical.
- 8 When educational authorities want to measure progress, they usually suggest more testing. It's an obvious idea, and a good one.

E Work with other students and discuss the topics above. Which ones do you all agree with?

How about a competition?

DVD PREVIEW

1 A Work in pairs. The name of the BBC programme you're going to watch is Genius. What do you think the programme is about?

B Work in pairs. Read the programme description and decide if the statements are true (T) or false (F).

- 1 Celebrity guests present their ideas.
- 2 The ideas are generally both funny and clever.
- 3 The audience decides which ideas are 'genius'.

 Genius

Can an idea be both silly and genius at the same time? That's what the BBC programme Genius is all about. Each week, members of the public present their wild and crazy ideas for a new product or service. Presenter Dave Gorman and a celebrity guest first interview each inventor to find out all about the invention, and in the end the celebrity guest decides whether the idea is truly genius or not. In this programme, the suggestions include a new type of choir where each chorus member has very little to sing!

DVD VIEW

2 A Work in pairs. Look at the picture in Exercise 1B which shows an idea from the programme. What do you think the invention is?

B Watch the DVD and check your ideas. What did the show add to Dan's idea to make it work?

C Look at the sentences from the clip and underline the alternative you think they say. Then watch the clip again and check.

- 1 We invite the people with the most potential/best ideas to join us and it's here that we decide/work out once and for all who really is a genius. OK Stuart, let's see what you think about/make of our final idea tonight.
- 2 Someone playing the keyboard would then be essentially/basically playing a choir. I've never seen this done before, and I would really like to/it.
- 3 No, you couldn't have it at home, really no, not unless ... not unless you by chance/happen to live with a choir of some sort.
- 4 We thought it was worth trying/worthy of investigation so ...
- 5 Just hit anything you like without thinking about it/at random, a kind of ...
- 6 And, well I think that you should maybe give it a go/try it Laurie ...

D Look at these ideas from the programme. What are the benefits and drawbacks of each one? Which ideas are just silly? Which is the most 'genius' idea?

- Sell socks in threes instead of pairs.
- Set up a 'democrobus' bus service where the passengers decide where the bus goes.
- Have genetically engineered one metre-high mini-elephants as pets.
- Send food to houses via pipes for those times when you don't want to cook.

★★★★ EXCEPTIONAL

★ VERY POOR

I'm now on my tenth pack of Yummy Utensils and have been delighted with their success. My four-year-old is a very picky eater but now even if he eats only part of his meal, he still insists on eating his knife, fork and spoon. What I like most is that they're not only good value for money but they're also nutritious. The only downside is that Sergio has started to try and eat his real knife and fork at nursery school! Highly recommended.

As a dedicated 'green' supporter I bought some Yummy Utensils after seeing them advertised in an eco-magazine. What a waste of money. They are supposed to be strong enough to cut vegetables. Mine broke on the first carrot, and the spoon half-melted when I was stirring sugar into my coffee. But the thing I really hated about them was the taste. They tasted like cardboard. I was very disappointed. Overpriced, over-hyped and not worth the money. Don't bother.

C Work in pairs and discuss. Which of the ideas in the article above do you think are true?

F SUGGESTING IDEAS

- 5 A Find and correct ten mistakes in the students' conversation.

- A: It's be great if we could have the class party at a four-star hotel.
B: That wouldn't be my last choice. How much do you feel about the school cafeteria?
C: The school cafeteria? To be honest, wouldn't work. What does Pizza Rizza strike you?
B: That's no a bad idea at all.
A: Actually, I think we're on the wrong truck here. I think we should go for somewhere nicer.
B: OK. Supposed we try the Four Seasons or the Hilton?
A: I'm tearing between the two, but the Four Seasons is closer.
C: OK. Let go with that.

B Cover the conversation and try to memorise the phrases.

C Work in groups and plan a party for your class.

- 1 Brainstorm the place, kind of food, activities/games, live music and dress. Remember the rules of brainstorming – just say ideas and write them down but don't criticise.

- 'old' (said in a more polite way)
- in the best period of their life
- treating people unfairly based on age
- reach the age when legally an adult
- in relation to how old they are
- wisdom that comes with age
- childish

- B Choose three questions that interest you from Exercise 2A and discuss them in pairs.

READING

- 3 A Work in pairs and discuss. What do you think it means to 'peak early' or to be a 'late bloomer'? Read the first two paragraphs of the article and check.

- B Work in pairs and discuss the questions. Make notes on your ideas.

- In the photographs, who do you think are late bloomers? Who peaked early?
- In which of these fields is someone more likely to peak early: acting, singing, writing, sports, business?
- One author says that sometimes a late bloomer seems to be a failure. Why do you think this is?
- How do these change as one gets older: freedom, obligation, expectations? What is an example of each?

- C Read the article and check your ideas.

EARLY PEAKERS AND LATE BLOOMERS: WHO HAS IT WORSE?

We're all familiar with the story of the film star or singer who peaks early, finds fame at a young age and then seems to disappear. Or the novelist whose brilliant debut at age 22 is followed by works of increasing mediocrity. Sports are particularly biased towards youth; how many teenagers have a moment of glory at the Olympics only to fade away in their 20s when they are no longer able to compete?

And then there are the late bloomers, who discover their talent relatively late in life: the actress who gets her first big part in her 40s, the office clerk who pens a bestseller at 50, and the businessman who starts a multi-million dollar enterprise in his 60s. Late bloomers might spend decades struggling to find their passion or be noticed, and that can be painful. As author Malcolm Gladwell wrote, 'On the road to great achievement, the late bloomer will resemble a failure.'

Wherever in the world you are born, society sets out a timeline for your life. You start out confronted by rules and restrictions: you mustn't cross at the red light; don't talk back to the teacher. There are milestones of freedom: the age at which your mother says you can stay out late, the point at which you're allowed to take public transport alone or to drive a car. Later, the fruits of your work give you other freedoms, for example you don't have to worry about money for a nice holiday or a meal at a fancy restaurant. And there are the ever-shifting sands of obligation and expectations. A teenager complains because her parents make her do her homework and don't let her stay out after 10 o'clock. The 30-year-old suffers because he's supposed to be earning more than his peers but he isn't; he has to work all hours but can't find himself in his profession, and meanwhile feels he should give everyone the impression that he's successful even if he isn't.

Early peakers and late bloomers have all made a name for themselves because in some way they managed to break out of the timeline that society had set for them. Perhaps we can all take a lesson from them and break out of our own timeline.

Director Ang Lee had his first global breakthrough at the age of 41 with Sense and Sensibility in 1995. Since then, with films like Brokeback Mountain and Life of Pi, he has become a worldwide success.

After working as a firefighter and insurance salesman, Colonel Sanders was 62 years old when he opened the first Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant. When he sold the chain in 1964, there were 900 of them.

Wang Yani is a Chinese child prodigy whose work was first exhibited in China when she was four and later became a stamp. Her work now appears in galleries internationally.

It was in 1605, after a career as a soldier and then a tax collector, that Cervantes' novel Don Quixote was published, destined to become one of the greatest novels of all time. He was 58.

Romanian Nadia Comăneci, winner of three Olympic gold medals, was the first female gymnast to be awarded a perfect score of 10 in an Olympic gymnastic event. She was only 14. She retired at the age of 23.

As a child, Jocelyn Lavin was a natural mathematician and a gifted oboe and piano player. She later discovered she lacked the discipline for university work and eventually became a teacher.

8 A Make notes on your answers to questions 1–3.

- Are most of the people you spend time with your age or a different age? Why?
- How is your generation different from older or younger ones? What sort of misunderstandings or conflicts can this cause?
- Is the 'generation gap' greater or smaller than it used to be? Why?

B Work in groups and discuss the questions.

VOCABULARY PLUS

WORD-BUILDING: PREFIXES

9 A Check what you know. Add a negative prefix to the words in bold to make them negative. Use dis-, in-, il-, im-, ir-, mis- or un-.

- You have un realistic expectations of life.
- Your behaviour is predictable and sometimes logical.
- You are satisfied with how your life has turned out.
- You aren't very keen on familiar situations.
- You are patient with people who don't understand technology.
- You think you are mortal.
- You are willing to change your mind about your opinions.
- You behave to get people's attention.
- You sometimes feel secure in groups and interpret what people say to you.
- How much money you have is relevant. You're just happy not to be healthy.

B 6.2 Listen and check your answers to Exercise 9A. Then listen and repeat. Are the prefixes stressed or unstressed?

C Work in pairs and discuss. Are any of the sentences above truer for younger people and/or older people? Give examples to support your ideas.

speakout TIP

A dictionary can help you find which negative prefix a word takes. Look at this listing below for the adjective mature. How is the negative shown? How does your dictionary show negative prefixes?

M mature adj 1 behaving in a reasonable way like an adult [≠ immature] She's very mature for her age.

From Longman Active Study Dictionary.

10 A Answer each pair of questions with words that share the same prefix. Use the prefixes in the box and the words in bold to help.

- B Work in pairs and compare your ideas. Do you have any plans or hopes in common?
- 2 Read the programme information below and answer the questions.
- How does the website work?
 - Do you think it would be uplifting or depressing to get a letter from your younger self?

Letters to myself

The idea is simple:

write a letter to yourself, and futureme.org will keep it and send it back to you at a point in the future - you pick the date. What will you discover, looking back? In this BBC radio programme, people read aloud and comment on their letters.

- 3 A  6.3 Listen to Laura reading a letter she wrote to herself four years ago when she was sixteen. Answer the questions.
- Which topics did she write about?
 - Is the letter down-to-earth or romantic? Is it generally optimistic or pessimistic?
- B Listen again and correct the mistakes.
- I envisage myself at Oxford Uni, ... sitting under a tree ... and watching something floaty.
 - I know, I'm practical. I hope that hasn't changed.
 - I hope I'll have married someone.
 - ... I think I'll have three children with long brown hair and blue eyes.
 - ... I have to write everything I can down, but I'm running out of time.
 - Don't worry too much, and be happy with who you are.
- C  6.4 Listen to the second part of the programme and underline the two correct alternatives.
- Laura now sees her sixteen-year-old self as shallow/quite mature/unrealistic.
 - She feels very happy/ecstatic/amazed at the way her life has turned out.

WRITING

AN INFORMAL EMAIL; LEARN TO FOCUS ON INFORMAL STYLE

8 A Imagine you could go anywhere and do anything you like on holiday next summer. Complete the sentence below, and then compare with other students. Did any of you have the same idea?

In the middle of next summer I'd like to be _____-ing (activity) and _____-ing (activity) in _____ (place).

B Read the email about someone's suggestion for next summer and the email reply from her friend. Does Corinna answer Louise's questions? What do you notice about the style?

Hi Corinna!

I've just heard there's an Irish dance and music festival in Dublin in July. ¹How about coming over to visit me and we can go to it together?

²Tickets are already on sale, and I'll get us some as soon as I know you're coming for sure. ³Check out the festival website (I'll paste the address below) and let me know which concerts you'd like to see.

⁴My cousin has a flat in Dublin – how about if we stay there? His family will have left for their summer holiday so it'll be just us staying there. Is there anything else you'd like to do in or around Dublin while you're over here?

⁵Let me know how many days you can stay. Can't wait to see you!

Louise

Dear Louise,

⁶I was delighted to receive your email regarding the music festival, and I would like to accept the invitation. I have always wanted to visit Dublin, and this seems like the perfect occasion to do so.

You asked me about concert choices but I didn't get the link. ⁷I would be most grateful if you could send it again. ⁸My preference would be for dance rather than music. I will inform you of my specific choices once I see the programme.

Your cousin's flat sounds excellent. ⁹I would be interested to know if it is in the city centre or on the outskirts.

¹⁰I'll be able to stay for three days, and I will book a flight once I know the concert dates. I look forward to receiving further information about it all.

Yours sincerely,

Corinna

C Read the emails again and write the number of the sentence next to the functions below. One sentence has two functions.

- | | |
|-----------------------------|-------------------------------|
| a) acknowledge email | d) accept an invitation |
| b) request information (x4) | e) make a suggestion |
| c) invite someone 1 | f) providing information (x3) |

9 A Read Corinna's reply again. Work in pairs and discuss how to replace the formal phrases in bold with informal ones.

B Complete the table with the phrases in bold.

informal	formal
1 a great time for it	the perfect occasion to do so
2 about
3 Can't wait to hear more
4 Do you know
5 happy to get
6 I'd love to come
7 I'd rather see
8 All the best,
9 I'll let you know
10 It'd be great

C Rewrite Corinna's reply in an informal style.

10 A Read the email extract from a friend. Write an informal reply accepting the invitation in 120–180 words.

I'm glad to hear that you're coming next month. This'll be only your second time in this city, won't it?

We could spend Wednesday walking in the hills nearby or perhaps just drive out and look at the scenery. Then would you like to go to the theatre in the evening?

On Thursday some friends of mine are having a party. We could go to that or if you like just stay in and watch a DVD, or walk around town.

Let me know what you prefer. Can't wait to see you!

B Swap your reply with your partner. Check each other's work using the table in Exercise 9B.

C Read other students' replies. Who sounds the most excited about their visit?

CLARIFY IDEAS

5 A Read the extract from the radio phone-in. Find two phrases where people ask for clarification of an idea.

DJ: So basically you think she's too young for a phone.

Ed: Yeah, yeah, that's right.

DJ: Surely it's up to the parents to set guidelines.

Ed: So what you're saying is I should give her some rules?

B Read audio script 6.6 on page 170 and find two other phrases to ask for clarification.

speakout TIP

Clarify an idea by repeating something in your own words (paraphrasing). This also 'buys' time while you think about how to react.

C Complete the sentences to paraphrase 1–4.

1 It's unfair. Rich kids don't have to work.

So what you're saying is all kids should have to work.

2 Elderly people don't get enough respect from younger people.

Horizon: How to Live to 101

BBC

The quest to live longer has been one of humanity's oldest dreams, but while scientists have been searching, a few isolated communities have stumbled across the answer. On the remote Japanese island of Okinawa, in the Californian town of Loma Linda and in the mountains of Sardinia people live longer than anywhere else on earth.

A group of scientists who study the science of longevity have dedicated their lives to trying to uncover the secrets of these unique communities. Tonight's documentary travels to Okinawa to meet some of its long-living and remarkably healthy inhabitants.

DVD VIEW

- 4 A Watch the DVD. What are the two main reasons mentioned for why Okinawans live such long lives?
- B Work in pairs. What does the underlined word refer to? Watch again and check your ideas.
- It's four times higher than in Britain and America.
 - The Okinawans don't really think about this.
 - Bradley and Craig think that one of the main reasons for the Okinawans' longevity can be found here.
 - They contain antioxidants, which protect against cell damage.
 - The Okinawans only fill it to 80 percent of its capacity.
 - If you do this, you may die sooner than you might if you didn't do it.
- C Watch the DVD again and underline the word you hear.
- Without thinking about the latest diet or lifestyle fad/fashion, Mr Miyagi has developed his own way of slowing the ageing process.
 - The explanation for this extraordinary phenomenon/miracle begins in the most ordinary of places.
 - They've identified a number of important qualities/properties that protect the Okinawans from disease.

6 A As a class, choose one of the topics for a debate.

- 1 Politicians should be young – younger adults understand the changing world better.
- 2 Junk food can shorten lives and should be made illegal.
- 3 Children should take care of their parents when they get old.
- 4 Workplaces should require employees to do an hour of exercise a day.
- 5 It's better to live at a very high standard for 50 years than at an average standard for 100.
- 6 Some younger people think they have nothing to learn from older people, and they're right.

B Work in pairs either for or against the statement. List at least four points to support your opinion.

C Work in groups and debate the topic. At the end, have a vote.

writeback a forum comment

7 A Read the forum comment and discuss in pairs. Do you agree with the writer?

I strongly feel that children should take care of their parents when they get old, and I'm shocked that anyone disagrees. I grew up in a traditional society, where my grandparents lived with us and were always in the house. When I came to this country, it surprised me how unusual it was for three generations to live together. I accept that most young people's lifestyles don't fit with those of grandparents. However, in my opinion, we are fully responsible for taking care of our ageing parents and grandparents. My reasons are that:

- our parents and grandparents invested a lot in caring for us, and it's our duty to do the same for them.
- elderly people can experience loneliness and helplessness. If we care about someone, we should protect them from these feelings.
- it's more expensive and wasteful for people to live in separate homes.

I definitely think that everyone should reconsider the way they live, and move towards a more traditional family structure, even in a modern context.

B Number parts a)–d) in the order they occur in the forum comment.

- a) summary statement
- b) reasons for opinion
- c) statement of opinion
- d) personal background

C Choose one of the topics from Exercise 6A and write a forum comment giving your point of view.

D Read other students' forum comments and tell them which parts you agree and disagree with.

V AGE

1 A Add the vowels to complete the sentences.

- Society, not families, should take care of the _ld_rly.
- People _n th__r pr_m_ should simply enjoy life and not work.
- The key sign of someone c_m_ng of _g_ is when they earn enough money to pay their own rent.
- It's embarrassing when an older man or woman dresses too young f_r th__r _g_. People should dress and act th__r _g_.
- _g_ d_scr_m_n_t__n is necessary in certain types of jobs.

2 A Work in pairs and look at the photos of five programmes produced in the UK. What type of programme is each one? Why do you think each one is a global hit?

B Read the article and check your ideas.

C Why are sentences 1–8 false? Underline the relevant phrase or sentence in the article.

- 1 While nature programmes might be expected to be popular worldwide, costume dramas are only popular in the UK.
- 2 For a car programme, Top Gear has surprisingly few cars in it.
- 3 Viewers loved seeing the bullet train hit the supercar in Top Gear.
- 4 A lot of people thought The Office would be successful.
- 5 The Office is actually a serious documentary.
- 6 Everyone thought that people who liked Sherlock Holmes would welcome a new version.
- 7 Chinese viewers lost interest in Sherlock after the second season.
- 8 The only dancers on Strictly Come Dancing are professionals.

E Discuss. Which of the programmes would you most like to watch?

NATURAL WORLD

UNLIKELY GLOBAL SUCCESSES

What sort of TV programme would you make if your goal was to appeal to the whole world? Obviously a well-made wildlife programme such as the BBC's Natural World series would travel well, with its visual content and cross-cultural appeal. Costume dramas and historical mini-series also seem to survive the transition to a different culture. But how about a car programme, a quirky British comedy or an old-fashioned dance competition? Recent years have seen quite a few unlikely successes for programmes with an appeal beyond their intended audience.

Would it surprise you to know that the most downloaded programme ever is Top Gear, which regularly attracts over 350 million viewers worldwide in 170 countries every week? And yes, we are talking about a car programme headed up by three middle-aged men. True, there are a large number of cars, very fast cars, but its appeal lies more in the jokey relationship between the three presenters and also in the crazy challenges that are a key feature of each programme. On one occasion, for example, the presenters' bizarre search for the source of the Nile pulled in millions of viewers, and a race between a supercar and a bullet train was another huge hit. Like it or loathe it, Top Gear truly is a global phenomenon.

THE OFFICE

STRICTLY COME DANCING

SHERLOCK

Comedies rarely travel well and many people predicted The Office would flop because of its slightly strange British humour. Instead, the American version of the sitcom attracted 11.2 million viewers during its first showing in 2005. Since then, this 'mockumentary' has become an international sensation and has been copied several times. The French call it Le Bureau while those living in Chile have La Ofis and in Germany, it's Stromberg. It enjoys a good deal of popularity despite the fact that it features characters who aren't particularly funny and survive mundane office life by acting a little cooler than they really are. The boss is a deeply unattractive character who is respected by no one. However, The Office is a sitcom with a heart, centred around the romantic relationship between two main characters. Perhaps that's one reason why it has proved such a success.

There are few fictional characters as well known as Sherlock Holmes and when the BBC decided to give him a makeover, there was a real risk of alienating fans of the much-loved classic tales. The stories were updated to twenty-first century London, used state-of-the-art graphics and had two relatively unknown actors in the main parts. The BBC now has a worldwide hit on its hands. Sherlock is broadcast in more than 200 territories and the long-awaited first episode of the third season was viewed almost seven million times in China only a couple of hours after it was initially aired in the UK. As with The Office, people are drawn in by the intriguing relationships between the main characters, so maybe there's a theme developing here. However, this doesn't explain the appeal of our final programme.

Whoever could have imagined that Come Dancing, an old-fashioned dance competition popular in the 1960s, would be resurrected as Strictly Come Dancing in the UK and Dancing With the Stars in over forty-five countries who have bought the format? What's not to like? Show-stopping dances, celebrities, plenty of glamorous dresses, big band music, popular hosts and viewer participation, this programme has it all. Celebrity contestants with little or no experience of dancing pair up with professional dancers and perform in front of a live audience to impress the voting viewers and judges. A tired old format has been revitalised and gone global in a most unexpected way.

It all goes to show that when it comes to picking favourites, the audience will surprise you every time.

REPORTING VERBS

- 4 A Read the news story and discuss with a partner. Do you think Les Brown is telling the truth?

Insurance hoax?

An insurance company has accused a Louisville man of faking injuries from an on-the-job accident in order to get a large insurance payment. Les Brown, 49, denies lying to authorities about his injuries, and has promised to prove that photos showing him playing tennis are fake. Brown has refused to speak to journalists about the matter.

- B Read the update to the story below. Have you read about any similar stories in the news?

Faced with clear evidence, Les Brown has admitted faking his injuries to cheat the insurance company. His ex-wife persuaded him to stop lying about the situation after authorities warned Brown to tell the truth or face a long jail term. Brown has apologised for embarrassing his family and has agreed to pay a large fine.

- C Look again at the texts and underline all the reporting verbs.

- D Write each reporting verb next to the pattern that follows it.

1 -ing form
2 preposition + -ing form
3 object + preposition + -ing form	accuse sb of doing sth

- C Complete the sentences so they are negative.

- 1 He accused them _____ (take) his injuries seriously.
- 2 He persuaded his doctor _____ (talk) to the media.
- 3 His wife told him _____ (lie) about the situation.
- 4 He apologised _____ (tell) the truth.
- 5 The authorities warned him _____ (do) it again.

- 6 A Complete the questions with the correct form of the verb in brackets.

Questions of Trust

Situation 1

A colleague has a photo of you at an office party doing something embarrassing. He threatens to show it to your boss unless you pay him a small sum of money. Would you:

- a) agree _____ (pay) the money since it's a small amount, just to avoid trouble?
- b) deny _____ (do) anything wrong and tell your colleague to do whatever he wants?
- c) talk to your boss and apologise _____ (act) stupidly?

Situation 2

Someone shows you a printout of an email written by your best friend. It's full of negative comments about you and also contains a few secrets that you told your friend. Would you:

- a) accuse your friend _____ (betray) you?
- b) refuse _____ (believe) that the email is real, and do nothing?
- c) make your friend admit _____ (write) the original email and warn him/her _____ it again (never do)?

Situation 3

A year ago, you promised to take a friend out to dinner for her birthday at an expensive restaurant. She's just reminded you, but now you don't really have the time or money. Should you:

- a) promise _____ (take) her but next year?
- b) persuade her _____ (go) to a cheaper restaurant?
- c) tell her the situation and apologise _____ (not keep) your promise?

Situation 4

Your boss has offered to give you a bonus if you write a report that will have her name on it and that she will take full credit for. Would you:

- a) offer _____ (do) it but only if she gives you credit, too?
- b) suggest _____ (ask) someone else?
- c) say no and threaten _____ (report) your boss to her boss?

- B Work in pairs. Take turns to ask and answer the questions in Exercise 6A.

SPEAKING

7 A Work in pairs. Look at statements 1–4. Choose two statements and write one reason for and one reason against each one. Give examples to support your ideas.

- 1 Manipulation of images in advertising is justified in order to make a message stronger.
- 2 Idealised images of models in media can have a positive effect on ordinary people.
- 3 The media should be free to examine the lives of public figures.
- 4 The media should focus more on the lives of ordinary people rather than on famous people.

B Work with other students and compare your ideas.

WRITING

A DISCURSIVE ESSAY; LEARN TO USE LINKERS OF CONTRAST

8 A Read the essay and discuss. Which topic in Exercise 7A is it about? Do you agree with the writer's point of view?

These days the media is full of stories of celebrities' private lives: their relationships, rows, problems with weight and so on. In fact, the public seems to have a never-ending appetite for this type of gossip.

It could be argued that celebrities invite publicity despite knowing that this will leave them open to public attention. Therefore, it is hypocritical for them to complain when the media shows interest in other aspects of their lives. Also, celebrities are influential role models to many people and because of this, their private lives should be open to public examination. Additionally, the public have the right to know about the rich and famous since it is our money that supports them.

However, there are several reasons why celebrities deserve a certain level of privacy. Firstly, while some people actively seek fame, others do not. For example, a person might want to be a great tennis player but not wish to suffer media intrusion into their family's private life. Secondly, although reporters might claim an item is 'in the public interest' often, in fact, they are more interested in selling a sensational story. Lastly, the unwelcome attentions of reporters and photographers can put celebrities under great stress.

On balance, I believe that celebrities have the right to the same kind of privacy as anyone else. Just because on some occasions they invite interest in order to publicise their work, this does not mean that they should not be able to say 'no'.

B Read the essay again and underline the correct alternative.

- 1 The introductory paragraph explains why the topic is of interest/gives the writer's opinion about the topic.
- 2 Paragraph two gives points for/for and against the idea.
- 3 Paragraph three gives points against/for and against the idea.
- 4 The conclusion asks the reader's/gives the writer's opinion.

9 A Look at sentences 1–4. Circle the linker which is used to show a contrasting idea.

- 1 Celebrities invite publicity despite knowing that this will leave them open to public attention.
- 2 While some people seek fame, others never want or plan for it.
- 3 Although a reporter might claim that a story is 'in the public interest', often they are more interested in selling a sensational story.
- 4 However, there are a number of reasons why celebrities deserve our sympathy.

B Work in pairs and answer the questions.

- 1 What punctuation follows However?
- 2 Which form follows despite?
- 3 In sentences 1, 2 and 3, which is the main clause?
- 4 Do the linkers in 1, 2 and 3 introduce the main clause or the subordinate clause?

C Use the linkers in brackets to connect the ideas in two different ways.

- 1 some celebrities are good role models for young people / others set a negative example (however, although)
- 2 anonymously published internet news is unreliable / many people rely on it as a main source of information (despite, while)
- 3 false reports of celebrity deaths are common / some people still believe them (while, however)
- 4 the scandal damaged his reputation / he still has millions of fans (although, despite)

10 A Write notes for the four sections of a discursive essay on one of the other topics in Exercise 7A.

B Write the essay (250–300 words).

- F adding emphasis
- P sentence stress
- V the press

VOCABULARY

THE PRESS

- 1 A What do you think are the most popular topics in newspapers? Read the article below and check your ideas.

Six topics that keep the tabloids in business

In an age when quality newspapers are seeing a serious drop in circulation, tabloid journalism is in no danger of dying out. Six topics always guarantee sales:

- 1 Scandal – the public loves glimpses into the lives of the rich, famous and powerful and scandal fuels tabloid sales.
- 2 Money – everyone wants it, and some people will stop at nothing to get it. Many tabloids have a regular feature about money.
- 3 Babies – whether it's because they were born in a taxi or can speak two languages from birth, it seems we can't get enough of them.
- 4 Animals – flip through any tabloid and you'll find a heart-warming story about a brave dog, or a cat that's befriended a mouse.
- 5 Royalty – hardly a day goes by that a 'royal' doesn't make an appearance in a morning edition.
- 6 Winners – from lottery winners to Olympic gold medallists, a winner on the front cover guarantees high sales.

Bold headlines, plenty of appealing photos, a low price and a colour supplement or two make tabloids the perfect escape from real life. They aren't afraid to be biased and show their opinion, most strikingly in the editorial page, which tends to be direct and aggressive in stating the editor's position on major issues. The public want excitement and sensationalism, and tabloids deliver.

B Match meanings 1–8 with the words in bold in the article.

- 1 a popular newspaper, half the size of a standard newspaper, with few serious stories tabloid
- 2 the section that gives the paper's opinion
- 3 a special report or article about a topic
- 4 giving a single point of view, unfairly
- 5 an extra section of a newspaper which can be pulled out, often a magazine
- 6 reporting news to make it sound as exciting as possible
- 7 the set of newspapers which are published at the same time
- 8 the number of newspapers sold in a day or week

C Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 Which paper in your country is the most sensationalist/biased?
- 2 Which sections of a newspaper or online news do you read first, e.g. sports, etc.?
- 3 Which sections or stories do you never read?

- 10 Absolutely incredible!

B Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 What is the difference between so and such?
- 2 In sentence 6, what is unusual?
- 3 In sentences 5 and 10, what other modifiers could be used with the adjectives?
- 4 How is the beginning of sentence 3 different from 'You're always telling me ...'?
- 5 In sentence 8, what expression is added to a question word to show surprise?

C ▶ 7.5 SENTENCE STRESS Work in pairs and mark the main stresses in the sentences in Exercise 3A. Listen and check. Then listen and repeat.

speakout TIP

The words that show surprise are usually stressed and said with high intonation (pitch). It's a good idea to exaggerate when you practise this to help you get it right.

DVD PREVIEW

- 1 A Work in pairs and discuss the questions.
- How often do you watch the news? Are the newsreaders in your country always serious?
 - What are the pros and cons of working as a TV newsreader?
 - The name of the programme you're going to watch is The Funny Side of the News. What do you think it's about?
- B Read the programme information and answer the questions.
- Why are there more mistakes on TV news than there used to be?
 - How many different types of mistakes are mentioned?

The Funny Side of the News

BBC

The Funny Side of ... is a BBC series that looks at all the things that can go wrong on TV, from talent shows to wildlife programmes. Tonight it takes a look at TV news. As serious as news can be, mistakes and blunders are unavoidable. And with the introduction of 24-hour rolling news, mistakes have become more frequent and more visible with newsreaders stumbling over their words and endless technical hiccups. From microphones malfunctioning to the wrong guest being brought into the studio for an interview, disaster is waiting to strike at any moment.

- C Look at the programme information again and match the words/phrases in bold with 1–6 below.
- hesitating or making mistakes when speaking
 - happen suddenly and cause damage
 - small problems with machines
 - continuous
 - mistakes
 - going wrong (for a machine)

DVD VIEW

- D Work in groups and tell each other your stories. Ask follow-up questions and take notes. Which story was the most interesting?

writeback a short summary

- 4 A Read the article and write down the one thing that the man traded that is mentioned in the article but not in the recording.

Man trades paper clip for house

A Canadian man has made headlines by trading a paper clip for a house. Bored blogger Kyle Macdonald started by exchanging small objects – a pen, a door knob, a neon sign – but step by step the 26-year-old built up to items of larger and larger value, and after one year his journey from paper clip owner to homeowner was over.

- B Read the article again and do the tasks.

- 1 Circle three different ways that Kyle Macdonald is referred to in the story apart from he or his.
- 2 Underline two places where the writer uses two different words for the same thing.
- 3 Put a box round two places where a word is repeated. What effect does this have?

- C The article is exactly 60 words. Imagine your editor tells you to cut it to exactly 45 words. Which words could you omit without losing important details (hyphenated words count as one word)?

- D Write an article of exactly 60 words about one of the stories your group told in Exercise 3D. You may need to invent some details.

- E Student A: read your article aloud. Other students: is it a summary of the story you told in Exercise 3D? If so, is it accurate?

READING

- 1 A Work in pairs. Look at the photos and read the headlines. What do you think happened in each situation? Write two predictions about each one.
- B Read the articles and check your ideas.
- C Look at statements 1–8 below. Who do you think said each one?
- I'm looking for something to support my family.
Delroy Simmonds
 - Her face wasn't covered so I recognised her immediately.
 - She said, 'I have a lot of money in that couch and I really need it.'
 - I'm incredibly grateful, and my three other kids are too.
 - It was hard for him. I think that's why he came in with his brother.
 - Look, there's something in here.
 - You shouldn't have done that.
 - We laid it all out and we were screaming.
- D Work in pairs and discuss. Who had the most difficult decision: the three roommates, Simmonds or McQuinn's father? Do you think you would have behaved in the same way?

Man misses job interview to save baby from train

An unemployed Brooklyn man missed a job interview for the best of reasons: He was saving the life of a nine-month-old boy who was blown into the path of an oncoming subway train by a gust of high wind. Like a superhero without a cape, Delroy Simmonds jumped onto the tracks and lifted the bleeding child – still strapped into his stroller – to the safety of the platform as the train bore down on them. 'If he hadn't jumped down there, the baby wouldn't be alive,' said a worker at the station. 'Everybody thinks I'm some sort of superhero,' the father of two said. 'I'm just a normal person. Anybody would have done the same.' A friend of Simmonds thought differently. 'If that had happened to me, I might not have jumped.'

The out-of-work Brooklyn native was on his way to apply for a maintenance position at a warehouse. 'A strong gust of wind blew,' he recalled. 'There was a woman with four kids. One was in a stroller. The wind blew the baby onto the tracks.' He had no time to assess the situation. 'The train was coming around the corner as I lifted the baby from the tracks. I really wasn't thinking.'

New York roommates find $40,000 in sofa

Three roommates who bought a used couch for $20 found $40,000 in cash stashed inside and returned the money to the 91-year-old widow who had hidden it there.

Cally Guasti said that she and her friends had bought the beat-up couch and a chair for $55 at a Salvation Army thrift store. They noticed the arm cushions were weirdly lumpy. Then roommate Reese Werkhoven opened a zipper on one arm and found an envelope. It contained $4,000 in bubble-wrapped bills. Guasti, Werkhoven and roommate Lara Russo opened the other arm zipper and started mining the treasure stashed inside. They counted it up: $40,800.

Later on, Guasti found a deposit slip with a woman's name on it, and then phoned her. They drove to the home of the woman, who cried in gratitude when they gave her the cash she had hidden away.

Guasti said the three had considered the option of keeping the money, but decided they couldn't do that. It went against their principles. 'At the end of the day, it wasn't ours,' Guasti said. 'I think if any of us had used it, it would have felt really wrong.'

FATHER TURNS IN BANK-ROBBING DAUGHTER

An Adelaide man made the hardest choice of his life this weekend: he turned his own daughter into police after recognising her photo from a police report about a recent string of bank robberies. Neighbour Bill Baugely says the heartbroken dad was trying to protect his daughter. 'It's a really tough situation,' Baugely said, 'But I would have done the same thing.'

Twenty-seven-year-old Anne McQuinn was allegedly seen at the St George Bank in King William Street, at the Suncorp Bank in Grenfell Street, and at a bank in nearby Elizabeth in the past few months. Sergeant Tom Landers of the Adelaide police said, 'The father came into the station with the woman's uncle. They'd seen the photos on TV and the internet, and were sure it was McQuinn.'

Police say the father didn't want to put off the decision once he saw it was his daughter and came in immediately. 'The surveillance photos were clear,' said police. 'He really had no doubt it was her.'

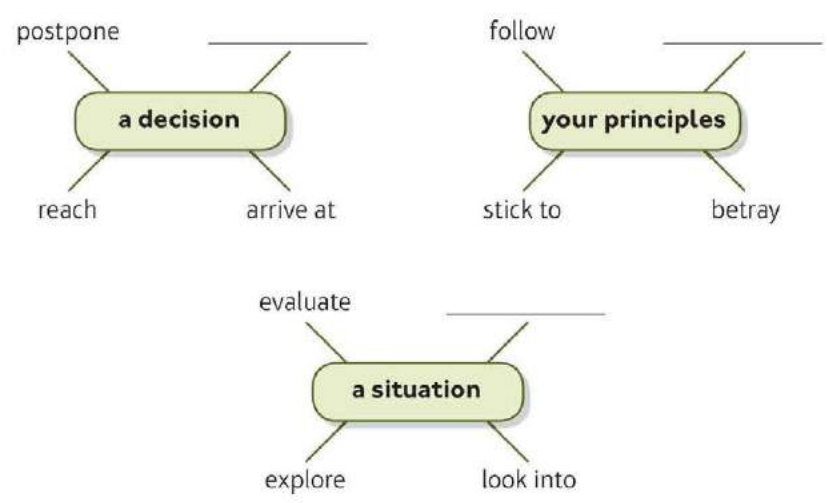

The father said most of his friends were supportive, but not everyone. Local resident Gerry Comber said, 'OK, the guy wants to do the right thing, but who turns in their own daughter?'

COLLOCATIONS: DECISIONS

2 A Find verbs in the articles to complete the word webs.

B Each word web has two pairs of words with similar meanings. Draw a line to connect each pair.

C Match two collocations from Exercise 2B to each definition.

- 1 choose to do one thing or another arrive at a decision,
- 2 delay deciding
- 3 be faithful to what you believe is right
- 4 do something that you don't believe is right
- 5 look at a situation in detail
- 6 judge a situation

3 A Read the extracts from a web forum below. Complete the texts with the correct form of the verbs from Exercise 2A. More than one answer is possible.

☆ At the store my food came to $10. I gave the cashier $20 but she gave me $100 in change. Obviously, she thought she'd given me a $10 note. I ¹ _____ the situation – I needed money badly, it was her mistake. Should I ² _____ my principles and keep the money although I knew she might have to pay the missing cash back herself? In the end, I ³ _____ a decision ...

☆ The night before my final school exams, a classmate sent me an email with the exam answers in an attachment. What should I do? Ignore the email or ⁴ _____ the situation by asking him why he'd sent it and who else he'd sent it to? I really wanted to ⁵ _____ my principles and do the exam without cheating. I ⁶ _____ the decision by going to bed. In the morning, it was clear to me what to do ...

B Work in pairs and discuss.

- 1 What do you think each person did? Do you think that was a good decision?
- 2 Can you remember a time when you took a long time to reach a decision or where you decided to stick to your principles?

PAST AND MIXED CONDITIONALS

4 A Look at the sentences and underline all the verbs.

- 1 I think if any of us had used it, it would have felt really wrong.
- 2 If that had happened to me, I might not have jumped.
- 3 I would have done the same thing.
- 4 If he hadn't jumped down there, the baby wouldn't be alive.

B Work in pairs and answer the questions about sentences 1–4 above.

- 1 Do they refer to real or hypothetical situations?
- 2 Does each sentence refer to the past, or to the past and present?
- 3 Sentence 3 has only one (result) clause. Why is it unnecessary to have a conditional clause? In the second text find another example of a result clause on its own.

C Complete the rules with the words in the box.

modal (x2) past perfect have infinitive past participle

RULES

1 In the conditional clause use: the _____ to talk about the hypothetical past.

2 In the result clause use:

a) _____ + _____ + _____ to talk about the past.

b) _____ + _____ to talk about the present.

5 8.1 CONNECTED SPEECH: weak forms Listen and match the words in bold in sentences 1–4 with the weak forms a)–d). Then listen again and repeat.

SPEAKING

7 A Think of decisions you've made: good and bad, easy and hard, major and minor. Look at the topics for ideas, and make notes about two situations.

a subject you chose to study at school a job you accepted or turned down a trip you took, or almost took an activity you took part in or avoided a relationship you got into, or out of a school or university you chose to attend

B Work with other students and take turns. Ask and answer questions 1–5 about each situation. Who had the most difficult decision?

- 1 Where did it happen?
- 2 What happened leading up to the situation?
- 3 How did you feel, and what did you do?
- 4 What else could you have done?
- 5 Would you do the same again?

The Ultimatum Game

You have been given £10.
 You have to offer some of this money to your partner.
 If your partner accepts your offer, you split the money as agreed.
 If your partner rejects the offer, neither of you keep anything.
 You must decide how much money to offer to your partner.

The Dictator Game

You have been given £10.
 You have to offer some of this money to your partner.
 Your partner has no choice and has to accept your offer.
 You must decide how much money to offer to your partner.

SPEAKING

1 A Work in pairs and discuss. Read the instructions above for The Sharing Experiment, two games that test people's behaviour. What do you think the games show about people?

B Work alone. Imagine you are playing the games. Write an amount from £0–£10.

1 The Ultimatum Game:

I would keep £_____ and offer my partner £_____. The lowest I would accept from my partner is £_____.

2 The Dictator Game:

I would keep £_____ and offer my partner £_____.

C Compare your ideas with other students and discuss the questions.

- How different are your results?
- What did the two games show about your personality?
- Do you think you would behave differently in a real-life situation than you did in the game?

 - It brings out aggression in people. In fact,
 - I enjoyed being in control
 - Here there's no equality because
 - I imagine some people give more than they have to
 - There's no justice in this game,
- a) just as there's none in real life. I felt cheated and hard done by.
 b) and that's why I kept all the money for myself. I'm surprised at my own greed.
 c) one person has less power.
 d) especially if you split it 50-50 even though you don't have to.
 e) and that sort of generosity always surprises me.
 f) I think someone might try to hurt the other person.

B Write the words in bold in Exercise 2A next to their meanings.

- being kind and willing to give
- threatening behaviour
- a situation where people have the same rights
- the ability to make someone do something (2 words)
- being reasonable in judgement (2 words)
- strong desire for more money, food or other things

C Discuss in pairs. Does each sentence in Exercise 2A refer to the Ultimatum Game, the Dictator Game or both?

LISTENING

3 A 8.2 Listen to two people, Heather and Dominic, play the Ultimatum Game and answer the questions.

- How much did Dominic offer Heather?
- Did she accept?
- What reasons does Dominic give for his decision?
- What does Heather say about the decision?
- What was the lowest amount Heather would have accepted?

B Discuss in pairs. Did anything surprise you about the outcome of the game? How do you think Heather and Dominic will behave in the Dictator Game?

C 8.3 Listen to them play the Dictator Game and answer the questions.

- How much did Dominic offer Heather?
- What reasons does he give for his decision?
- What does Heather say about the decision?

D Work in groups and discuss.

- How different were Dominic and Heather's results from yours in Exercise 1B?
- How much do you identify with the reasons Dominic gave for his decisions in either game?
- How much do you identify with Heather's reaction? Were your reactions very different?

GRAMMAR

-ING FORM AND INFINITIVE

4 A Check what you know. Complete the article using the correct form of the verb in brackets. Use the -ing form, the infinitive or the infinitive + to.

AN EXPERT COMMENTS ON The Ultimatum Game

Research shows that people tend ¹ to respond (respond) differently depending on their cultural context and other factors. In Japan, players offered twice as much as those in Peru. But don't make the mistake of ² _____ (think) that Japanese are more generous than Peruvians. Perhaps ³ _____ (be) generous in the game means you want people ⁴ _____ (think) you are in real life. The game gives you the chance ⁵ _____ (act) unselfishly or not; some people are playing ⁶ _____ (impress) people. If it's important to someone ⁷ _____ (see) as fair, it's easy ⁸ _____ (act) that way in the game because it's just a game.

The Dictator Game is very interesting because no one would imagine a genuine dictator really ⁹ _____ (share) money. True, some players would ¹⁰ _____ (keep) everything, but most people let their partner ¹¹ _____ (have) a share of the money. Interestingly, most five-year-olds will ¹² _____ (share) at least half of the money – they're not interested in ¹³ _____ (have) the most. My opinion is that deep down most human beings would rather ¹⁴ _____ (cooperate) and avoid ¹⁵ _____ (exploit) others, in the game and in real life.

WRITING

AN INFORMAL ARTICLE; LEARN TO USE LINKERS OF PURPOSE

7 A Read the article and choose the best title.

- Learn to be aggressive
- Life isn't fair
- Change the things you can

Do you hate it when people treat you unfairly? If you get a lower grade than you deserve, or you miss out on a promotion, do you lie awake all night fuming? Well, here are some things you can do about it to help you get past all that negativity.

First of all, it's important to remember that for a positive outcome, you need to maintain a positive attitude. It's much more difficult to change something if you're feeling angry or upset. If you know you're in the right, develop a can-do attitude so as to bring some positive energy to the situation.

Second, you have to get yourself to think rationally so that it's your head not your heart that dictates what you do. Don't get emotional because that'll only result in you making the situation worse; I've often made that mistake and lived to regret it. If you want to stand up for yourself or for someone else, you need to stay calm. That's how I managed to get a promotion recently after a long fight for justice.

Finally, you need to recognise the difference between things you can do something about, and things you can't. For example, once someone bumped into my car and drove away, and I couldn't really do anything about it; I had to accept the situation in order to move on. If on the other hand you see someone being unkind to someone else, you can say something to the person to change their behaviour as long as you do it clearly, firmly and unemotionally. They may not respond exactly as you'd like, but you'll have a better chance of influencing them.

With these ideas in mind, you can become much better at dealing with unfairness, and you might even have a positive influence on situations as well as people.

B Underline the correct alternative and give a reason.

- The article is probably for a student magazine/serious newspaper.
- The aim of the article is to describe/give advice.
- The topic sentence is at the beginning/end of each main paragraph.

C Work in pairs and read the guidelines. Are they true (T) or false (F)? Find examples in the article.

In an informal article you should:

- give personal examples.
- use the pronouns I and you.
- avoid contracted forms.
- use conversational language.
- use linkers to help structure the article.
- use questions to the reader.
- avoid multi-word verbs.
- use the passive where possible.

8 A Work in pairs. Look at the linkers of purpose in bold in the article and answer the questions.

- Which linkers are followed by:
 - an infinitive? so as to (bring)
 - a subject + verb?
 - a noun?
- Which two linkers can also be used in more formal situations?
- How do you change the following underlined linkers to make the sentences negative?

Count to ten in order to lose your temper.

Control your emotions so as to act with aggression.

B Rewrite the sentences replacing the underlined linkers with the ones in brackets.

- A good leader treats everyone equally in order to make everyone feel valued. (so that)
- When I'm upset I usually phone my sister to chat. (for)
- It's important to check everyone in a team reaches a decision together, because if you don't, someone will be left behind. (so as not to)
- In a good relationship, it's important to sit down together from time to time so that you make sure everything is OK. (to)
- Never make a decision late at night. Sleep on it to let your brain continue working overnight and you'll wake up knowing what to do. (because)
- In a family, it's good to have a list of tasks for each person, because then no one is given the feeling they are doing more than their fair share. (in order not to)

9 A Work in pairs and brainstorm a list of main ideas for an article about one or two of the following topics:

- how to control your temper
- how to make decisions
- how to work as a team or a family
- how to have a good marriage or relationship
- how to do something that you know a lot about
- how to be a good leader or teacher

B Choose the topic you like and discuss ideas for opening/closing paragraphs. Then write the article (250–300 words).

BEHAVIOUR

1 A Look at the pairs of adjectives. Are they similar (S) or different (D) in meaning? Use a dictionary to check.

- 1 supportive – unhelpful
- 2 diplomatic – tactful
- 3 sensitive – sensible
- 4 confrontational – collaborative
- 5 aggressive – assertive
- 6 direct – focused

B Which adjectives in Exercise 1A become opposites by adding/removing a prefix/suffix?

supportive – unsupportive

C Work in pairs. Which adjectives above describe your manner when:

- you break bad news to someone?
- a friend is down or in trouble?
- making a complaint?
- you work on a project with someone?
- you are driving or cycling?
- trying to sort out a problem between two friends?

I think I'm tactful but also quite direct if I have to break bad news to someone.

Tips for talking things through

Sometimes we have to raise topics with someone which we find embarrassing or awkward. Following these five tips will help smooth the process and minimise hurt feelings.

- 1 Say clearly why you want to talk to them at the start.
- 2 Give the message clearly. Be specific.
- 3 Don't tell them what other people say or think.
- 4 Give them space to say what they think and feel.
- 5 Suggest a solution (if they don't).

3 A 8.5 Listen to the conversation. Are the statements true (T) or false (F)? Correct the false statements.

- 1 Liz owes Jim a small amount of money.
- 2 She wants to pay him back immediately.
- 3 She doesn't always keep her promises.
- 4 Jim wants her to pay a set amount of money each week.

B Listen again. Tick the tips in Exercise 2B that the man follows.

- It's not that. I hope you don't take this the wrong way, but it's just that this isn't the first time I've lent you money and you haven't paid it back. I know it's not a lot, just small amounts each time, but it adds up quickly. I don't know. Do you know what I mean?
 - Actually, you've said that once before. I don't want you to get the wrong idea, but it never happened. And it makes things awkward. It makes me feel annoyed. Do you see where I'm coming from?
- B ▶ 8.7 Listen to the sentences and add the extra words or sounds you hear.

speakout TIP

Fillers can help you sound less confrontational and allow thinking time. Some fillers (e.g. um, er, well, you know, I mean, kind of), are used instead of a pause. Modifiers (e.g. just, a bit, slightly, quite) often go before an adjective and soften a strong message (e.g. I'm just a bit concerned = I'm VERY concerned).

- 1 Desmond Morris observed human behaviour even though he's a bird-watcher.
- 2 He created a classification system for words people use with animals.
- 3 His project took him over sixty years and he travelled to many countries to complete it.
- 4 The programme looks at sign language.

The Human Animal

BBC

Desmond Morris is widely known for his study of human behaviour, customs and rituals, a 'man-watcher' in the same way as some people are bird-watchers. Originally a zoologist, Morris decided to observe and classify human behaviour in much the same way as he would observe animals – in his words 'to do for actions what dictionary makers had done for words.' His project of cataloguing human gesticulation and movement took him to over 60 countries and engrossed him for many years. In this programme in the series, Morris focuses on fascinating customs connected with greeting and on the meaning of different gestures.

writeback cross-cultural article

5 A Read the short article giving advice on an aspect of behaviour in Britain. Which topics in Exercise 4C does it mention?

B Which things are the same as in your country?

Body language in Britain: Keep your distance

British people are friendly, but there are some important things every visitor should know when spending time with them.

When you meet someone for the first time, it's normal to shake hands firmly, regardless of gender, both in formal and semi-formal situations. On subsequent meetings, this is not usually expected unless you haven't seen someone for a while. While the habit of exchanging kisses is a growing trend amongst younger people, it should not be initiated by visitors and should generally be restricted to family members and to people you have already met and like.

In terms of personal space, British people feel uncomfortable if you stand too close, so try to keep some distance. Also it's important to make eye contact when talking to Brits, but don't overdo it, or you'll come across as rude or impolite. Gestures such as hugging and backslapping are not recommended. On the whole, British people tend to be less demonstrative than some other nationalities. They do not raise their voices or use gestures a lot to emphasise a point and shouting is never acceptable.

If you keep these points in mind, you'll have a much more comfortable, enjoyable visit to Britain.

C Write a short article (150–200 words) giving advice to a foreign student or business person coming to your country. Choose one or two topics from Exercise 4C to focus on.

D Read other students' articles. What information do you find that you didn't know before?

V COLLOCATIONS

Memories on trial

Even in these days of DNA tests and other forensic techniques, witness testimony still plays an important part in court cases. But how reliable are our memories? BBC Focus magazine's Andy Ridgway finds we know less than we think ...

READING

2 A Work in pairs and discuss. Do you have a good memory? What do you remember easily? What do you have difficulty remembering?

B Read the article and find two examples of false memories.

C Read the article again. Are statements 1–6 true (T) or false (F)? Underline any words/phrases that help you decide.

- 1 In court, evidence from a witness is not important if there are other kinds of evidence.
- 2 Forty percent of people in one study were able to give a full description of the film of the bus exploding in Tavistock Square.
- 3 A poor memory doesn't usually matter in day-to-day life, according to the article.
- 4 In 1998, in the USA, almost all major criminal cases depended entirely on witness evidence.
- 5 The rumour about the white van was started by one witness.
- 6 One in five witnesses makes a mistake in ID parades.

D Look at the article again. What do the six highlighted words refer to? Draw an arrow backwards or forwards to the word/phrase.

Most of us have some recollection of the 2005 terrorist attacks in London. It could well be a mental image of ...

E Work in pairs and discuss. Who/What does the author blame for false convictions? Would you make a good witness?

In ID parades, forty percent of witnesses identified the police's suspect. In forty percent of cases no identification was made. In twenty percent of cases they pointed to a volunteer.

Most of us have some recollection of the 2005 terrorist attacks in London. It could well be a mental image of a red double-decker bus in Tavistock Square with its roof ripped off by the force of the explosion. That's not surprising given the number of photographs of the damaged bus that were carried in newspapers in the days after the attack.

But what about CCTV footage? Do you remember seeing a video of the bus exploding? What can you see in that video?

Well, the truth is, you shouldn't be able to see anything in your mind's eye because such CCTV footage simply doesn't exist. But don't worry. If it only took a suggestion that you may have seen a video of the explosion to create an image in your mind, you're not alone. In fact, in a study carried out by Dr James Ost at the University of Portsmouth, forty percent of people claimed to have seen this nonexistent footage. Some even went on to describe what happened in vivid detail.

Many of us think we have a good memory. After all, it's got us through the occasional exam. But what Ost's study clearly demonstrates is just how easily influenced our memories are. 'Facts' from the past can become confused in our minds. And it can simply be the fact that we've been asked about something, such as a nonexistent video clip, that can alter our memory.

In many cases, an unreliable memory is not a problem. It just means we forget to send a birthday card on time or a story we tell at a party is not one hundred percent accurate. But sometimes the contents of our memories can have huge consequences – putting people behind bars or even, in the USA, on Death Row.

In 1998, an American study calculated that in ninety-five percent of felony cases – the more serious crimes – witness evidence (in other words, people's memories) was the only evidence heard in court. In the UK, despite DNA and other forensic evidence being used more regularly, witness memories are still a vital part of court proceedings.

Even before a case gets to court, a few false memories can get an investigation off to a bad start. In the sniper attacks that took place in the Washington DC area in 2002, witnesses reported seeing a white van or truck fleeing several of the crime scenes. A white vehicle may have been seen near one of the first shootings and the media began repeating this. When they were caught, the sniper suspects were actually driving a blue car. It seems many witness memories had been altered by the media reports. ■

SYNONYMS

1 A Read the dictionary extract. Think of an example of a scam.

S scam /skæm/ n [C] informal a clever but dishonest way to get money

From Longman Active Study Dictionary.

B Work in pairs. Read the infographic and answer the questions.

- 1 What are your answers to the first two questions in the text?
- 2 Which of the five scams can be done by one person?

C Match meanings 1–6 with two of the underlined verbs or verb phrases in the infographic. Write the verb phrases in the infinitive.

- 1 act as if you're someone else pretend to be,
- 2 trick someone
- 3 cause somebody to not notice something
- 4 take something quickly
- 5 believe a trick
- 6 exchange one thing for another

speakout TIP

Use synonyms to improve your speaking and writing. You can a) notice synonyms when you read b) record them in your notebook c) look up synonyms in a thesaurus or on the internet d) use synonyms when writing to avoid repetition.

Rewrite the following, using synonyms for nice: Yesterday was very nice. I had a nice meal at a nice restaurant with some nice people.

LISTENING

2 A  9.2 Listen to the conversations. Which two scams from the infographic happened to the people?

B Work in pairs and try to complete the statements. Then listen again and check your ideas.

- 1 The thieves distracted Lise by ...
- 2 She trusted the man because ...
- 3 She thought she was talking to the bank on the phone because ...
- 4 The thieves got her PIN code by ...
- 5 The man in the jewellery shop was posing as ...
- 6 He accused the woman of ...
- 7 He left the shop with ...
- 8 Dan thought that the man was going to ...

3 Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 What should/shouldn't the people have done in each situation?
- 2 Why do you think people fall for scams?
- 3 Have you read or heard about any other scams (over the phone, internet or face-to-face)?

Scam-proof yourself

How easily do you think you could be taken in by a professional con artist? Is it easy for a well-dressed but ill-intentioned stranger to deceive you and walk away with your money, credit cards or phone? Once you understand the basic principles of street scams, you'll never fall for a scam again.

1) The Shoulder Surf

You're standing at the ATM and some nice person asks if that's your 20 euros on the ground. An innocent question, or a trick to distract you so they can snatch your card out of the slot?

2) The Fake Police Officer

If a man walked into a shop where you worked and pretended to be a police officer, would he fool you?

3) Escalator Jam

As you reach the bottom of the escalator, suddenly there's a jam of people and you get bumped into. You drop your mobile, but a kind woman picks it up and gives it back to you. Are you sure she hasn't switched it for an identical (but broken) one?

4) The Tourist Photo

'Can you take our photo?' It's just one of many ways to divert your attention so the hustlers can easily grab your wallet or mobile or swap it for an identical one.

5) The Squirt

A stranger bumps into you and gets ketchup all over your jacket! How nice that some people are helping you wipe it off ... or are they just thieves posing as helpful passersby?

GRAMMAR

PAST MODALS OF DEDUCTION

4 A Match sentences 1–7 with meanings a)–c).

- 1 It can't have been the young couple because I was looking at them all the time.
- 2 So it must have been stolen when I was taking the photo.
- 3 He must have taken my bag when I wasn't looking.
- 4 He could have hidden it in his case.
- 5 The woman must have been working with the guy.
- 6 She couldn't have been a real customer.
- 7 But she might have had fake money.

- a) I'm almost certain this happened.
- b) I feel it's possible this happened.
- c) I'm almost certain this didn't happen.

B Complete the rules. Use the sentences in Exercise 4A to help.

RULES

- 1 To speculate or make a deduction about something that happened in the past, use the modals:
must / _____ / _____ / _____ / _____ + have + _____.
- 2 To emphasise that an activity was in progress, use modal + have + _____ + _____.
- 3 In the passive, use modal + have + _____ + _____.

5 A  9.3 CONNECTED SPEECH: past modals Listen to the pronunciation of the past modals in connected speech. Then listen again and repeat.

6 A Complete the accounts of two scams. Use modals of deduction and the verbs in brackets.

I was taking out money at an ATM. Just as my card came out, a guy behind me said I'd dropped some money. Sure enough, there was a twenty-euro note on the floor. I bent down, picked it up and my card was gone ... and so was the man! He ¹ _____ (drop) the twenty-euro note and pretended it was mine, or the note ² _____ (fall) out of my wallet and he simply took advantage of the situation. He ³ _____ (pull) my card out of the ATM when I bent down.

An estate agent was showing me a flat when she got a phone call from another customer who wanted to put down a deposit on that same flat. So I gave the agent my deposit, signed the contract, and was given the key. When I went back later to move in, the key didn't work ... and the agent didn't answer her phone number! The woman ⁴ _____ (be) an estate agent. She ⁵ _____ (be) an imposter and the other customer ⁶ _____ (work) with her.

B Discuss in pairs. Which scam in Exercise 6A would be most likely to fool you?

SPEAKING

7 A Work in pairs. Student A: turn to page 162. Student B: imagine the following situation happened to you. Add some details about the place, time, the amount of money spent on the gifts and your feelings. Prepare to tell Student A.

It was [name of a festival] and everyone was buying presents. I was in a shopping mall and I'd bought some games and a camera for people in my family. In the middle of the mall there was a big sign saying 'Free Gift Wrapping', so I left the presents with a woman there and collected them half an hour later. On the morning of [name of festival], the kids opened their presents and inside the boxes there were just oranges and straw.

B Tell Student A the situation and discuss these questions.

- 1 Who swapped the presents?
- 2 How did they trick people into giving them the presents?
- 3 Why didn't people notice that the presents felt different?
- 4 How do you think the scam was done?

C Now listen to Student A's situation and discuss his/her questions.

D Turn to page 161 to see if your ideas were right.

HOW TO AVOID TROUBLE ON HOLIDAY

Taxis

Be careful when taking taxis, especially at the airport. As an unsuspecting tourist, you may find yourself charged up to three times the normal fare or in a taxi with a driver who claims to have no change.

- Never take a taxi without a company name on its side.
- Always ask the approximate fare before getting in.
- Phone for a taxi ahead of time rather than catching one in the street.
- Make sure you carry plenty of change with you.

Money

Be careful around any major tourist sites. Pickpockets often work in gangs and will come up behind you while you're walking and unzip your backpack or may 'accidentally' bump into you and steal your money or mobile before passing these on immediately to a partner. Also, take care when using an ATM. A tiny hidden camera may have been installed to steal your card number and PIN.

- Keep your credit cards and larger sums of money in a money belt under your clothes.
- Be sure to keep any money that you think you'll use that day loose in your pocket, so that you don't need to pull out large notes.
- Be particularly careful to cover the keypad when you enter your PIN into an ATM machine.
- Use ATMs inside a bank where they are less likely to have been interfered with.

Tours

If someone offers a 'budget' tour, you may find that the price is cheap but you'll spend more time at shopping places not on your itinerary than the places you intended to visit. This is because your 'guide' is being paid by the shopkeepers for taking you there.

- Book tours only with reputable companies.
- Try to check with other visitors or with your hotel before booking a tour.
- Take time to look on the internet for reviews and recommendations.

WRITING

A 'HOW TO' LEAFLET; LEARN TO AVOID REPETITION

8 A Work in pairs. What advice would you give a visitor to a city about how to avoid getting into trouble?

B Read the extract from a 'how to' leaflet for tourists. Which ideas are different from the ones you discussed?

C Complete the guidelines for writing a 'how to' leaflet with the words in the box.

bullet points title fonts sections contracted subheading underlining

- 1 Give the leaflet an overall _____.
- 2 Divide the leaflet into different _____, each with its own short _____.
- 3 Use different _____ or _____ so that it is easier for the reader to see the main points before they start reading.
- 4 Use _____ when you are writing a list.
- 5 To make your leaflet more direct and informal, use 'you' and _____ forms.

9 A Look at the verbs in bold in the leaflet and:

- 1 put a box around two adverbs used before the verbs.
- 2 underline five verb phrases used before the verbs.
- 3 circle the remaining four imperatives.

B Complete the rules and examples with words from the leaflet.

To avoid repetition when giving a list of advice:

- 1 use the adverbs always and _____.
- 2 use a range of synonyms (words/phrases) in the imperative:
 - a) Make _____ you
 - b) Be _____ to
 - c) Be particularly _____ to
 - d) Try _____
 - e) Take _____ to 10 Write a 'how to' leaflet (200–250 words) on one of the following topics. Use a variety of ways to give advice and avoid repetition.

- advice for people travelling solo
- advice for internet banking
- advice for passing exams
- advice for joining a particular social networking site
- advice for (your own idea)

SPEAKING

- 1 A Work in pairs and look at the photos. What would you do if you witnessed these situations?
- B Work in pairs and discuss.
- List three situations in which you think you should phone the emergency services.
 - Read the reasons for calling the emergency services below. Which reason do you think is the most ridiculous?
 - Do you think the person was justified in calling the police in any of the situations?

Police are becoming concerned because a significant percentage of calls to the emergency services are about everyday inconveniences and problems or are simply ridiculous. Some of the silliest calls include:

- I need help with my maths homework.
- I'm having a bad dream. In fact this is part of it.
- My husband's snoring and I can't sleep.
- There's a squirrel on my porch and it's acting suspiciously.
- The weather report was wrong. And now I'm stuck in the snow.
- I'm stuck in traffic and need to get to the toilet.
- My boyfriend promised to marry me and now he won't.
- I'm locked in a house. Not my house – I'm a burglar.

REPHRASE

7 A Look at the extract. Underline two places where the police officer (A) rephrases something to help the caller (B) understand.

A: Could you tell me exactly when the incident happened?

B: Just now. About an hour ago.

A: Could you be more precise?

B: Excuse me?

A: Could you give me the exact time?

B: I think at 2.50 or 2.55.

A: And where did it happen?

B: Park Avenue.

A: Can you pinpoint the exact location?

B: Pinpoint?

A: Tell me exactly where.

B Match the meaning of the words in bold in 1–5 with phrases a)–e) below.

1 I'll need to take a statement.

2 And he hit into me hard ...

3 ... a sweater, grey colour, with a – you know – something you put over your head.

4 ... some sort of dark trousers, for running or for the gym.

5 And were there any other people in the vicinity?

a) in the surrounding area – nearby

b) tracksuit bottoms

DVD PREVIEW

1 A Work in pairs and discuss.

- 1 What are different ways that people react in a disaster situation? Think about a building on fire, a sinking ship or a plane making a crash landing.
- 2 What do you think survival in a disaster depends on?
- 3 Which factors are connected to the character of the survivor?

B Read the programme information. What factors for survival does it mention? What do you think it means by 'how your brain reacts'?

Horizon: How to survive a disaster

BBC

When disaster strikes, who lives and who dies is not purely a matter of luck. In every disaster, from those people face once in a lifetime, to those they face every day, there are things that can be done to increase the chances of getting out alive. Some of these things have to do with planning ahead, some have to do with how your brain reacts, and some are simply down to luck. In this programme, we look at the sinking of the car ferry Estonia in 1994 through the experience of Paul Barney, a passenger on the Estonia, and examine why it is that he ended up among the survivors.

DVD VIEW

2 A Watch the DVD. Why did Paul Barney survive while others didn't?

B Are the statements true (T) or false (F)? Watch the DVD again and check your ideas.

- 1 Paul Barney slept in the cafeteria below the waterline.
- 2 He said he wasn't scared on board the ship, but was in the life raft.
- 3 One hundred and thirty-seven people died on the Estonia.
- 4 His tunnel vision caused him to focus on saving himself.
- 5 Professor Silke said that tunnel vision is not always a good thing.
- 6 Paul doesn't understand why some people didn't try to escape.
- 7 Most people keep a clear head in a disaster.

C Work in pairs. Complete the extracts by writing three words in each gap. Then watch the DVD again to check.

- 1 ... I say to them really that there was no time _____, there was literally no time.
- 2 It was a very scary place to be because you never knew whether the next wave was going to _____ from the life raft.
- 3 I'm purely thinking of what's going to _____.
- 4 ... our brain is focusing on whatever the threat or danger is, and it's focusing on that to the exclusion _____.
- 5 One of the things I remember clearly is the water actually coming into the cafeteria and seeing lots of people around just _____ spot.

D Work in pairs and discuss. How do you think you would react in a disaster like this? Would you be like Paul or would you be like one of the people he describes as 'rooted to the spot'?

D Work in groups and take turns. Try to persuade the other students that your choices are important then decide on six items as a group.

writeback an escape story

4 A A website has asked readers to write a story about a lucky escape prompted by a string of words. Work in pairs and discuss. What story can you imagine for the word string below?

August camping forest dry tent sleep smoke fire trapped soup escape

B Read the story. What happened and how did the man get out of the situation without being hurt?

It was mid-August, and some friends and I went camping in a forest about an hour's drive from where we were living. It had been a very dry summer and we should have thought about the dangers of fire, but we didn't. We pitched our tents, made a campfire and cooked a nice soup for dinner. After a while we were all quite tired, so we went to sleep.

About an hour later I woke up to the smell of smoke. I realised straightaway that there was a fire, and that it was right in front of the tent – in fact some dry leaves next to the campfire had caught fire, and the front of the tent was starting to burn. I was trapped inside.

Luckily, one of my friends who was in another tent woke up too, and he poured the leftover soup on the burning tent. That made it possible for me to escape, and I crawled out as fast as I could. We put out the campfire but I couldn't go back to sleep. I think I was in shock – it was a very lucky escape.

C Choose another word string. Write your story (150–250 words) using three paragraphs.

spring countryside lost dark fence garden dog sandwich run jump escape sea cool friends swim snorkel hours tired cold stiff drowning save escape

D Read other students' stories. Which one do you think was the most unusual escape?

V CRIME

1 A Make a list of as many crimes as you can remember.

B Work in pairs and think of:

- two crimes that involve damage to property.
- three crimes that involve people and can happen on the street.
- three crimes that involve technical expertise on computers or other machines.
- a crime involving money that could be committed by a company.
- a crime that involves theft but not usually in a street.

C Work in pairs and discuss. Which crimes are most often in the news in your town/city/country?

G -ING FORM AND INFINITIVE

2 A Underline the correct alternatives in the article.

→ OK, you've just been mugged. Your first impulse may be to go on ¹doing/ to do whatever you were doing, but don't. First, stop ²checking/ to check that you're fine. Some victims who have been struck actually forget ³being/ to be hit and only discover injuries later. Try ⁴finding/ to find a safe place, maybe a café with people (you may need to borrow a phone). You're probably in shock – give yourself time to stop ⁵shaking/ to shake and take slow, deep breaths to calm yourself. If this doesn't work, try ⁶drinking/ to drink some cool water – avoid coffee. Remember ⁷phoning/ to phone someone you know and tell them where you are and what happened. If you remember ⁸seeing/ to see what the mugger looked like, write down the details. If you forget ⁹doing/ to do this you may find that you can't recall much detail later when you talk to the police, and you'll regret not ¹⁰doing/ to do this.

B Work in pairs and discuss. Which ideas do you agree with?

V SYNONYMS

3 A Rewrite the sentences with a synonym for the words/phrases in bold.

- Does listening to music when you study divert your attention?
- Can you snatch fifteen minutes' sleep in the middle of the day?
- Would you find it easier to pretend to be someone older or younger?
- If you exaggerate your internet profile, are you fooling people unacceptably?
- Have you ever been taken in by a lie someone told you?
- Imagine you could swap identities with someone for just one day. Who would it be?

B Work in pairs and take turns. Ask and answer the questions.

G PAST MODALS OF DEDUCTION

4 A Work in pairs and read the situations. For each one, rewrite the options using a modal of deduction.

- A man checked his post box every day but it was always empty. Meanwhile his friends sent him dozens of letters a week.
 - I'm sure the man moved recently. The man must have moved recently.
 - Maybe his friends sent mail to the old address.
 - I'm certain the postman didn't deliver the letters.
- A pianist performed a concert in a concert hall. She played perfectly but at the end no one clapped.
 - She was probably practising in an empty concert hall.
 - I'm certain she was deaf.
 - They definitely didn't like the music.

B Look at the extra information below and make a final guess to explain each situation. Then turn to page 162 and check your ideas.

- The friends wrote the correct address on the letters. The postman always put the letters in the post box. There wasn't a hole in the bottom of the post box.
- The concert hall was full. No one had hearing problems – everyone heard the performance and liked it.

F REPORTING AN INCIDENT

5 A Complete the sentences with the correct form of a word in the box. One of the words is not used.

☞☞☞ if go not catch remind become like cross realise happen (x2)

- It occurred to me that he/she shouldn't have ...
- He/She _____ me of ...
- It was only later that I _____ ...
- My mind _____ blank.
- Before I realised what had _____, she/he'd ...
- I _____ the number plate.
- It all _____ so fast.
- It _____ my mind that ...
- He/She looked as _____ ...
- He/She seemed _____ ...

B Work in pairs. Choose one of the following incidents to report to the police and decide which sentences from Exercise 5A you could use.

- someone shoplifting in a department store
- someone looking at confidential information on someone else's computer
- someone hanging around an ATM with two friends sitting in a car nearby

C Work in pairs and take turns. Role-play the phone call. Student A: you are the police officer. Student B: you have seen the incident.

LISTENING

3 A 10.1 Listen to someone talk about a film he never gets bored with watching. What is the film and what is the main reason he likes it?

B Listen again and make notes on the following:

- why it's family-friendly
- a memorable thing about the 'baddy'
- where the film got its title
- what the woman thinks about the film
- examples of gripping moments
- something unusual about the stunts
- something the two people say about the heroine
- the woman's preference in films

C Work in pairs and discuss. If you haven't seen the film, would you like to watch it based on this description? Is it true that there aren't many action films which include comedy?

4 A Work alone. Choose a film you never get bored with and make notes about:

- the actors.
- the plot.
- the setting.
- why you like it.

B Work in pairs. Tell each other about your film.

RELATIVE CLAUSES

5 A Check what you know. Complete the online forum messages with who, which, whose, where or when.

What film do you never get bored with?

The Shawshank Redemption is a prison movie ¹ _____ goes beyond the violence seen in most such films. The story centres on the life-changing relationship between a new prisoner, Andy (Tim Robbins), ² _____ is imprisoned for murder, and Red (Morgan Freeman), a long-time prisoner ³ _____ he makes friends with. You really care about these two characters, ⁴ _____ unlikely friendship blossoms over the course of the film. I must have seen it twenty times and it's the one movie ⁵ _____ I never get bored with, especially Robbins' and Freeman's performances, for ⁶ _____, surprisingly, neither won a major award.

My all-time favourite is Groundhog Day, in ⁷ _____ Bill Murray relives one day over and over again. He plays Phil, a TV weatherman visiting a small U.S. town, ⁸ _____ he reports on a local annual festival. Phil detests the assignment and the local people, ⁹ _____ makes his situation even worse when he gets stuck with both. The story is endlessly inventive, by turns hilarious and poignant. It is especially touching in the moment ¹⁰ _____ Phil realises he loves Rita (Andie Macdowell) but can't win her, ¹¹ _____ is a turning point in his transformation into a decent human being. He actually ends up loving the town ¹² _____ inhabitants he initially despised. A classic!

B Work in pairs. Add that next to any relative pronouns which it could replace. Put brackets around relative pronouns that could be omitted.

C Complete the rules. Use the forum messages in Exercise 5A to help.

RULES

- 1 Defining relative clauses give essential/extra information about a person, thing, place or time. Non-defining relative clauses give essential/extra information.
- 2 The relative pronoun that can replace who or which in defining/non-defining clauses only.
- 3 The relative pronoun can be omitted when it is the subject/object of the verb in the relative clause.
- 4 Prepositions can come (a) at the beginning/end of a clause or (b) before/after the relative pronoun. (a)/(b) is more formal.
- 5 What/Which introducing a relative clause can be used to refer to the whole of a previous clause.
- 6 Commas are used before and after defining/non-defining clauses.

6 A Complete the forum message with commas.

It's a film which appeals to the teenage market and centres on the relationship between Bella who has just arrived in town and her mysterious classmate Edward whose family seems to have a strange secret. When Bella discovers Edward's true identity which happens about a third of the way through the film she has a big decision to make, a decision which will change her entire life.

B  10.2 INTONATION: relative clauses Listen to the intonation in the non-defining clauses. Are they higher or lower than the rest of the sentence?

C Listen again and say the recording at the same time, copying the intonation.

7 Combine the extracts from reviews using a relative clause.

- 1 The main role is played by Chiwetel Ejiofor. His portrayal of Solomon Northup earned him several awards.
- 2 Megastar Chris Hemsworth gives an emotional performance in his latest film. His career got its biggest boost from his role in Thor.
- 3 Invictus is a story about leadership and forgiveness at a critical period. Nelson Mandela had just become president of South Africa.
- 4 The film Star Trek was based on a popular TV series. William Shatner played the role of Captain Kirk in the series.
- 5 The film was Daniel Craig's third outing as James Bond. It was directed by Sam Mendes.
- 6 Adrian Brody shot to fame after starring in The Pianist. He won the Best Actor Oscar for this.
- 7 Lost in Translation takes place in a Tokyo hotel. The two main characters meet and form an unusual bond there.
- 8 The Hurt Locker is a war film directed by Kathryn Bigelow. The choice of Jordan as the filming location was important for her.

MIDNIGHT IN PARIS

Midnight in Paris is set in Paris in the present and in different periods in the past. It stars Owen Wilson as Gil, a Hollywood screenwriter, and Rachel McAdams as Inez, his beautiful fiancée.

As the film opens, Gil is on holiday in Paris with Inez and her wealthy parents. He is supposed to be in love with his girlfriend but his love affair really seems to be with Paris in the springtime. One evening while wandering around the city, he gets lost and as the clock strikes midnight an old Peugeot car pulls up. Inside the car are a group of party-goers who are dressed in 1920s clothes and who invite him to join them. They go to a party where Gil realises he has been transported to the 1920s, a period which he loves. We see him meeting some of his intellectual and artistic heroes from that time and falling in love with Adriana, Picasso's mistress. Meanwhile, in the present, Gil's bride-to-be and her parents become more and more annoyed and suspicious about his nightly disappearances. Eventually Gil realises Inez is not right for him and breaks up with her. He decides to stay and live in his beloved Paris.

Skilfully directed by Woody Allen, the film cuts between the glitter of Paris in the twenties and the present-day city. The script is alternately gripping, shocking and hilarious and the camerawork is stunning. As Gil, Owen Wilson is appealing in his enthusiasm and love of Paris in the past. However, for me, it is the character of Adriana, convincingly acted by Marion Cotillard, who is the most fascinating of all.

With its charm, sparkling wit and engaging leaps forwards and backwards in time, Midnight in Paris is a light, delightful film which I'd thoroughly recommend.

WRITING

A REVIEW; LEARN TO USE ADVERB + PAST PARTICIPLE COMBINATIONS

9 A Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- Where do you usually read film reviews (e.g. on the internet, in magazines)?
- What is the main purpose of a film review?
 - to make people want to see the film
 - to help people decide if they want to see a film
 - to give factual information about the film
- Which of the topics in the box do you usually find in a film review?

plot summary description of the film's ending actors' names recommendation ticket prices setting of the film reviewer's opinion of different elements

B Read the film review above. Would you like to see the film? Why/Why not?

C Read the review again and write the topic of each paragraph. Use the topics in the box to help.

10 A Underline two adverb + past participle combinations in paragraph 3 of the review.

B Write three adverbs from the box next to each participle to complete the phrases. Some can be used more than once.

convincingly harshly skilfully widely sensitively overwhelmingly highly poignantly heavily

- _____ / _____ / _____ directed by ...
- _____ / _____ / _____ acted by ...
- _____ / _____ / _____ praised by ...
- _____ / _____ / _____ criticised by ...

11 A Make notes about a film you have seen recently or a film you never get bored with. Use the topic areas from Exercise 9C.

B Write a first draft of your review (120–180 words). Use adjectives and at least two adverb + past participle combinations.

C Exchange with another student and read each other's review. Is it interesting and clear? Suggest two or three improvements.

D Write a final version of the review.

POPULAR CULTURE

Q&A

Q:

A: Every stand-up comedian knows that making people laugh with prepared material, on stage, is very different from making your friends or colleagues laugh in an informal setting. You need to focus on technique, such as which words to stress, when to pause, how to use facial expressions and body movements, as well as sensing how to work each individual audience. Interestingly, shows with paying audiences are better than freebies. Having paid to be entertained, people are often more ready and willing to laugh.

Q:

A: Rock music is characterised by a strong bass line and hard, driving rhythm and percussion parts, which are greatly enhanced by amplification. At some point in the evolution of rock, audiences became almost addicted to the sensations of the music they loved 'vibrating' inside them at concerts. The listeners go beyond hearing the music and feel it through their whole body, feel its vibrations, provided it is loud enough. Heavy metal music played softly sounds stupid and can only be played as it was intended to be: very, very loudly.

Q:

A: A big star auditioning for a part is almost unheard of. Actors such as Tom Hanks go straight from film to film, so directors and producers have access to a whole portfolio of their work. The closest such actors ever get to anything resembling an audition is when they're invited to chat about the project informally, which gives the director and producer a chance to evaluate the actor without it feeling like a test. The stars don't usually even have to read part of the script. More often, it's actually a matter of the actor choosing whether to work with the director!

Q:

A: Criminals steal paintings only when they already have a buyer. Sometimes, a wealthy private collector actually requests a particular piece to be stolen – essentially orders it – for part of their private collection. The collector knows that it can never be shown publicly but that's not why they want the piece in the first place. Valuable works of art are a favourite commodity for criminal organisations, who will use them in place of cash for making deals with each other. They are also useful for money launderers, as works of art are easier to transport and harder to trace than cash, as well as easily traded on the black market.

GRAMMAR

PARTICIPLE CLAUSES

2 A Read the article below. In what situations do celebrities use fake names? What is the joke in each chosen name?

Do stars use their real names when travelling?

In short, no. In fact, stars ¹registered at hotels under their real name are a rarity – their day can be ruined by paparazzi ²trying to take their pictures and members of the public ³taking selfies. So if you're going to change your name, why not have fun doing it? Names ⁴involving wordplay are common: Britney Spears uses Ms Alotta Warmheart among other names, and Brad Pitt and Jennifer Aniston, ⁵married in 2000 but divorced five years later, used to call themselves Mr and Mrs Ross Vegas. And the fun doesn't end there – the name ⁶used by George Clooney when he was travelling caused him great amusement: Arnold Schwarzenegger. 'It was funny, the hotel staff had to call me Mr Schwarzenegger, when they knew of course, I wasn't him,' said Clooney.

B Work in pairs and look at the participle clauses in bold in the article. Then answer the questions.

- 1 Which participle clauses in bold replace relative clauses?
- 2 What is the full relative clause in each case?
- 3 Which two verb forms can a participle clause begin with?

C Compare the sentences below and underline the participle clauses. Then complete the rule.

- 1 a) Names which involve wordplay are common.
b) Names involving wordplay are common.
- 2 a) The people who worked in the hotel thought the name was funny.
b) The people working in the hotel thought the name was funny.
- 3 a) The hotel, which was built in the 1980s and which is often used by film stars, is famous.
b) The hotel, built in the 1980s and regularly used by film stars, is famous.

RULES

- 1 When a relative clause has an active verb in the present simple or past simple, the participle clause uses a _____ participle.
- 2 When a relative clause has a passive verb in the present simple or past simple, the participle clause uses a _____ participle.

speakout TIP

Using participle clauses can improve the level of your writing and speaking. Try to improve this sentence by using a participle clause: I couldn't concentrate on the concert because there were so many people who took photos.

▷ page 146 LANGUAGEBANK

3 A Rewrite the sentences using a participle clause.

- 1 People who take photos should ask their subjects' permission first.
- 2 Films that are based on books are disappointing.
- 3 It's great to see rock stars in their sixties who still play concerts.
- 4 Architecture which was designed in the 1960s is generally quite ugly and ought to be pulled down.
- 5 Photos of people who are posing for the camera don't work as well as spontaneous pictures.
- 6 Film and TV stars who appear at the theatre attract huge audiences.
- 7 Jokes which involve racial stereotypes are not funny.
- 8 Photographers who used software to enhance their photos were justifiably banned from entering a national competition last month.

6 A Work in pairs and look at the two-part phrases in sentences 1 and 2. What do you think they mean?

- 1 There are some basic dos and don'ts when taking a good photo.
- 2 I've worked in the film business off and on for most of my life.

B Check your ideas with the dictionary entries.

D dos and don'ts things that you should and should not do: the dos and don'ts of having a pet

D off and on/on and off for short periods of time but not regularly: I worked as a secretary off and on for three years.

From Longman Active Study Dictionary.

7 A Match a word from A with one from B to make a two-part phrase.

B 10.4 CONNECTED SPEECH Listen and check. Then listen and repeat, paying attention to the linking, the weak form of and /ən/ and the dropping of /d/ in connected speech.

D Work in pairs and take turns to estimate:

- the number of students in your school/employees in your workplace.
- the age of the building you're in.
- the population of your town/city.
- the distance from your home to where you are now.
- the cost of dinner in a good restaurant in your town/city.
- the number of contacts on your mobile phone.
- the number of English words you know.

SPEAKING

7 A Work in pairs. Design a one-hour walking or cycling tour of a town/city you know for a visitor. Make notes on:

- four or five places to see.
- a fact or personal opinion about each place.
- some approximate numbers associated with the place (how many people visit it; how much it costs; how old/long/high, etc. it is).

B Work with a new partner and take turns. Role-play the tour. Student A: lead the way. Student B: ask questions.

DVD PREVIEW

1 A Look at the photos of a new library and discuss the questions in pairs.

- Which words/phrases in the box would you use to describe the building?

crazy makes a bold statement unique fresh pleasing on the eye modern too busy delicate too elaborate beautiful amazing unsightly

- How is it different from what you expect a library to look like?
- What facilities would you expect to be included in a 21st-century library?

B Read the programme information and look at the photos. Which of the following do you think you will see in the DVD?

- The reporter interviews local people, the designer of the building and celebrities.
- The designer explains why she used rings as part of the design.
- The local people feel mostly positive about the new library.

The Culture Show: The People's Palace

At a time when many libraries across Britain face budget cuts and closure, Birmingham is opening the biggest public library in Europe. Is this a new breed of super library for the future?

This programme explores the cutting-edge building to discover what a 21st-century library looks like, what goes into its design, and how local people – the taxpayers – feel about it. Perhaps most importantly, we find out what role the library has in the internet age.

DVD VIEW

2 A Watch the DVD and check your answers to Exercise 1B.

B Work in pairs and answer the questions. Then watch the DVD again and check.

- Why and how is Birmingham regenerating its city centre?
- How does the designer describe the city of Birmingham? What characteristics did she try to reflect in the library's design?
- Why did she call it a 'People's Palace'?
- What is there inside the library besides shelves of books?
- What is the 'façade bench' and what can you do there?
- What do people say they like once they're inside the library?

C Watch the DVD again and underline the correct alternative.

- We started with this idea, that's the tradition/heritage of the proud industrial city, with the steel industry.
- I think any funding/investment of money put into libraries at the moment is fantastic.
- And in a time of economic austerity/strictness, what a bold step to take. Wonderful stuff!
- There's a lot of people, students, they want to be independent/individual but be part of a bigger collective.
- It's brilliant, yeah, I really like it, it's very user-friendly/easy-to-use.
- I love this in particular/especially. I love this outside bit/section with the balcony.

3 Work in pairs and discuss whether you agree/disagree with the statements.

- Local governments shouldn't spend taxpayer's money on expensive architecture.
- Libraries still have an important role in the internet age.
- For a society to be healthy, it needs public spaces like libraries, parks and theatres.

speakout a town project

4 A  10.8 Listen to three people discussing a new public space or artistic project for their town. Which project does each person, Tim, Nigel and Sarah, like from the list below? Why?

- an outdoor sculpture (modern or traditional)
- a concert space
- a theatre workshop space for young people
- a state-of-the-art multiplex cinema
- a botanical garden
- a skateboarding park

B Listen again and tick the key phrases you hear.

KEY PHRASES

I'm really in favour of the ...

I think that it would be [beneficial for the community/popular/ ...].

The only thing that would concern me though is that ...

I'd rather have something that would [appeal to all ages/make a statement/...]

We have to consider [costs/maintenance/ ...]

Can you see the [older/younger] generation [using/liking] it?

5 A Work in pairs. You are responsible for choosing an artistic project for your town/city. Choose two items from the list in Exercise 4A. The items must:

- have artistic and/or architectural merit.
- represent the town/city in some way.
- convey a positive image.

B Work with other students. Discuss your ideas and decide on one project.

C Present your decision to the class.

writeback a work of art

6 A Work in pairs. Read about the competition and tell your partner what you would choose and why.

We want you to write about a favourite work of art or building. It could be a statue or sculpture, a fountain or bridge, a painting or even a favourite room. Send us your description in 150–250 words, and we'll put the five best entries on our website.

B Read the description and tick (✓) the topics in the box that the writer mentions.

setting when it was made material colour size who made it why he/she likes it

My favourite building is in fact a bridge, the Millau Viaduct in southern France. It's an awe-inspiring structure, as much a work of art as it is a bridge. It towers over the valley that it crosses, but is so graceful that it seems to me more an integral part of the natural environment than the architectural and engineering achievement that it is.

It was designed by a French engineer and a British architect who conceived it as a series of towers, which look like the masts of a ship, from which cables are suspended, the cables that support the road surface that runs 2500 metres across the valley. The highest tower is the tallest structure in France, taller than the Eiffel Tower, and I think the tallest bridge in the world.

This 21st-century masterpiece is breathtaking to behold, and it gives me a sense of calm every time I look at it. No one should miss it if they are visiting this part of France.

C Write your competition entry. Use the box in Exercise 6B for ideas of what to include.

D Read your classmates' competition entries. Which one makes you most want to visit the place they write about?

V ADJECTIVES

1 A Work in pairs. Make a list of as many adjectives for describing films as you can remember.

B Complete comments 1–4 with a suitable adjective.

- The ending was sensitively handled and made me cry! Very _____!
- The script was basically one joke after another. Absolutely _____!
- It kept my attention for two hours. Utterly _____!
- My friends and I are still arguing about it. Quite _____!

C Work in pairs. Write four review comments similar to the ones above. Use a suitable adjective for describing films in each review.

G RELATIVE CLAUSES

2 A Underline the correct alternative.

I'd like to find ...

- a person who/for whom/whose main interests include doing sports.
- a place that/which/where I can speak English with native speakers.
- someone that/whose/whom knows a famous person.
- a shop where/which/that I can buy reasonably priced clothes.
- a person for whose/that/whom money is not important.
- three interesting places in this town/city which/to which/where I've never been to.

B Change the words in bold in four of the sentences above so that they are about things/people you'd like to find.

C Ask other students questions about your sentences in Exercise 2B.

A: Do you know anyone whose main interests include going to the cinema?

B: Yes – me.

A: Right. Who's your favourite actor?

B: At the moment, Christian Bale.

GRAMMAR

1.1 direct and indirect questions

direct questions

The word order for most questions is: (question word) + auxiliary verb + subject + main verb.

What does 'strategy' mean? Have you finished yet?

Subject questions: When the question word is the subject of the sentence, use the affirmative form of the verb.

What happened next? NOT What did happen next?

Prepositions in questions usually come at the end.

What are you working on? What was Thailand like?

(Here like is a preposition and the question is asking for a description.)

In very formal English, prepositions can come at the beginning.

In which newspaper did you read it?

Short questions, often ending in prepositions, are common in conversation:

A: I'm going out tonight. B: Where to?/Who with?

A: I didn't go to the party. B: How come?/Why not?

A: I hate spicy food. B: Why's that?/Such as?

A: Can you lend me a paintbrush? B: Which one?/What for?

indirect questions

Use indirect questions to ask questions in a more polite way or for very personal questions. After the opening phrase, use the affirmative form.

Could you tell me what time the lesson starts?

NOT Could you tell me what time does the lesson start?

Do you mind me asking why you left your last job?

NOT Do you mind me asking why did you leave your last job?

In yes/no questions, use if or whether + the affirmative form.

Do you know if Mike's married?

Other opening phrases include: Can I ask (you) ...?

Do you have any idea ...?

Would you mind telling me ...?

What/Why/Where/Who do you think?

I was wondering ...

I wonder ...

I'd be interested to know ...

I'd like to know ...

I want to know ...

Only use a question mark if the introductory phrase contains a question.

I wonder where Derek is. How do you think he did that?

When a question is very personal, start with Can I ask a personal question?

1.2 present perfect

The perfect in English always links two time periods. The present perfect links the past to the present in the following ways:

1 Time up to now: a completed action or experience that happened at some point in the past before now, e.g. in my life, this year, today. The exact time it happened is not specified.

We've met before. Have you seen Jo this week?

2 Recent events: a completed action which has a present result or is in some other way relevant to the present. The exact time it happened is not specified.

No coffee for me, thanks. I've already had one.

I've lost my phone. Has anyone seen it?

3 Ongoing situations: an uncompleted state or repeated action that started in the past and continues up to now.

How long have you been on Twitter?

I've swum every morning since May.

Note: The present perfect continuous can often also be used for this meaning. See unit 2.1

Time phrases to talk about the past present perfect	just, already, not yet, ever, recently, lately, since, so far, up to now, until now, over the last year, still not past simple	yesterday, ago, this time last week, on Thursday, on 12th May, last week/month/year/winter, when I was younger, until then both	never, always, for, before, in the summer, today, this morning/afternoon (depending on whether the period is finished or not)

1.3 polite enquiries

opening phrases

I'd like to	ask/find out about ...
I'm calling/phoning to	enquire about ...
	talk to someone about ...

polite enquiries

I was wondering/I wonder	if you could see if there's a place available.
I'd be grateful/I'd appreciate it
Can/Could you tell me	when the manager will be back?
Do you mind me asking
Would there be any chance of	giving me a refund?
Would you mind

A: Sure ... let me just if we have your phone number ...

GRAMMAR

2.1 present perfect simple and continuous

1 Ongoing situations

Use either the present perfect simple or the present perfect continuous to talk about situations or repeated actions which started in the past and continue into the present. Often there is no important difference, particularly with verbs such as work, live, study, do.

Ella's worked/Ella's been working for the company for a year now.

Use the present perfect continuous to emphasise that an action has continued for a long time or is repeated, often with verbs of duration, such as wait, stay, run, play, sit, stand, write, etc.

We've been sitting here for over an hour.

How long have you been waiting?

Use the present perfect simple with state verbs such as know, understand, like to talk about an unfinished situation.

How long have you known Jon?

2 Completed actions (recent or in time up to now)

Use the present perfect simple with actions which are short and complete, e.g. drop, start, finish, leave, break, lose, etc.

I've cut my finger. NOT ~~I've been cutting my finger.~~

Use the present perfect simple to emphasise a completed action or result. It often answers the questions: How many?, How much?, How far?

He's phoned me at least four times today.

She's run 500 kilometres and she's raised 5,000 euros so far.

3 Present evidence

Sometimes the present perfect continuous is used when there is present evidence of a recent longer activity.

They look hot. Yes, they've been running.

NOT ~~Yes, they've run.~~

Sorry about the smell. I've been cooking fish.

NOT ~~I've cooked fish.~~

2.2 the passive

Form the passive with be + past participle. In a passive sentence, the agent (the doer of the action) may or may not be mentioned.

	active	passive
present simple	The press follows him everywhere.	He's followed everywhere by the press.
present continuous	The police are monitoring his emails.	His emails are being monitored by the police.
past simple	Fire destroyed the building.	The building was destroyed by fire.
present perfect	Someone's eaten my sandwich.	My sandwich has been eaten.
will	Someone will tell you.	You'll be told.
modals	We can't do it now.	It can't be done now.
-ing form	I don't like people criticising me.	I don't like being criticised.
infinitive with to	The organisers want people to give feedback.	The organisers want to be given feedback.

Use the passive:

- to emphasise the main focus of a text or sentence.

The company has apologised for losing email details of hundreds of its customers. The details were left on a train by a member of staff.

In the second sentence the writer uses the passive to keep the focus of the text on the email details and not on the person who left them.

- when the agent is obvious, not important or unknown.
A man's been arrested on suspicion of murder.
I hate being watched when I'm practising Tai Chi.
I'm being sent a large number of spam emails these days.
- in more formal texts (e.g. academic writing, scientific reports) and certain text types (e.g. some newspaper articles, radio/TV news).
The issue is discussed later in this paper.
No survivors have been found in the disaster.
- to create a distance between the agent and the action, for example to avoid responsibility.
All complaints will be taken seriously.

In formal writing the following construction is often used:

It is said/believed/reported/thought/understood ... that ...

It is reported that a shockingly large proportion of the world population is out of work.

2.3 opinions

Use these expressions to express your opinion:

I'm (very much) in favour of/(really) against ...

Personally/Basically I think/feel/believe that ...

I do think/feel/believe that ...

agreeing	partially agreeing	disagreeing
That makes sense. I see what you mean. Good point. Exactly/Absolutely/ Definitely. I agree (with you).	I see your point, but ... I agree to a certain extent, but ... Fair enough, but ... I suppose so.*	Actually, I think ... I'm (still) not convinced. I'm not so sure. I (totally) disagree.

*We use this when we say we agree but we don't really want to.

PRACTICE

2.1 A Complete the answers with the present perfect simple or continuous form of the verbs in brackets.

- Why are you looking so pleased with yourself?
Because I _____ for some new jeans and I've found a pair I like. (look)

B: Are you? I'm really against.
A: Well, personally I with uniforms everyone's the same, rich or poor.
B: I see your, but they can be very expensive – especially as children get bigger.
A: I'm not so. Kids' clothes are expensive anyway.

- B: Fair, but having uniforms stops children expressing their personality.
A: I agree a certain extent, but I do think uniforms provide a sense of belonging.
B: I suppose. But actually I don't think kids really feel any less lonely just because they have a uniform on.
A: Maybe not, but I'm not convinced.

GRAMMAR

3.1 narrative tenses

Use the past simple for completed actions in the past which tell the main events in a story.

When I arrived, my friends left.

Use the past perfect simple (had + past participle) to link the past to a point further back in the past. It is used to talk about completed actions/events that happened

- before another action/event/the story began.

My friends had left by the time I arrived.

Or: When I arrived at the restaurant, my friends had left.

Here we say the events (left, arrived) in a different order from which they occurred.

- with 'thinking' verbs such as realise, remember, forget, think, find out, discover and also with because.

I suddenly remembered I hadn't phoned Sue. I felt terrible because I'd promised to phone her.

Use the past continuous (was/were + verb + -ing):

To describe an action in progress

- at a specified time or point in the story.
- when another shorter action or event happened (usually in the past simple).

He was sleeping when the plane landed.

- to set the scene of the story or a section of the story.
I was walking along the street when I noticed the man.

Use the past perfect continuous (had + been + verb + -ing) to talk about longer actions or situations which started

- before the story began and continued to the beginning of a story. The length of the action is often mentioned with for or since.
- before a point or an action in the story and continued up to that action.

She had been living there for a week before they met.

- before a point where there is evidence of a recent activity.
David looked very tired because he'd been working all night.

3.2 I wish, If only wishes about the present

- Use wish + past simple for things you want to change but it is impossible or not likely.

I wish I had more time. (But I don't have more time.)

I wish you were here. (But you aren't here.)

- Use wish + could to talk about possibilities and abilities you want to change.

I wish I could swim. (But I can't.)

- Use wish + person/thing + would to talk about things you want to change because they annoy you. Don't use this to talk about yourself.

I wish you'd listen to me!

I wish Pat wouldn't text all the time. NOT ~~I wish I would speak English better.~~

Notes:

In formal English, use I wish + were. I wish I were taller.

In spoken English it is increasingly common to use I wish + was.

I wish I was there.

regrets about the past

Use wish + past perfect to talk about things which happened or didn't happen in the past and which you regret now.

I wish I'd stayed at home.

They wish they hadn't come.

I wish I'd never met him.

If only

Use If only instead of wish to talk about the present or past. It can show more emotion than I wish although this depends on intonation.

If only we lived nearer my parents.

If only I could afford a holiday.

If only the car would start.

If only I'd listened to my teacher.

3.3 expressing likes and dislikes expressing likes	expressing dislikes

I'm a big fan of ...	I'm not a big fan of/not that keen on ...
I'm very/really/quite keen on ...	I don't like ... that much.
What I like/love about it is ...	I can't get into ...
The thing I like about it is that ...	I can't stand ...
	What I don't like/hate about it is ...
	The thing I don't like/hate about it is ...

Some of these expressions use special structures to put extra emphasis on the main point:

What I + verb (about it) + be (that) + key information

What I don't like about it is that some of the dialogue isn't very natural.

(compare: I don't like the unnaturalness of some of the dialogue.)

The thing I + verb (about it) + be (that) + key information

The thing I liked most about it was the plot.

(compare: I liked the plot most.)

PRACTICE

3.1 A Complete the sentences using the correct narrative tense.

If only we _____ (know) where we were. I wish we _____ (remember) to bring our GPS.
- 4 The neighbours were playing loud music last night.
I wish they _____ (play) their music so loudly. If only I _____ (sleep) better, I wouldn't feel so tired now.
- 5 I'm not very advanced because I only started learning English last year.
If only I _____ (start) learning English when I was younger.
- 6 You bite your nails.
I wish you _____ (bite) your nails.

3.3 A Correct the mistake in each sentence.

- 1 I don't like opera much that.
- 2 I can't stand on depressing books like that one.
- 3 The thing I liked about it most it was the surprise ending.
- 4 Who I love about Lee's films is that there's always a message.
- 5 I'm a big fan for historical novels.
- 6 What I like her acting is that she brings something special to every role.
- 7 I don't get into classical music.
- 8 Thing what I hate about graffiti is that it's just ugly.

GRAMMAR

4.1 present and past habits

present habits

Use the present simple, often with frequency adverbs such as usually, always, generally, normally, typically, for regular repeated actions or states.

I usually get on very well with my brother.

NOT ~~I use to get on with my brother.~~

Use always + present continuous for a habit which the speaker often finds annoying.

The people next door are always holding late-night parties.

Use will + infinitive for regular habits. This use of will is not connected to the future.

On Saturdays I'll usually buy croissants and we'll have them for breakfast.

past habits

Use the past simple, often with frequency adverbs, for regular repeated actions or states in the past.

We generally travelled to the campsite by car.

Use always + past continuous for annoying habits in the past.

She was always criticising me.

Use used to + infinitive for repeated activities or states in the past which usually don't continue now.

Jon used to smoke but he doesn't any longer.

It didn't use to be so expensive.

NOT ~~It didn't used to be so expensive.~~

Use would + infinitive for repeated activities in the past.

Don't use it for states.

Sometimes would has the idea of nostalgia. This use of would is not connected to conditionals.

We'd sit down together for our meals. Not like families nowadays. NOT ~~We'd be very happy.~~

4.2 future forms

When talking about the future, the choice of form is often flexible and depends on what the speaker wants to express.

plans, intentions and decisions

Use be going to + infinitive to talk about general plans, arrangements and intentions about the future. Use might/could/may + infinitive when a plan or intention is not definite.

I'm going to look for a job in New York.

We might go away for the weekend.

Use the present continuous to talk about definite arrangements or plans.

What are you doing today? I'm having lunch with Mitsuko.

The following phrases can also be used for intentions and plans: planning to/hoping to + infinitive, thinking of + -ing.

Pete's hoping to go to university next year.

Are you thinking of leaving the company?

Use will ('ll in spoken English) to talk about decisions made at the moment of speaking. This is often used with I think.

I'm tired. I think I'll go to bed now.

predictions

Use will/might/could/won't + infinitive to make predictions based on opinion. Use with verbs such as think, hope, expect, know, guess, be sure or adverbs such as maybe, perhaps.

I expect Sara will agree. I'm sure everything will be fine.

Use will + definitely/certainly/possibly/probably to say how certain you are. Note the word order with won't.

Jodie and Al will probably get divorced soon.

You definitely won't get a ticket now.

Use be likely to + infinitive for strong possibility and be due to + infinitive for something that is expected or scheduled to happen.

She's likely to be tired after the journey.

Meg is due to retire next year.

Use going to to make a prediction based on present evidence.

Look at those clouds. It's going to rain.

Lisa's going to have a baby.

future facts

Use the present simple to talk about schedules, timetables and itineraries.

The course starts in September. We leave at 6a.m.

Use will + infinitive for future facts.

Your dry-cleaning will be ready tomorrow.

I'll be 28 next year.

4.3 describing procedures

the aim of an activity

The point is to ...

The point/goal/aim is for you to ...

emphasise an important point

The key/main/most important thing is to ...

different procedures or steps

4.3 A Complete the rules to the game Cyclops by putting the underlined words in the correct order.

1it works is Basically that the way you have two players and just one dice. 2thing The is they first do roll to see who goes first. 3Then first the player does what is to roll the dice, and add up the numbers that they roll. 4object is The to get a hundred points. 5point The is to be lucky enough not to roll a one, because if you get a one, you lose all your points for that turn. 6that is happens What a player gets greedy, thinks he can make a run to a hundred, but then gets a one and loses it all. That's the best part – it's really funny. 7to is thing key The work in little steps, end your turn after a few rolls and don't get greedy!

GRAMMAR

5.1 articles

Use the indefinite article (a/an):

with singular countable nouns when it is not clear which thing or person is being talked about	We got an email from Carla. She's renting an apartment in Berlin with a friend. the first time something is mentioned	There's a problem.
in phrases of quantity or frequency	2 euros a kilo, 5 days a week, 70 km an hour

Use no article:

with plurals and uncountable nouns to talk about things in general	Children need at least eight hours' sleep.
for continents, countries, towns, roads, stations, mountains and lakes	Asia, Spain, Moscow, Kings Cross Station, Everest, Lake Garda

Use the definite article (the):

when it's clear to the listener/reader what is being talked about	Lia had the children with her. (= her children) I liked the speech you made. when something is unique; superlatives	The first man on the moon. It's the fastest car. when something has been mentioned before	There's a problem and the problem is money. for oceans, rivers, organisations, deserts, mountain ranges, decades	The Pacific, the Danube, the UN, the Alps, the Sahara, the 1990s in fixed lexical phrases	What's the matter? The bigger the better. with an adjective or a singular countable noun for things in general	The city is divided between the rich and the poor. The tiger could soon be extinct.

Note: a singular countable noun can never stand alone; it must go with a, an, each, every, this, that, his, her, the, etc.

5.2 real and hypothetical conditionals

real conditionals

	conditional clause	result clause
real (zero) conditional	if + present simple	present simple
real (first) conditional	if + present simple	will/going to/can/could/may/might/should + infinitive

Use the real (zero) conditional to talk about a real situation that is always or generally true with a result that always happens.

If you pay by debit card, you get a 5 percent discount.

Use the real (first) conditional to talk about a real possibility in the present or future. In the main clause, use may/might/can/could instead of will for an uncertain result, and use should for advice.

If you put in the wrong PIN number, the machine will take your card.

If your card gets stuck, you should ring the number on the machine.

hypothetical/unreal conditionals

	conditional clause	result clause
hypothetical (second) conditional	if + past simple	would/could/might/should + infinitive

Use the hypothetical (second) conditional to talk about a hypothetical or unreal situation in the present or future. In the main clause, use might/could for an uncertain result. With be, use were or (informally) was.

If Valerie practised more, she could be really good.

If I were you, I'd leave now.

alternatives to if

- Use providing/provided (that), on condition that and, less formally, as long as, to mean if and only if, often with real conditions, where the speaker or writer has real reservations.
I'll get a university place providing I pass the entrance exam.
- Use unless to mean if not.
I'll arrive at 10a.m. unless the train is late.
- Use suppose/supposing, imagine and, less formally, let's say instead of if when something is unlikely.
Suppose you won the lottery, what would you do?

5.3 suggesting ideas proposing/suggesting ideas

How do you feel about What about Would you consider	this idea? trying something new?
How does the idea of	making a film strike you? grab you?
It'd be great if we could Suppose we	get a celebrity.

reacting to or commenting on ideas

+	That's a great/fantastic/excellent/idea. I think we should go for X./I'd go for X. Let's go with that/the health angle.
Unsure	I can't make up my mind. I'm torn between X and Y.
-	That could be a problem. It wouldn't be my first choice. It wouldn't work/It doesn't grab me. (inf) I think we're on the wrong track here.

ability	can/can't go am/am not able to go manage/ don't manage to go	could/couldn't go was/wasn't able to go managed/ didn't manage to go obligation

Must can express that the obligation is internal, not (only) because of a rule.

I must finish this report – I don't want to annoy the boss.

Use make someone do something when someone forces another person to do something.

My mum makes me study for two hours every night.

Use be supposed to especially when the obligation is broken.

I'm not supposed to eat chocolate but ...

lack of obligation/prohibition

Note the difference between don't have to and mustn't:

You don't have to arrive before 5p.m. (it's not necessary)

You mustn't arrive before 5p.m. (you're not allowed to) permission

Use let + someone or allow someone to to say that someone gave permission to someone.

Do you think she'll let me take a day off?

My company allows us to work from home one day a week.

ability

For ability on a single occasion in the past, use was/were able to or managed to (not could).

He was able to find his way out of the forest and get help.

NOT He could find his way ...

Use manage to for something that is/was difficult to do.

He managed to run the race in under three hours.

6.2 future perfect and continuous future continuous

Use will + be + -ing form for:

- something that will be in progress at or around a specific future time.

I'll be driving home when you call, so just leave a message.
- something that will happen in the normal course of events, not as part of a particular intention or plan.

I expect I'll be talking to Ian tomorrow, so I could ask him then.

Note: We can use this meaning to introduce requests in a neutral way.

A: Will you be passing the postbox?

B: Yes.

A: In that case, could you post this for me?

future perfect

Use will + have + past participle to talk about something that will finish before a specific time in the future, often with the preposition by, meaning at the latest.

I'll have finished this report by the end of the week.

It's possible to use other modals, adverbs and phrases with both forms.

I might have finished/I definitely won't have finished/I'd like to have finished by then.

This time next week I could be relaxing/I'll probably be relaxing/I'd like to be relaxing on a beach.

6.3 persuading

Use the following phrases to persuade someone by giving a strong opinion:

Surely Clearly Anyone can see that	parents need to take more responsibility for their kids' education.
------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------

Use negative questions when you want to persuade someone by inviting them to agree with you.

Don't you agree/think (that) Isn't it true/obvious that	texting is harmful for children's writing?
Shouldn't people Doesn't she want to	spend more time at home?

PRACTICE

HOME » TRAVEL

Traveller's journal – Changing times

... it was the 1980s and travel there was very restricted back then. Of course you ¹had to/must get a visa to enter the country as well as a permit to travel to most cities. Or at least you ²should/were supposed to get a permit; I didn't always get one, and once without a permit I ³could/managed to go to a town that foreigners technically ⁴couldn't/didn't have to go to. The police called me in and ⁵made/let me answer questions. I spoke the language a little so I was ⁶able to/allowed to communicate with them. Once they were convinced that I wasn't a spy, they ⁷allowed/let me go and I was ⁸allowed to/able stay there as long as I wanted. Of course, it's changed so much now. You still ⁹must/have to get a visa to enter, but you ¹⁰mustn't/don't have to get a permit to go anywhere within the country. As was always the case, if you ¹¹are able/can speak the language, it's a really enriching experience, and I think everyone ¹²ought to/is supposed to try to spend at least a few weeks travelling there.

B Rewrite the sentences. Use the word in brackets so that the meaning stays the same.

- I fell asleep. It was difficult. (manage)
I _____.
- We stayed for dinner. There was no choice. (to)
We _____.
- He gave me permission to listen to my MP3 player. (let)
He _____.
- It was too dark to see anything. (not able)

- It's a good idea for her to leave before dark. (ought)
She _____.
- The rule was to pay before going in. We didn't pay at all. (suppose)
We _____.
- The maximum age to enter this disco is eighteen. (not allow) Adults _____.
- I had to change my passport photo. (make)
They _____.

6.2 A Complete the sentences with the future perfect or the future continuous form of the verb in brackets.

- The film starts at eight, and it's about two hours long.
At nine, I _____ the film. (watch)
By eleven, the film _____. (finish)
- Her plane lands at 11.45p.m.
At midnight she _____ for her luggage. (probably/wait)
By the time we wake up tomorrow, she _____ in Madrid. (arrive)
- The world hotdog-eating champion can eat more than six hotdogs a minute.
In ten minutes from now, he _____ over sixty hotdogs. (eat)
Tonight in his sleep, he _____ about hotdogs! (dream)
- Give me a day to think about it.
By this time tomorrow, I _____. (decide)

GRAMMAR

7.1 quantifiers

	100%	a large amount	a small amount	0%
uncountable or plural nouns	all, any	a lot of, lots of, plenty of, most	some, hardly any	no, not any uncountable nouns		much, a large amount of, a great deal of	a little, little plural nouns	both (= all of two)	many, a large number of, quite a few	several, a small number of, a few, few singular nouns	each, every, any			no, not any, neither (= none of two) a few/a little = some or a small amount

There's still a little butter left.

few/little = not many/much or not as many/much as wanted or expected

Very few people came to the meeting.

any = It doesn't matter which/who

I like any brand(s) of chocolate.

Any is stressed.

Use both + plural verb, neither + singular verb.

Both of us run a business but neither of us is good with numbers.

Another + singular nouns and numbers = something is additional to the existing number.

Could I have another piece of cake, please.

We've got another three meetings today.

Use the pronoun none for a short answer.

How much sugar have we got? None.

7.2 reported speech

In reported speech, the original verb form often goes back further into the past. Pronouns, time references, etc. also change.

direct speech	reported speech present simple/continuous 'I want to be a chef.' 'We're working.'	past simple/continuous He said he wanted to be a chef. She told me they were working. past simple/present perfect 'Ben phoned me last week.' 'I've read your book.'	past perfect She told me Ben had phoned her the week before. He said he'd read my book.
will/would/can/could/should 'We'll help you tomorrow.' 'You can stay with me.'	would/could/should He said they'd help me the next day. She said I could stay with her.

It is not necessary to change the verb form when reporting something that is still true now or was said very recently.

'It's going to rain.' Sam's just said it's going to rain.

reported questions

Use normal statement word order without do/does/did or a question mark.

'What does Ian think?' She asked me what Ian thought.

NOT She asked me what did Ian think.

With yes/no questions, use if or whether.

'Are you OK?' She asked if I was OK.

Also use wanted to know, enquired and wondered.

They wanted to know what time the train left.

reported requests

Use verb + object + infinitive with to.

'Could you sing?' He asked us to sing.

time phrases and place references

Time phrases and place references usually change.

now → then/at that time yesterday → the day before/previous day tomorrow → the following/next day a week ago → the week before here → there

7.3 adding emphasis auxiliary verbs

add or stress auxiliaries	I do hate it when people smoke indoors. It is annoying.
intensifiers
really, so + any adjective or adverb	It's so outrageous. You play really well .
absolutely, completely, totally + extreme adjectives	It's completely ridiculous.
such (a/an) + (adjective) + noun	It'll be such an amazing day. It was such terrible weather.

emphasising phrases

pronoun/noun + be + the one who	You're the one who chose it.
the + adjective + thing + be	The best thing was the music.

informal phrases

There's no way (that) ...	There's no way Tom stole the money.
What/Who/Where/Why/How on earth ... ?	Why on earth didn't you say? Where on earth did you buy that?

PRACTICE

7.1 A Underline the correct alternative.

What does your ringtone say about you?

Almost everyone now has a mobile phone and ¹*a great deal/a large number/the most* of us have our own ringtone. Is it only so that we can distinguish our own phone from others or is it because ²*each/a large number of/both* time our phone rings we want to be able to say, 'Listen to that. That's me!?' Maybe ³*either/both/each* reasons are true. Here is a quick guide to ⁴*some/few/a little* typical ringtones and what they say about their users.

If your ringtone is ⁵*either/both/neither* a hip hop tune or a current hit, then you are young at heart but not particularly original.

⁶*Any/All/Neither* classic rock tune means you're probably over thirty but you know you're still cool.

⁷*Not much/A few/Very few* people think annoying animal noises are as funny as the phones' owners obviously do. So ⁸*no/none/neither* points for maturity there.

You download a new one every month? You must be a teenager or you have ⁹*plenty of/a large number of/hardly any* time and money.

You never change it? Either you're too lazy or you don't know how. ¹⁰*Neither/Both/Any* is an acceptable reason!

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 23

My first (and most embarrassing) job interview
I was eighteen when I went for my first job interview, at a photo laboratory. The manager asked me take a seat and then asked what's my name and I was so nervous that I told him I don't understand the question. Then he wanted to know do I have any plant experience; I told that I had done some work in my grandmother's garden. He laughed and said that by 'plant' he had meant 'factory', not trees and flowers. I felt terribly embarrassed and simply told him that I have never worked in a factory. He had my file of photos and he asked that I talked about them. I was so nervous that I dropped them all on the floor! Then he asked me if I have any referees; I thought he meant the kind of referees they have in a football match, so I told him that I didn't play team sports but that I had been doing long-distance running for years. I was sure that I'd messed up the interview, but then he enquired when I can start! He wanted me that I start the following Monday!

A: But Marco's a great guy and you're good together. (such, so)
B: Well, you can be sure that Claudia's going to regret it. (really)
A: I hope you're not going to do anything stupid. (do)
B: You told me to fight for him. I'm just following your advice. (the one)

GRAMMAR

8.1 past and mixed conditionals hypothetical past conditional (third conditional)

conditional clause	result clause
If + past perfect	would/might/could + have + past participle
If + past perfect continuous

Use this to talk about a hypothetical situation and result in the past. The situation cannot be changed.

If Leon had known about the problem, he would have helped.

If you hadn't overslept, we wouldn't have been late.

For a longer action, use the past perfect continuous.

If I hadn't been sitting there, we wouldn't have met.

It is common to use only one clause of the full conditional.

Why didn't you tell me you wanted some grapes? I could have bought you some.

I'm surprised Paul didn't tell her what he thought.

I would have said something.

A: Would you have done it? B: Yes, if I'd noticed in time.

mixed conditional

conditional clause	result clause
If + past perfect	would/might/could + infinitive

Use this to talk about a hypothetical condition in the past with a result in the present.

If she hadn't missed her plane, she'd be in Mexico now.

If I'd been successful in the exam, I might have a better job now.

clause order

It is possible to change the order of the clauses. Note the non-use of the comma.

You would have known about the meeting if you'd checked your emails.

You wouldn't need a visa to work in Australia if you'd been born there.

Verbs followed by the -ing form or infinitive with to with no difference in meaning

These include: like, love, hate, prefer, can't stand, can't bear, start, begin

I hate writing/to write by hand.

I much prefer using/to use a computer.

In American English, the infinitive with to is often preferred. In British English, this is often used to talk about choices and habits.

I like to go to the dentist twice a year.

I hate to interrupt, but we have to go.

If the verb after prefer is in the negative, use the infinitive with to.

I prefer not to write by hand.

When we use the verbs begin, continue and start in continuous forms we usually use the infinitive with to.

They're beginning to annoy me.

NOT They're beginning annoying me.

9.2 past modals of deduction

Use modal verb + have + past participle to make deductions or guesses about past actions or states.

You could have left it in the café.

Use modal verb + have + been + -ing form to make deductions about continuous actions or states.

She must have been feeling ill.

Use modal verb + have + been + past participle for deductions using the passive.

It can't have been stolen from your bag.

must have	you are almost certain that something is true, based on the evidence	I must have deleted the email. I can't find it anywhere. might/could/may have	you think it is possible that something is true, based on the evidence	The plane could have been delayed by the weather. There's a bad storm at sea. couldn't/can't have	you are almost certain something is not true or is impossible, based on the evidence	It can't have been the waitress. She wasn't in the room when the bag was stolen.

Note: have + past participle (the perfect infinitive) is also used with other modals: should have (been) and would have (been).

9.3 reporting an incident

GRAMMAR

10.1 relative clauses

defining relative clauses

- give essential information about a noun.
That guy is the actor who is going to play the president.
Don't use commas before or after the clause.
- can use that instead of who or which.
Ken's just seen a woman who that he went to university with.
- can omit the relative pronoun/adverb when it is the object of the relative clause.
Ken's just seen a woman (who) he went to university with.
He is the subject of the relative clause, who is the object, so we can omit who.

pronouns and adverbs in relative clauses

Use the relative pronouns who/that (people), which/that (things), whose (possession) and the relative adverbs when (time) and where (place).

I remember the time when you were just a little girl.

Whose can be used to refer to cities, countries and other nouns which suggest a group of people. It is rarely used with things.

It's a city whose inhabitants always seem to be upbeat.

Omit words which have been replaced by the relative pronoun.

NOT She's someone who I know ~~her~~ well.

non-defining relative clauses

- give additional, non-essential information.
That's Sam, who is going to play the president.
- use commas to separate this clause from the rest of the sentence.
- cannot use that instead of who or which.
The film, which won the Oscar last year, was made in India.
NOT The film, that won the Oscar last year, was made in India.
- cannot omit the relative pronouns/adverbs.
Gwen, who I'm going to see later, is my fiancé.
NOT Gwen, I'm going to see later, is my fiancé.
- can use which to refer to the whole of a previous clause.
The plane was delayed, which meant we were late.

prepositions in relative clauses

In informal spoken and written English prepositions usually come at the end of the relative clause.

This is the book which she's famous for.

In formal and in written English prepositions often come before the relative pronoun. Use whom for people.

He is someone with whom I can work.

Where can be replaced by which ... in, or, in more formal English in which.

The room where she slept/which she slept in/in which she slept is over there.

10.2 participle clauses

- Use participle clauses (clauses that start with a present participle or a past participle) to vary your style or to include more information in a sentence.
- Use them as a shorter alternative to relative clauses. In this use they are also known as 'reduced relative clauses'. Form the participle clause by omitting the relative pronoun and any auxiliary verbs.
- Clauses beginning with a past participle have a passive meaning.
The children caught in the rainstorm came home soaked.
= The children who were caught ...
The film, directed by Miyakazi, won an award for animation.
= which was directed by Miyakazi ...

- Clauses beginning with a present participle have an active meaning.
The team playing in red is Chile.
= The team that is playing in red ...
Do you know the man standing in the corner?
= the man who is standing ...
- Clauses beginning with a present participle replace continuous and simple verbs in different tenses.
Give me a number beginning with three.
= Give me a number which begins with three.
Anyone cheating in the exam failed.
= Anyone who cheated in the exam failed.
The bus leaving tomorrow will stop at Lima.
= The bus which is leaving/leaves tomorrow ...

What's changed isn't the amount of free time, it's people's ability to do nothing. We think we used to have more free time because years ago we didn't use to fill it up with tasks the way we do now. People would sit around and watch TV or read. However, people have been programmed to need new things all the time, and technology has, unfortunately, responded to that need. Watch people on the train for example, when they have some free time; they'll check social media, read a news site, or play a game on their phone rather than simply relaxing or gazing into space. People say they like spending time with family but why are they always talking on their mobiles or checking emails when they're with their 'nearest and dearest'? I tell my clients, 'Hey, turn off the internet and enjoy the silence.' But most people can't do it. They panic. It's like a drug for them.

12–15: You are amazingly optimistic! On the one hand, your positive attitude can make people around you feel good. On the other hand, sometimes people may find your constant cheerfulness slightly irritating.

8–11: You are calm and level-headed and can always see both sides of a situation. This means you don't have great highs and lows but can also mean you miss out on some of the drama of life.

5–7: You're not always easy to be with, usually seeing the negative side of things. However, this can be extremely useful in some situations because you will tend to be more cautious and see what could go wrong with any plans or projects.

Nothing has changed except what we mean by 'free time activities'. Years ago we'd sit with our family in front of the TV all evening and chat; we regarded that as free time spent together. Now if we sit together and check our Facebook pages, is that leisure time? And if so, is it a good thing? One American study put a whole range of activities in the 'leisure' category: watching TV, spending time with friends, playing online games for example. But there's a huge difference between playing games online and playing a board game with friends or family, and we need to think about which activities are really good for us. When my son's with his friends, they usually watch YouTube clips together or they'll often play a computer game together. My son's favourite one at the moment is a car racing one, and I think that's OK because they're sharing. It's when they're sitting together but each one is texting or gaming separately, now that worries me.

Free gift wrapping

Preparation:

- 1 The con artist team goes to a busy shopping mall during the festival season and sets up a tent with a sign saying 'Free gift wrapping'.
- 2 An attractive, friendly, female con artist stands behind the counter.
- 3 The other two con artists are inside the tent, out of sight. They have a scale for weighing things, oranges and packing material.

The scam:

- 1 When a customer brings an item for wrapping, the woman passes it into the tent.
- 2 The two con artists there open the package, remove the item and weigh it, then put the same weight in oranges into the box with packing material and wrap it attractively.
- 3 They pass it back to the female colleague, who gives it to the customer. The package feels like the original and won't be opened till later!

Hire car scam

Preparation:

- 1 The con artist team hires an expensive car, changes the number plates and removes any evidence that it's hired.
- 2 The team places an advert in a newspaper or online offering the car at a very low price.
- 3 The team finds an empty house, breaks in and puts some toys around the rooms and driveway. This address is given when people answer the advert.

The scam:

- 1 An attractive female con artist poses as a young mother and greets customers as they arrive. She explains to the customers why there are no car papers. Some of the customers will offer a cash deposit.
- 2 At the end of the afternoon, the team clears out of the house, returns the car to the hire agency and disappears.

guessed, showed me round the car – it was a fantastic bargain and I wanted to buy it. She couldn't show me the car papers because her husband had just taken them to pay the car tax. She told me that she'd got lots of other interested people coming round later so I gave her a deposit and she said I could pick up the car at six. At six o'clock, I found eight other people outside the house, no car and no one at home.

POPULAR CULTURE

Q&A

Want to know the best-kept secrets of popular culture? Read our Top Questions & Answers to find out.

Q:

A: Singers such as Beyoncé, whose stage show involves her dancing all over the stage, can't always deliver high-quality vocals live as it's physically extremely difficult to control the voice while jumping around. Because of this, many performers rely on a backing track to provide vocals during some songs, and whilst they may be singing live, the audience can't actually hear their voice. Some stationary performers use a backing track when they're concerned about difficult parts of the performance, for example hitting a very high note or even remembering the words to a song.

Q:

A: Every comedian has his or her own strategy for dealing with members of the audience interrupting their performance with rude comments. Strategies range from simply telling the heckler to be quiet ('Shut up!') to humiliating the heckler into silence by insulting them or someone with them such as their girlfriend. Armed with the microphone, the comedian has a great advantage over the heckler. Some comedians, known for their particularly aggressive way of handling hecklers, actually become more famous for this aspect of their act than their scripted sections.

Q:

A: There are certain ways of making it look like you're crying, such as putting glycerine in your eyes, sniffing a freshly cut onion or, on stage, concentrating on a bright point of light. Most actors use more internal techniques that exploit emotional memory. By recalling a time when they were sad or upset, an actor can often get the tears flowing. Or sometimes they'll build an association between an object – a prop they'll be handling during the scene – and that emotion, so that, when they touch the prop, they feel inclined to cry. Interestingly, most actors say it's easier to cry convincingly than to laugh convincingly.

Q:

A: This is an age-old question. The range of works and styles of painting regarded as art at different times is astonishing – from ancient Chinese ink paintings to Leonardo Da Vinci to Jackson Pollock. One argument goes that a painting is art if the painter says it is, and gives convincing reasons to support their position. Many artists would reject this idea; they don't care who regards their work as art. We'll probably never agree on who the most beautiful woman or best-looking man is, so we'll just have to enjoy exploring and sharing our notions of art and beauty without a definitive answer.

Lesson 10.2

G give and take n [U] If there is give and take between two people, each person agrees to do some of the things that the other person wants: In any relationship there has to be some give and take.

B be sick and tired of sb/sth to be annoyed and bored with a person or situation: I'm sick and tired of waiting.

P peace and quiet When everything is quiet and calm: All I want is some peace and quiet.

Conversation 1

A: What would you say?

B: Erm, for me, an important question is 'Do you keep yourself to yourself, or do you tend to be around a lot?'

A: Hmm. What are you trying to find out?

B: I suppose I'm looking for a balance, because the last thing you want is a person who comes in and goes straight up to their room and you never see them again till the morning. You know, antisocial. I'm quite sociable, you know, I like having friends around. I suppose I'm a people person.

A: Yeah.

B: ... but on the other hand, you don't want a flatmate who's always there, so you never get any privacy. And especially in the morning. I'm not a morning person – I can't stand people who are all bright and cheerful first thing. You know, when I haven't woken up yet. So yeah, I'd like someone who is quite sociable but not too sociable.

A: Mm, yeah, I agree. I s'pose another question is about housework and cleaning.

B: Yes, something like 'Who cleans the place where you live now?'

A: How would you answer that question?

B: Who cleans my flat now? I do.

A: Yeah, me too.

B: And I'd also ask: 'Are you tidy?'

A: What answer do you want the person to give?

B: I'd want the answer to be 'Oh yes, extremely.' I don't know. I'd hate to live with someone who was really untidy all the time, that never did the washing up, someone that left their stuff just lying all over the place. Someone who doesn't do their fair share of the housework. No, that would just drive me crazy. I suppose I'm quite tidy myself.

A: Yeah, yeah. Um, and what about money?

B: Yeah, it can be a big problem. I had a flatmate once and she used to say 'I know I have to pay the electricity bill but can I pay it next week?' She promised to pay and then never did. Really unreliable.

A: Oh yeah. It doesn't matter how nice people are if they've got money problems. You need to know they can afford the rent.

B: But I wouldn't ask 'Could you tell me how much you earn?' I think I'd say the rent and the bills have to be paid in advance so I'd ask 'Can you pay three months in advance?' and see what they say.

Conversation 2

A: Ooh that's really difficult to answer ... I would like to think: 'handsome, witty, cool.'

B: Well, at least you're witty. You're quick and you make me laugh. And you're good with words.

A: No, but I don't think they'd describe me like that. I dunno. Let me think. Erm. I suppose they'd say I'm good at coming up with new ideas ... yes ... So I think people would describe me as quite creative.

B: And the second one?

A: Erm ... well, people know I like doing new things, things that are out of the ordinary.

B: Such as?

A: Oh well, like last week I was by the sea with some friends and it was a lovely warm evening. And we decided to go for a midnight swim. I mean, we hadn't planned to, it just seemed like a great idea at the time. I like doing new things, different things. So I suppose that means I'm adventurous ... or maybe a better word is spontaneous. Yeah, that's more like it. I get an idea and I do it, no hesitation, so I'm spontaneous. That's useful in my job, too.

B: Can I ask what you do?

A: I work for a web design company. We design websites for new businesses.

B: Mmm, sounds interesting.

A: Most of the time!

B: So that's two very positive words so far. What's your third one?

A: Well, I think people that know me would say that I'm quite messy and disorganised. You should see my desk – papers everywhere – and my bedroom! And I'm always losing things. So yes, my friends would say 'creative, spontaneous and disorganised'.

B: I'd be interested to know if you agree with them. What words do you think describe you best?

A: Now that's an interesting question. Actually, I'd like to think that I'm fair, you know, non-judgmental.

B: What do you mean by non-judgmental?

A: Well, I try not to make up my mind about people until I get to know them, so yes, non-judgmental. But I'd stick with 'spontaneous' and 'disorganised'. I think they describe me quite well. What about you?

B: Erm. Well, people say I'm fun to be with, a good laugh, if you know what I mean. Erm, I'm very practical and down-to-earth.

A: What do you do?

B: I train people in advanced computer software. But don't worry, I'm not a computer geek. I don't sit in front of my computer for hours.

UNIT 1 Recording 6

A: Hello, English Language College. Can I help you?

B: Yes, I'd like to enquire about a course.

A: OK. Have you seen the information on our website?

B: Well, actually the situation is that I booked myself onto a course through your website yesterday, and now I'd like to change.

A: Uh-huh. Could you tell me your name?

B: Maria Hidalgo.

A: And which course was it?

B: A general English course, pre-advanced.

A: Bear with me a minute. Yes, I've got it. What would you like to change to?

B: I've just noticed this morning that you have an advanced course in business English starting next week.

A: That's right.

B: I was wondering if it would be possible for me to change to that group.

A: OK, let me just check. There are still a few places in that group, but you'll have to do a level test.

B: But I've already done an online test for the other course.

A: Mmm, I appreciate that, but for this course you need to do a level test in person.

B: Erm ... Can you tell me why I have to do it in person?

A: It's because it's a specialised course and there's an oral component to the level test.

B: I see. Would there be any chance of doing the level test on the phone?

A: Hold on, let me check ... sorry to keep you. No, I'm afraid it has to be in person.

B: I see. Do you mind me asking what it involves?

A: There's a written task that you have to do under timed conditions, and preparation materials for the oral interview.

B: I see. Sorry to be difficult, it's just that I'm really busy this week and can't make it up to the school for the level test.

A: That's going to be a bit of a problem. I'm not sure what we can do about that.

B: I'd really appreciate your help.

A: Hmm ... You couldn't come in on Thursday evening, could you?

B: No, I'm afraid not. But I tell you what. I could come in on Saturday to do the level test.

A: The problem is, that's leaving it very late and we might have other applicants.

B: I'd be really grateful if you could hold a place for me till Saturday morning.

A: Can you hold on a minute? I'll just see ... OK, we can do that. We'll provisionally transfer the course fee over as a deposit.

B: That's great. Oh, I've got one more question, if I'm not keeping you.

A: No, go ahead.

B: If I don't get into this group, do I lose my course fee?

A: I'm afraid we can't refund the deposit, but you could transfer it to another course.

B: Oh, that's a relief. Would you mind putting that in an email for me?

A: Certainly.

B: Thanks. Could you tell me when the school opens?

A: We're open from nine on Saturday. I won't be here myself, but I'll tell my colleague to expect you.

B: Thank you very much for your help.

A: You're welcome. Thank you for calling.

UNIT 1 Recording 8

I'm not the kind of person who likes to be a daredevil or do anything too exciting. But the most incredible thing I think I've ever done was when I went skydiving. So we went up in a tiny plane. I mean it's so small so it was quite scary. And the build-up was just epic.

I was attached to another guy, an expert, by a harness. And I was sitting in front of him in this sort of, it was like a, a tiny tube little plane. And we went higher and higher and higher. And um, the suspense was building up. And then suddenly they just open this door and you're flying through the sky, and you can just see for miles. And it's freezing cold and the thing I'll remember most is the cold air hitting my teeth, cos it was just absolutely freezing. And er, we sort of scuttled out to the edge and our legs were dangling through the door of the plane. And erm, he just said, I remember him shouting, he just said 'Smile!' Cos there was a camera guy as well, so you can film it. And we just, we sort fell forward and we were just spinning, until he sort of levels you out. It was like I was completely weightless. And it didn't feel like you were falling at all, you were just sort of hovering. And it was still freezing cold on my teeth as well like that. And then the parachute, I remember lifting out. And it just sort of pulled me all up – I was like oh! Ugh!, like that. And we started spinning round, you know he was doing all these kind of tricks and stuff. And that's when I started feeling sick, cos it was spinning so fast. But it was just so much fun, it was hilarious, I was laughing, you know even though I felt sick it was just the experience of it all and the adrenaline rush. It was one of the best experiences I've ever had in my life. And it's an activity I'd like to recommend to all my friends because I know they'd absolutely love it, it's hilarious.

UNIT 2 Recording 5

A: Have you read this article?

B: Which one?

A: This is really shocking. This, look, look at this about surveillance techniques, on page three.

B: Oh yeah, yeah I did have a look.

A: There's gonna be absolutely no privacy for anyone.

B: What you mean like C, the CCTV camera bit?

A: Yeah, yeah, yeah, exactly that.

B: Well I'm glad they're there actually.

A: Why?

B: Well, not long ago a friend of mine he was um he was robbed at a bus stop, and, um they got the guy because of um CCTV, they captured his image and um all the people who did it were arrested.

A: OK ...

B: So I think it's, I think it's a good thing in the end.

A: Well it's good if it's used for that, but don't you feel nervous about the fact that whatever you do, wherever you go, whatever you're doing, someone is watching you and recording what you're doing.

B: But I haven't got anything to hide so it's not really a problem.

A: Anyway, that's not the point though is it, it's an invasion of privacy.

B: Look, I think statistically more crimes are solved because of CCTV than not.

A: Right, what about that, that look – this one on page two – CCTV facial recognition did you see that bit there at the bottom?

B: Yeah, I didn't really get that bit.

A: Right, so basically, just imagine you're walking down the road and a camera, a CCTV camera takes your picture, yeah. And then a computer programme can then find your name, all your personal information, based on recognising your face. So where you shop, where you live, what you, what you like, what you buy, who your friends are. And there's nothing you can do about it.

B: That can only be a good thing, cos it's gonna catch criminals, isn't it? And if you've got nothing to worry about then you know it's never really gonna be an issue for you.

A: If it's for that, yeah I get your point. But ...

B: If you haven't done anything wrong.

A: No, no, absolutely, but ...

B: The thing that really bothers me though is um, is the way that marketing, marketing companies can target you um because of microchips in, in food packaging and stuff, so people get an idea of, of your shopping habits. I don't want to be sent adverts from companies that I don't know.

A: But we're being sent stuff all the time anyway, from companies, that we don't know. I wouldn't mind being sent adverts from, you know uh companies that I don't know if it's something that I want to buy.

B: Yeah. It's a little confusing really the way I, I feel about the whole thing, because you know on the one hand I'm, I'm, I'm pro uh using the technology to you know catch criminals or whatever. I mean serious criminals. But then on the other hand I occasionally er drive, a little bit over the, the speed limit.

A: Right OK.

B: Occasionally. And you know I, I've been er given quite a few fines over the years because my number plate gets recognised and er I er, you know I think more money should be spent elsewhere to be honest.

A: I take your point, but I do actually think, although I'm really anti the amount of kind of you know filming and, and information they have – when it comes to speeding, I do actually think that's quite sensible that they, that they can clock what people are doing.

UNIT 2 Recording 7

Conversation 1

A: Have you seen this? There's a new law about computer games. They want to limit the kind of violent things that can happen in the games, so kids don't see so much.

B: Really? Well, that makes sense. I do think that the violence in those games can make kids more aggressive.

A: Well, according to one article I read, kids are less aggressive if they play these games.

B: How could that be true?

A: Apparently the games give them a chance to use up some of their energy. So they're calmer in real life.

B: That's hard to believe. In my experience, playing those games makes kids more aggressive. So I'm in favour of some kind of control.

A: Hmm. I don't know ... I agree to a certain extent but I think kids can separate real life from computer games. I mean, I don't like computer games and I hate violence, but actually I think it's more of a problem to put these limits on.

B: I think we'll have to agree to disagree.

A: I suppose so.

Conversation 2

A: Do you ever download music for free?

B: You mean illegally? No, I'm probably one of the few people that doesn't do it. I've always paid for downloads.

A: Why? I mean nobody I know pays.

B: Exactly! And it's just theft, isn't it? I mean, ...

A: Oh, I totally disagree.

B: I mean, artists have copyright on their songs, so you're stealing from them. It's as simple as that.

A: But as far as I know musicians these days get very little money from CD sales or downloads anyway. So they don't lose out. I mean, they want people to hear their music.

B: Hmm. I'm not so sure about that. If people share the music without paying, how can musicians make any money?

A: Well, the famous ones, they don't need more money and for newer groups, file-sharing is the way they get known so they don't have to spend a fortune, you know, on things like record companies and managers and ...

B: Yeah, but ...

A: ... anyway, nowadays singers and groups make most of their money from concerts.

B: Hmm. I'm still not convinced. Aren't you worried about being found out? For instance, what about that man in the USA? Did you hear about that? Apparently, he got fined about one and a half million dollars for downloading and sharing films.

A: One and a half million dollars? Ouch!

B: Yeah, so maybe you'd better think again.

A: Hmm. Good point.

Conversation 3

A: Do you think you would ever have cosmetic surgery?

B: Me? No, I don't think so. I'm really against it actually. I think it's ...

A: Really, why?

B: Well, basically I think it can be quite dangerous – some of the implants you can have, um –

A: Yeah, I see what you mean.

B: Like, like Mike's girlfriend – she actually had some Botox injections in her forehead.

A: Did she?

B: Yeah, and she couldn't, you know, she couldn't –

A: Couldn't move her face?

B: Yeah, she couldn't smile or frown – her face was just frozen solid.

A: Fair enough, but if someone's very depressed because of the way they look, maybe then they should have some kind of surgery, you know, to help their self-esteem.

B: I think there are other ways to help.

A: And what about if they have a serious health problem? Such as maybe they're extremely overweight.

B: For health reasons maybe, yes, I mean, I see your point, but I still don't like the sound of it. Personally, I think it's too much of a risk. I wouldn't do it myself.

A: I might, if it was to do with my health.

UNIT 2 Recording 9

D = Denise J = James

D: Our presentation is about the pros and cons of traditional roles in a family. I'll talk about the pros, and James will talk about the cons. Then you can decide.

J: First, to make it clear what we mean by traditional roles, we're thinking of the man as breadwinner, as the one who earns the money to support the family, while the woman stays at home and takes care of the children. At home, generally speaking the woman does the housework – the cooking, cleaning, etc. – while the man might do home repairs and take care of the car. Denise?

D: So, on the positive side, the roles are very clearly defined; both the man and woman know who does what, so there's less confusion and fewer conflicts about that. If there are children, there's less pressure on family life, in that if the woman doesn't work, she has time to manage things such as birthdays, paying bills, taking children to and from the various activities that children do. Also, there's more contact between the mother and children, and that's bound to be good for the health of the whole family. And in reality, a lot of men are better at doing heavier or more mechanical work, such as car repairs. And let's face it, many women do notice more than men things like how clean or tidy a room is, so they're the best person to take care of this. Over to you, James.

J: Thanks, Denise. So, on the negative side, if the man is always the one who works, there can be too little contact between father and child, and that can't be good for the family. Also, in some couples the woman will be good at tasks traditionally done by the man, and vice-versa. For instance, if the man is a better cook than the woman, or is happier staying at home with the children, while the woman is better at fixing the car and mowing the lawn, then it would be silly for the one who is less good at the task to be the one to do it. Finally, and perhaps most importantly, a lot of women will of course want to work and develop a career, both for their own satisfaction and independence, and also to be a role model for their children.

D: Those are just some of the pros and cons. Over to you now to decide which are stronger, the pros or the cons.

UNIT 3 Recording 2

I = Interviewer L = Larry Smith

I: In the 1920s, Ernest Hemingway bet ten dollars that he could write a complete story in just six words. He wrote, 'For sale: baby shoes, never worn.' He won the bet. An American online magazine has now used that to inspire its readers to write their life story in six words and they've been overwhelmed by the thousands who took up the challenge. They've published the best in a book which they've given the title of one of the submissions: Not Quite What I Was Planning. I asked the editor, Larry Smith, what made him think of the idea.

L: So, we thought, 'Let's ask our readers their six-word life story, a memoir' and see what happened. We really didn't know what would happen.

I: And what did happen?

L: It was incredible. In a couple of months we got 15,000 entries and I was just blown away. Funny, poignant – I really believe that everyone has a story and I was just so inspired by how serious and intense folks took the six-word memoir challenge.

I: OK, but before we look at the examples. It's one thing ... because the Hemingway is a story but it's not a story of a life. That seems to be a bit of a challenge to fit that in six words.

L: Well, it's interesting because some folks clearly tried to tell a whole story of a life in six words, and you can tell, and other times they're telling a moment in their life, right at this moment, something that they're feeling right now. Or perhaps something that's been a thread throughout their lives.

I: Give us some examples.

L: 'Wasn't born a redhead. Fixed that.' This woman took life under control. Whether she just always felt that her soul was a redheaded soul or simply at some point in life she was going to make a switch. She could have quit her job. She changed her hair colour.

I: But a lot of them are quite sad or there's sort of sense of regret or disappointment in a lot of them.

L: I didn't expect that. I thought people would come back with a lot of funny things, some playful things, plays on words ... but those are really interesting reality. People really told us, 'It's tough out there.' 'Found true love. Married someone else.' 'Never should have bought that ring.'

C = Carl A = Amy B = Beth

C: So Amy, what time's your flight?

A: Oh, it's at one.

C: Right.

A: It's really long as well, about twelve hours.

C: Oh.

A: Listen I'm gonna need something to read I reckon, I need a good book. Have you got any ideas?

B: Yeah, actually yeah, you know The Hunger Games, have you ever read that?

A: No, I don't think so.

B: Yeah, no it's really good, yeah, it sort of describes like this society in the future, you know about the government taking over and making these kids do a TV show, where they have to basically kill each other.

A: Ooh.

B: Yeah.

A: That sounds a bit violent for me.

B: Yeah it, yeah it is but it raises all sorts of you know really interesting questions about society. And the power of TV. Erm, I thought it was really great. I mean I'm a big fan of sci-fi novels anyway. But what I really liked about it was the main character, the girl.

A: Is that the one that's um played by Jennifer Lawrence in the film?

B: Yes, yeah, yeah, yeah.

A: Right, right.

B: And yeah I really like that character cos she's, you know, she's very brave and she's a survivor and she sort of stands for what she believes in and yeah I love her.

A: Yeah, no, it does sound quite good, but I don't really like sci-fi that much to be honest so, I don't think that's ...

C: OK, what about ...?

A: What else?

C: Can I suggest something else?

A: Yeah, yeah.

C: What about The Kite Runner, have you read that?

A: No, I haven't actually.

C: Oh, it's wonderful.

A: All right.

C: It's just, it's a really moving story about two boys in Afghanistan and ...

A: Oh, yes, yes, yes and doesn't one of them save someone's life or something?

C: Yes, I mean it goes through the years and it's so wonderful it really, I, I loved it. And the thing I love about it is the way it builds the whole story, you know and, and you get so involved with these characters that you, you just have to know what's gonna happen next.

B: Actually, speaking of getting involved in characters, I really love Life of Pi, have you ever read that?

A: I've heard of it, but isn't that a bit weird, it's a bit of weird one isn't it about a ...

B: Oh no, I really enjoyed it.

A: Boy and a tiger in a boat or something, but ...

B: Yeah it's, it's very sort of, I think it has a deep and meaningful story behind it and I really like getting to know him and the fact that he loves these, you know this tiger and it is very fantasy.

A: It's not comedy then?

B: No, no.

C: No. I mean I did start it but I just I couldn't get into it I'm afraid.

A: I know, sounds ...

C: I mean I can't stand books that sort of preach at you. And it felt to me that it was doing that, I

A: Yeah.

C: Made me uncomfortable.

B: Yes.

A: Sounds a bit serious to me to be honest for a twelve-hour plane journey.

C: I'm not sure we've given any choices that have many laughs.

B: Yeah.

C: To be honest have we?

B: No.

A: I don't know.

C: But actually there's a lot of warmth in Kite Runner, that's what I would say I mean. It's worth, worth trying you know, to stick with it.

A: Yeah – do you know what I think, no I think I might try The Hunger Games actually.

B: Yes!

A: Cos I think I've seen the trailer of the film and I, yeah it looks quite interesting.

UNIT 3 Recording 7

Fawlty Towers. I absolutely love Fawlty Towers, I've seen this hundreds of times and it's my absolute favourite. It always makes me laugh – in fact, it makes me cry with laughter sometimes ... can't get enough of it. And the main character, Basil Fawlty, played by John Cleese, is absolutely brilliant. It's like a lesson in comic acting; the more bad things that happen to this man the more we laugh.

My favourite scene is the scene with Mrs Richards and Basil Fawlty. And, it's very, very cleverly done. Mrs Richards wears a hearing aid and Basil Fawlty hates Mrs Richards – she's a terrible, grumpy, old, complaining customer who he really doesn't like. So he comes into the room and he mimes at her – so he moves his mouth but he doesn't make any sound – so that Mrs Richards turns up her hearing aid so that she can hear him.

And then he mimes again and he moves his mouth again not making any sound so she can't understand why she can't hear him, so she turns up her hearing aid again. And then once he's sure that her hearing aid is on full volume he shouts at her, 'Mrs Richards!' – of course which deafens her and, it's, it's, it's very, very funny and it's amazing because he gets his own back on her 'cos she's been awful to him, so, he, you know, he kind of wins in the end but, –

Oh it's just brilliant. If you've never seen it you really should see it. There were very few episodes made. I think there were only – only ever one series, maybe eight episodes ... something like that ... I'm not entirely sure about that, but not very many made and, they're – they're really, really fantastic. Every one is absolutely priceless.

P: Hi, Steve. Come and sit down.

S: Thanks. Hi, Penny; hi, George. Good to see you.

G: Hi.

P: Are you all packed now?

S: Yeah, all done. It was all a bit of a rush but I think I'm ready to go. I just hope I haven't forgotten anything.

P: When are you off?

S: The taxi's picking me up at seven tomorrow.

G: Where are you going?

S: France. On holiday, working on a farm there.

G: Work? Not my idea of a holiday!

S: Actually, I don't think it'll be too hard. They said they want me to work in the garden, not in the fields. They've got a big garden, and they need someone to look after it.

P: I didn't know you were interested in gardening.

S: I'm not, really, but apparently there might be some building work on the house. They're not sure yet. That's more my type of thing.

G: It still sounds like hard work. I wouldn't call it a holiday.

S: Well, I only have to work five hours a day and in exchange I get free board and lodging. So it's like a free holiday. Well, almost free.

P: I think it sounds great. Where are you going exactly?

S: It's in the centre of the country. Hold on a minute. I've got a photo on my phone. Yeah, here, look.

G: Ah, nice location!

P: It looks stunning.

S: Yeah, and this ... is the local town.

G: So it's not all work?

S: No. I get lots of time off. I'm hoping to visit a few places at the weekends and I'm going to Paris one weekend.

P: Yeah, I'm thinking of going over. A weekend in Paris sounds good to me.

G: Actually, looking at those photos I'm changing my mind. How did you find out about it?

S: On the internet – there are lots of sites. The one I looked at was ...

S = Staff member H = Husband W = Wife

S: Yes, Sir?

H: Could you tell us what's happening with flight IB3056?

S: Flight IB3056 ...

H: Yes, we've been waiting for over an hour and we've heard nothing. All it says on the screen is 'delayed'.

S: Erm, ... I'm afraid the plane has been delayed coming in from Amsterdam, Sir. Bear with me a minute. I'll just check the latest information on the computer. Erm ...

W: Thank you.

S: The plane is due to arrive at ... er 10.30 ... at the earliest.

H: But that's over three hours' time!

S: I'm sorry, Sir. And it's likely to be later than that.

H: This isn't good enough. We've only got a weekend and ...

S: I'm sorry, Sir. There's nothing I can do.

H: Hi.

W: And is there any way you could get us onto another flight? We're only going for two days and we've really been looking forward to it. It sounds as if we won't get to Seville till the afternoon.

S: I'm sorry, Madam. Our 9 o'clock flight to Seville is full.

W: What about another airline? Maybe we could transfer to another flight?

S: I'm really sorry, but that's not possible. It's not our policy except in an emergency.

H: This is an emergency!

W: Bill! Oh dear. Couldn't the airline at least pay for our breakfast?

S: Well, ... here are two vouchers for free coffee, courtesy of the airline.

W: Oh ... thank you. Come on Bill, let's go and get some breakfast.

H: I can tell you, this is the last time I use your airline.

W: Come on, Bill.

H: This is the worst experience I've ever had ...

C = Chris J = Jan

C: Hi, Jan,

J: Oh, hi, Chris. When did you get back?

C: Last night. The plane got in at nine.

J: Welcome home!

C: Thanks.

J: So, how was it?

C: Brilliant! I had an absolutely amazing time.

J: And how's your Spanish?

C: Muy bien, gracias.

J: Sounds good to me. So tell me all about it.

C: Well, the family were lovely. Really hospitable. They made me feel at home straightaway. And incredibly generous. They even invited me out to a restaurant on my last night.

J: Yeah?

C: And Maria, who did the teaching, was very good, very patient. We spent a lot of time together going for walks along the lake – you know the town is on a big lake ...

J: Yeah, I saw your photos on Facebook – they looked stunning, absolutely breathtaking.

C: ... yeah, and we would chat or just sit around drinking limonada con soda and ...

J: What's that?

C: Erm, that's freshly squeezed lemons and soda water. It's a typical drink there. But one week was really not enough.

J: So are you hoping to go back?

C: I'd love to. Maria's invited me and I might go back next summer but only if I can afford the flight. But I have a plan. I'm going to look for a new job, with more money.

J: Hey, are you free tomorrow for lunch? Why don't we meet up and you can tell me more about it?

C: Yeah that would be great. Where shall we meet?

UNIT 4 Recording 5

Conversation 1

A: It's one of these games that involve lying and people trying to figure out if you're lying or not, but it's different and really funny.

B: I like that kind of thing. Are there teams or something?

A: Yeah, there are two teams with three celebs on each team.

B: Er ... Three what?

A: Celebs. Celebrities.

B: Oh, right.

A: There's a team captain on each team, actually the team captains are well known comedians and they're on every show.

B: So each team has a comedian and two celebrities.

A: Exactly. The first thing they do is to tell a personal story. So a panellist tells a personal story ...

B: Sorry, who tells a story?

A: A panellist. One of the people on one of the teams.

B: Oh, I see.

A: So they tell something about themselves, often something really embarrassing ...

Now it might be true or they might be lying. The key thing is to say something that's so unbelievable that it's hard to imagine it's true.

B: And then they vote?

A: Not right away. What happens next is the other team grills the storyteller ...

B: Uh, they do what?

A: Grill him. Ask a lot of questions to try and find out if the person's lying.

B: Yeah, you can tell if someone's lying by how fast they answer.

A: Well, the panellists are usually very good at it. It's surprising how hard it is to guess.

But for me the best thing is the humour, the joking around. It's really entertaining.

B: I'll bet I could figure out if they're lying.

A: Maybe. Anyway, after they've finished, the team that asked the questions decide if it was a lie or not. If they're right, they get a point.

B: What sort of things do they say?

A: Gosh, all sorts of things. One of my favourites was when a female panellist said she'd once kissed one of the other panellists.

B: And was it true?

A: I'm not going to tell you. It's on TV tonight. We can watch and you can show me how great you are at saying if someone is lying.

B: Oh great ...

Conversation 2

A: Oh, you must have seen it ...

B: No, I've never even heard of it. How does it work?

A: Well, it sounds really stupid, but I'll try to describe it. It's basically a race over an obstacle course.

B: Uh ... Over a what?

A: An obstacle course. There are lots of things that they have to climb over and balance on ...

B: Oh, obstacle, got it.

A: ... and if they fall off, they fall into water or mud.

B: Sounds dangerous.

A: It can be.

B: So what are the ... obstacles like?

A: Well, there are a lot of different ones. There's the Sweeper.

B: Sweeper, like a broom.

A: Yeah. Basically, the way it works is that twelve of the contestants stand on podiums over water ...

B: They stand where?

A: On podiums. These tall columns, or blocks. Like little towers.

B: And is it hard to balance?

A: Well yes, mainly because of the Sweeper. It's a big arm really, and it turns around and around over the podiums. What you have to do is jump over the arm when it gets to you. Then you have to land on the podium without falling down.

B: And if they get knocked down?

A: They fall into the water. Sometimes quite dramatically. That's the thing I like best, those dramatic falls. The last one standing wins the round.

B: Sorry, they win what?

A: The round. That part of the competition.

B: Oh, so there are more obstacles.

A: Oh yeah. It's not just the Sweeper, there are lots of different types of obstacles. Tippy Tables, Teeter Totters, Dock Maze, Crazy Beams, Doughnuts.

B: Wow. Doughnuts. Crazy. And how do you win?

A: The point is to get round the course in the fastest time. The fastest person is the winner.

B: Sounds quite good fun.

A: The studio is amazing. They film it in BA. Imagine, the UK TV crew ...

B: They film it where?

A: In BA. Buenos Aires. Argentina.

B: They fly to Argentina to film this?

A: Yeah, it's a big deal.

B: I'd like to see it.

UNIT 4 Recording 7

A: Excuse me, hello, sorry to bother you, have you got a minute?

B: Ah, yeah, sure.

A: Do you mind if I ask you some questions? I'm just doing a survey on happiness.

B: Right.

A: I'll read out the questions to you and you can just tell me what you think, if that's OK.

B: Yeah, fine.

A: Great. Um, could you look at this list of five things so you've got, ah, number one car, then two is friendship, three good food, four money and five free time. So which two of these would you find it the most difficult to live without?

B: Which two, the most difficult to live without?

A: Yes.

B: Ah, well, I couldn't live without friendship. I'm, I'm a very social animal I need, um, family and friends around me, so it can't be that one. Um – oh, no, sorry, that is, to live without ... yes ...

A: That's one.

B: That is one, so ...

A: Then we just need one more.

B: ... friendship is definitely one of them. Ah ...

A: Yes, number two, OK.

B: Oh, that's difficult. Free time I don't have any anyway, ah, I could lose the car, I think that wouldn't be a problem. Um, do you know what ...

A: How about money?

B: ... sad as it is, it's probably money, because money actually ...

A: Money, no, most people ...

B: ... you know leads to happiness in, in indirect ways I think.

A: OK, so I'm gonna put number two and number four for that one. And also, how happy would you say you are, on a scale of one to five, five being very happy?

B: Today or just generally?

A: I think generally.

B: Oh, generally OK, um, oh, ah, three or four, um – three and a half.

A: Ah.

B: Can I have half?

A: No.

B: Oh, OK. Um, well you've made me laugh, I'll have four.

A: Oh, lovely, I'll put you down for four. And what would you say is missing from your life, so what would make you happier?

B: Ah, probably, ah, working nearer to home?

A: OK.

B: That's, I think you know ... just generally the time that would give me ...

A: Right.

B: ... with family.

A: So maybe it's free time then ...
B: Yeah, yeah.
A: ... more of that. OK that's lovely, thank you ever so much for taking part, really do appreciate it.
B: You're welcome.
A: OK, bye bye.

UNIT 5 Recording 4

I = Interviewer J = Jake

I: Jake, you've been in advertising for what – thirty-five years? How have things changed over that time?
J: Well, there have been huge changes in where and how we advertise, but many of the basic principles of marketing are the same, for example, how consumers choose brands.
I: Can you give me an example?
J: Yes, let's imagine a coffee shop in a town centre somewhere, anywhere, and it sells a thousand cups of coffee a day. Now, if another coffee shop opened next door ...
I: ... the first owner would be furious.
J: Don't be so sure. How many cups of coffee would each shop sell?
I: I don't know. Five hundred?
J: Logical, but no. They'd sell at least a thousand cups each.
I: Incredible. Why's that?
J: Choice makes people want things more. With one coffee shop, the question is, 'Shall I get a coffee or not?' but with two, the question becomes 'Which coffee shall I get?'
I: Fascinating. So what else hasn't changed?
J: Pricing is still important. People still like a bargain. But they also like to treat themselves.
I: What do you mean?
J: Well, supposing you wanted to sell a new brand of chocolate and your competitor's price was €2, what price would you set?
I: Mmm, I'd reduce the price. Maybe 1.80?
J: Why?
I: Because consumers want to save money.
J: True, to a certain extent. But experience shows that if the price is higher people think your product is better.
I: So 2.50 would be better?
J: Indeed.
I: How about advertising a product? It's all video now, isn't it?
J: Well, not completely, but much more. One thing hasn't changed though, which is the way we respond to colour.
I: Oh, you mean like red means danger?
J: Yes, that kind of thing. We have built-in associations for every colour. Red is associated with energy, so it's good for energy drinks, cars, sports equipment and things like that. Green suggests safety, so it's often used for medical products. Apparently, yellow and orange stimulate the appetite, so they're used for food ads; blue on the other hand suppresses the appetite, it's linked more to intellect and precision, so it's used to promote high-tech products.

I: And this ... information is used in video adverts as well?
J: Sure. If a video advert goes viral, it'll get millions of views. And compared with TV, it's basically free. Your brand name will travel around the world provided the video goes viral.
I: And how can you ensure that?
J: You can't, but there are certain things that can help.
I: Such as?
J: Well about twenty-five percent of viewers will click off the video in the first ten seconds. So you need to grab the viewer in the first five seconds.
I: Uh huh.
J: And you need to make the video memorable. I'll show you what I mean. I'll describe a video. You tell me the product.
I: OK.
J: Babies on roller skates dancing to hip-hop music.
I: Mineral water ...
J: A gorilla playing drums to a famous pop song.
I: Chocolate. OK. I see your point. They were all quite bizarre.
J: Exactly, and memorable. People will click off unless the video is memorable. And millions of people shared them. And that didn't cost the advertiser anything. It's a great way to enter the market if you're a small business.
I: Yeah, I see. Any other guidelines?
J: Well, make it short. Fifteen to sixty seconds is good.
I: OK.
J: And it matters which day you post it. If you release the video at the weekend, you're dead.
I: But surely that's when people are free?
J: No, the best time is Monday and Tuesday, between eleven and one. Back at work, at their desks, bored.
I: Right. And what about the content?
J: Tell a story. Engage the viewer. For example ...

UNIT 5 Recording 6

M1 = Man 1 M2 = Man 2 W1 = Woman 1
 W2 = Woman 2

W1: OK people, so we're going to look for ways to get people walking more today and Ben's going to take notes.
M1: Right OK, I'm just gonna get a pen.
W1: Thank you. At this stage I think let's just get all our ideas down and we can discuss them later.
W2: Right, what I think, some sort of branding, we need a sponsor. Like, I don't know, a shoe company, for example.
W1: OK. Next idea.
M1: Well, I think walking is the easiest exercise anyone can take, and ...
W1: Benefits of it?
M1: Yeah, the benefits of, of exercise you know and losing weight ... keeping your heart healthy.

M2: And what about sort of the other side of that, you know, scare people into thinking about what happens if you, if you sit down too much, if you don't, if you're not walking.
W1: Good.
M2: You know health problems and ...
M1: Good idea.
M2: I tell you what, what about ...
M1: Health.
M2: Could you, you know, I don't know, close public transport for a day, so everyone has to walk.
W2: That's good.
M1: So that's ...
W2: That's really good.
M1: So what in a town, in the town centre you mean?
M2: Yeah, yeah.
M1: Yeah, that's a good idea.
W2: Hey, we're brainstorming!
M1: OK.
W1: Maybe a video showing just people's feet, so you've got walking and talking at the same time.
M1: Yeah – we could maybe, I know, incentivise people by raising money for charity.
All: Yes.
M1: Like distance covered, how many steps or ...
W1: Have one more, one more.
M2: Well maybe get some celebrities involved.
W1: That's a great idea as well. Did you get all of that Ben?
M1: Yeah, so we've got, we've got um sponsorship, health in ...
W1: Yes.
M1: ... tied with that we've got scaring people, you know.
W1: Yes.
M1: We've got closing, um, public transport in the town.
W1: Yeah.
M2: Yeah.
M1: We've got a video.
W1: Online, the viral.
M1: Yeah the viral, yeah. And a charity campaign.
W1: Uh-huh.
M2: We're looking with ...
M1: And, and oh yes celebrity, I didn't write that down.
W1: Celebrity, yeah OK brilliant, time's up and we've got some really great ideas, well done.

UNIT 5 Recording 7

M1 = Man 1 M2 = Man 2 W1 = Woman 1
 W2 = Woman 2

W1: OK, we're gonna look at the list and we've got all the ideas but we need to cut it down now. So I'm gonna put them up on the screen. And we'll start with the shoe company one, the sponsor, how do you feel about this idea?
M2: Well actually that could be a problem. I mean we want the campaign to be as wide as possible, don't we? So we don't want to link it just with one company, do we?

M1: Yeah, no that's a good point.

W2: That's true actually.

M1: Yeah, I mean my idea for example about pursuing the health angle.

M2: Yeah.

M1: I um. I mean we could get, we could get a TV doctor perhaps to make a programme about benefits of walking.

M2: Yeah, yeah.

W1: Nice.

M2: To be honest it wouldn't be my first choice, I have to say, I mean I, I like it.

W1: If you had the scientific angle to it, it could work.

W2: Yeah, it's a bit obvious maybe. D'you know what I mean it's kind of ...

W1: What, been done?

W2: I think it has actually. I think it's a bit, a bit boring, I think the science thing's a bit boring. And actually that's quite a lot of money to ...

M1: OK, fair enough.

W2: to stick something on the telly.

W1: Alright, so in that case would you consider the opposite idea of scaring people into it?

M1: Well frankly I don't think that will be effective. You know people have been told about the dangers of lack of exercise for years.

M2: Yeah, it's not a new thing, is it?

W1: All right then. How does the idea of closing public transport strike you?

W2: I don't think that's realistic to be honest with you. I don't, I don't think the train and bus companies would go for that. They'd lose so much money I just, just, I just think ...

M1: To put it bluntly it ...

W2: disaster OK.

M1: ... it wouldn't work.

W1: Because they'd just lose money.

W2: They'd lose too much money.

M2: Actually, I think we're on the wrong track here.

W2: Yeah?

M2: I mean I think it would be great if we could get celebrities, to, sort of, promote walking generally, I think.

M1: That's not a bad idea at all. I think we should go for the feet idea.

W1: With the video of the feet walking.

M1: That's right, yeah.

M2: I mean I have to say at the moment I'm torn between the video and the celebrity. You know I think they're the best two ideas.

W1: Alright, so with that in mind suppose we try combining the two ideas, our favourite ones. So we have the feet video ...

W1: But we have it so it's a celebrity.

M2: Famous feet!

All: Yeah, yeah.

M1: Famous feet! That's a good title for it as well.

W1: Oh and you could ...

M2: Yeah, I like it.

M1: Famous feet.

W1: ... have it as a competition.

M1: Yeah, brilliant!

W1: So to guess whose feet that was, for example.

W2: Yes.

M2: Yeah.

W1: So you have a shot at the feet walking, the person speaking and then you have to guess who it is.

M2: Ah, nice.

M1: Sounds good to me.

W2: Yeah I like that.

W1: OK, let's go with that.

UNIT 5 Recording 11

W = Woman M = Man

W: We would like to introduce to you an idea that will change the way you eat: Yummy Utensils. As you can guess, we're talking about knives, forks and spoons that you can eat.

M: You'll never have to throw plastic knives, forks and spoons in the rubbish again. At the end of your lunch, after you finish eating, you simply eat your utensils, like this.

W: Yummy Utensils are made of a special vegetable and flour mixture, are strong enough to cut meat and pierce salad, but easy to digest after you chew them.

M: They're tasty, too – a bit like pretzels. Here, would you like to try one?

W: What makes our idea special is that it's not just practical, and it's not a simple gimmick.

M: No, Yummy Utensils are not just practical and fun, they're also environmentally friendly. Just think of all of the resources that go into making plastic utensils, which are just thrown into the rubbish and become a permanent part of the waste that we litter the planet with. Yummy Utensils are made from natural ingredients, using the same processes as are used to make bread products, and of course create no rubbish at all. Even if you don't eat your Yummy Utensils and throw them in the rubbish, they dissolve within days. So there's no damage to the environment.

W: We envisage this product being sold in supermarkets, in the same section where you buy picnic supplies. But don't be surprised if they're sold in the snack section – they taste better than some snack foods. And they're certainly better for you.

M: We think that Yummy Utensils will be a hit with families in particular, since they're the biggest consumers of disposable utensils.

W: And kids love having a fork or spoon they can eat. We've done some market testing and it was amazing how much the children enjoyed them.

M: In the future, we are planning to develop a sweetened version which will make Yummy Utensils the perfect dessert.

W: Thank you for your attention and we welcome any questions.

UNIT 6 Recording 3

OK ... so ... Dear the future me, I hope this letter has found its way to you/me. As I write this, I am sixteen in year eleven; and as I read it, I am twenty. Wow! I will have changed so much. I can only guess what I will be like at twenty. I envisage myself at Oxford Uni, sitting ... oh, this is embarrassing ... sitting under a tree by the river in the college grounds. I think I'll be wearing something floaty and a bit indie, but I bet when I get this, it'll be raining.

I know, I'm a romantic. I hope that hasn't changed. My plans for myself in the following years are to find a man, someone good-looking, romantic and intelligent who shares my interests. Either way, I hope I'll have someone. I don't remember this ... and then I think I'll have three children with long, brown hair and green eyes.

Well, I'll stop now even though I want to write everything I can down, but I'm running out of time. I hope I'm happy, and I hope this letter makes me feel good about who I was, or am, as I write this. Keep smiling, and while I can't really say bye, but good luck for the future and keep dreaming. Don't change too much, and be happy with who you are – I like who I am now more than any other time. Love, Laura.

UNIT 6 Recording 4

It all seems really shallow looking back and reading what I thought I'd be doing or hoped I'd be doing. I think my sixteen-year-old self might have been disappointed with where I am, but because I as my twenty-year-old self have sort of grown up and matured, I'm absolutely ecstatic with where I am, and it doesn't have to be this perfect sitting-by-a-lake kind of image.

Unit 6 Recording 6

P = Presenter E = Ed J = Julia D = Dan Z = Zara

P: And up next, it's time for 'Just tell me I'm wrong.' Today's topic: how young is too young or, perhaps more accurately, how old is old enough? We've received hundreds of calls, emails and text messages about the right age for a child to do all sorts of things like have a smartphone. In fact our first caller asks about just that. His name is Ed. Go ahead, Ed. You're on.

E: Hi. My situation is that my eight-year-old kept asking for a smartphone, and eventually we bought her one a few months ago. Then, last week, I got a bill for over £200! I knew something like this would happen.

P: So basically you think she's too young for a phone?

E: Yeah, yeah, that's right.

P: Surely it's up to the parents to set guidelines.

E: So what you're saying is I should give her some rules?

P: Exactly. Right from the beginning. OK, thanks, Ed. Next caller is Julia. What's your question, Julia?

J: My question is about social networking sites. I don't let my daughter use them. She's only ten and I'm worried about online bullying.

P: So in other words, you're worried about kids being horrible to other kids.

J: Yeah. You hear so much about it nowadays.

P: That's a very good point. Online bullying is a serious problem ... but isn't it better to talk it over with her? I'm sure they have lessons at school about how to stay safe online. She has to learn some time.

J: So what you mean is I'm being overprotective?

P: To be honest, yes. And if you try and stop her, she'll only find a way to go onto a social networking site in secret. And if she ends up in a bullying situation and you haven't prepared her, that could be much worse.

J: Oh dear ... I'm sure you're right but it's not easy being a parent nowadays.

P: I agree. Thanks for your question, Julia. Let's go to our next caller. Dan, you're on.

D: Hi, my question's also about technology.

P: It seems like that's everyone's main worry. Anyway, go ahead Dan.

D: Well, my son, Seth, he's twelve and, up till recently he was a normal twelve-year-old, you know, he used to go out with his friends, play football with me, you know ... we had a great relationship.

P: So, Dan, basically I'm guessing he doesn't want to spend so much time with you now and you feel ...

D: Oh no, it's not that. It's just that he spends all his time on the computer now.

P: Surely that's just normal nowadays.

D: It's hard to say. Sometimes at the weekend he spends all day in his bedroom on social networking sites or playing video games. I don't think it's right. I mean for one thing, he never gets any exercise.

P: Don't you think it's just a stage he's going through? I used to spend hours in my bedroom listening to music when I was that age.

D: So what you mean is I should just relax and let him get on with it?

P: Yeah, he'll grow out of it. And you can't force him to go and play football if he doesn't want to.

D: I guess not. Thanks.

P: OK, our next caller is Zara. You're on.

Z: Um, I was wondering how you would deal with a thirteen-year-old wanting to get pierced ears?

P: Thirteen years old? Doesn't she simply want to be like her friends? I imagine a lot of them have pierced ears.

Z: Well ... that's it. I'm not talking about a she.

P: Oh, in other words you're upset because your thirteen-year-old son wants to get his ears pierced.

Z: That's right.

P: Ah ... so it's because he's a boy rather than his age?

Z: I suppose so.

P: Well, does he have friends who've got ...

UNIT 6 Recording 8

W = Woman M = Man

W: I'm going to speak against the statement: 'Employers should give preference to younger applicants when hiring.' The first point I'd like to make is that selecting a person for a job on the basis of their age is unfair. It's as bad as choosing someone because of their gender or race or religion. People should be selected for a job because of their abilities and suitability and not because they are a certain age. For example, if a sixty-year-old person is able, physically and mentally, to do a job, they should be judged on the same basis as a thirty-year-old.

M: I would like to speak in favour of the statement. I would like to start off by saying that I fully support equal opportunities for people applying for a job. However, I would like to pick up on the point made by Sarah when she said 'if a person is able, physically and mentally, to do a job'. I think we need to be realistic here. As people age, this can affect their energy, their ability to react quickly and their memory. In some jobs it may be vital for people to have high levels of energy, for example in a creative industry such as advertising. Or people need to be able to react quickly, for instance if they're a lorry driver, or be able to concentrate for long periods of time if they're an airline pilot. It is simply a fact of life that, as we age, our mental and physical capabilities deteriorate and that, for certain jobs, younger people are better.

UNIT 7 Recording 2

P = Presenter H = Hoaxer

P: Welcome to Insight, where the topic for the day is hoaxes, specifically photo hoaxes. It was extremely difficult to get someone who produces hoax photos, a hoaxer, to agree to appear on the show, and it was only on condition that we promise to keep his identity secret. So, I'd like to welcome my guest to the show.

H: Thank you.

P: For starters, can you explain why you want to remain anonymous?

H: Two reasons really. I suppose, one is mystery. What I mean is a good hoax photo is more powerful if people don't know where it came from. If people knew I'd produced the photo, the effect would be lost.

P: Fair enough. And the other reason?

H: Well, it's a fact that hoaxers often use photographs taken by someone else, and often without permission, and the original photographer could sue us.

P: So basically, you're playing it safe then.

H: Yeah, you could put it that way.

P: OK. Now I asked you before the show if you'd ever earned money for your hoax work, and you said that you often work with the police and detectives. What exactly do you do for the police?

H: Well, when a politician, for example, appears in a published photograph in any ... embarrassing situation, say accepting money ... sometimes the police ask me to look at it. Then, if I decide if the photograph is a hoax, they see if they can find out who did it.

P: Right. OK, well, let's look at some photographs that we found on the internet – some hoaxes; some not. Talk us through the photographs if you would.

H: So, this photo of a bike in a tree looks like a hoax simply because it's such an unusual image. Also, it looks a bit like a composite photo ...

P: What's a composite photo?

H: When you combine two or more photos, that's a composite. In this case, it would be very easy to put a picture of the two halves of the bike over a photo of a tree. In fact, this would be a very easy hoax photo to put together.

P: So what you're saying is, it isn't real.

H: No, it actually is real. I wasn't sure myself, but I found out it was near Seattle, Washington. So I asked a friend who lives there, and he told me he'd seen it with his own eyes a number of years before. Apparently, there are many different legends about how it got there.

P: Well, I thought that one was definitely a hoax. Let's look at the next one. This one could be real. A man hanging on the landing gear of a jet plane is such an extraordinary sight, maybe that's why it looks a bit fake.

H: Well, even if you'd never seen such a thing, common sense would tell you that a man couldn't survive even the landing. The wind would pull him off.

P: Then it IS a hoax photo.

H: Yes, a classic composite photo. Not badly put together, though.

P: Remarkable. Now this next one could be real, sharks swimming through a flooded suburb. I remember seeing this on the internet. After one of those big hurricanes.

H: Ha, you've probably seen lots of photos like this, and maybe this exact one.

P: Why? Why's it funny?

H: I'm ninety-nine percent sure this is a hoax simply because it's a cliché – yet another photo of sharks swimming where they shouldn't be! Look on the internet and you'll find plenty of hoax photos of sharks.

P: And that's it? Is there a technical reason why you know it's a hoax?

H: Well, yes. The water next to the fins isn't right. The surface of the water would break differently if there really were sharks there. Look closely.

P: I see. You know, it seems like a lot of work. Why do people do it? It can't be for the money.

H: I dunno. I can only speak for myself and to be honest I'm thrilled when people believe one of my photos.

P: Because they want to believe it?

H: Well, yes. Maybe we all like to believe something really unusual could be true.

UNIT 7 Recording 4

Conversation 1

- A: Wow!
B: What's that?
A: It's this story. Listen to this. 'A woman used a wooden soup ladle to save her husband from attack by a tiger'.
B: What? A ladle?
A: Well, her husband was being attacked by a tiger.
B: Where was this?
A: In Malaysia. Apparently, her husband had just gone into the forest. She saw the tiger attack him and grabbed the first thing she could find, which was a wooden soup ladle. And she just charged at the animal yelling at the top of her voice and bashing its head.
B: And it didn't attack her?
A: No. The amazing thing is that the tiger ran off.
B: Wow, there's no way I'd do that!
A: Not even for me?
B: Not even for you! You're the one who's always telling me to stop.
A: Stop what?
B: Stop helping people so much.
A: I didn't mean to stop helping me!

Conversation 2

- A: Hey, Mike. Did you buy a lottery ticket?
B: No, why?
A: Well, you want to be careful. It says here that some store clerks are taking the winnings. You know when customers take in a winning ticket and they have to check it in the store ...
B: Yeah ...
A: Well, these guys have been telling customers that they didn't win and then they take the winning tickets for themselves.
B: That's so wrong! Suppose it was, like, a big amount?
A: One of the tickets was for $1,000 and the ...
B: That's totally outrageous!
A: Yeah. Exactly.
B: So, how did they find it out?
A: The police did some undercover investigations at convenience stores. And ... yeah, one of them was for $1,000 and the ...
B: Hey, maybe we won something ...
A: In your dreams. You don't buy lottery tickets anyway.
B: That's true.
A: But it's weird that the customers didn't notice, isn't it? That's more surprising than the actual theft.
B: Yeah. I do think they should do something about it.
A: Who?
B: The lottery companies.
A: They are doing something about it. They're going to install machines so you can check your own numbers.
B: That is a good idea.

Conversation 3

- A: That's extraordinary!
B: What is?
A: This story about the baby in China.
B: What happened?
A: It's about a baby and apparently it climbed out onto a window ledge on the second floor. Oh there's a video ... And, oh look, you can see these people underneath just holding out their arms because they know it's going to fall. And there are some people putting cardboard down to try and break the fall. Wow!
B: Let me see. Wow! Look at that man! How on earth did he catch it?
A: 'Just human instinct,' that's what one man said.
B: What a catch! That's such an amazing thing!
A: It's lucky the men noticed the baby.
B: Yeah, I suppose they saw some movement.
A: Or maybe they heard something.
B: What's that? The woman's bringing something.
A: It's hard to say but it looks like a cushion.
B: Yeah, it could be a sofa cushion.
A: I guess they thought the baby might fall on it.
B: That must be the luckiest baby alive.
A: Absolutely incredible. Let me see again.

UNIT 7 Recording 8

M = Man W = Woman

- M: Did you hear this story in the news about this guy that swapped a paper clip for a house?
W: No.
M: It sounds a bit out there but apparently what happened was he started ... he was at his desk looking for a job or phoning up about jobs ...
W: Yeah.
M: ... and, um, he saw a paper clip on his desk, and he thought, I wonder what I can do with this paper clip – whether I can swap it for something.
W: Oh.
M: Anyway, so he got onto the internet and he made this website – I think it's called the-red-paper-clip dot com.
W: Right.
M: And he put this, this on the internet, photographs it, puts it on, and sees if anyone wants to swap something with him.
W: And did, did anything happen?
M: Yeah, so first of all, I don't remember all the details but as I recall two Vancouver women, um, took up the first challenge and they swapped the paper clip with, I think it was a pen shaped like a fish they had found ...
W: Random.
M: Yeah – they had found on a camping trip, yeah random. But he meets up with all these people he doesn't just send the things. And so then from that, I believe, this guy in Seattle wanted the pen and swapped

- it for a doorknob. And the door knob was swapped for something to do with camping, ...
W: Oh, so he kept trading up each time.
M: Yeah, he kept trading, trading up so, and then that was swapped for a beer keg I think. Apparently what happened was all these people were ... the same sort of thought patterns as him and they wanted to sort of meet up and it was about a social event as well.
W: Ah.
M: Anyway, the next thing he got was a snow globe and, according to the report, it said a film director wanted it and said he'd swap it for a part in his film. And then this town decided they had this house in this town, and that they would swap the house for a part in this film.
W: No! So he went all the way from the red paper clip to getting a house.
M: ... a house. And my impression was that he, he was just crazy at the beginning but he, he ended up having this – I'm not sure how good the house was but, well, yeah.
W: Well, better than a paper clip.
M: I know basically that's what happened.
W: Wow!

UNIT 8 Recording 2

P = Presenter D = Dominic H = Heather

- P: OK, Dominic and Heather we're going to play a game
D: Oh.
H: Ahem.
P: Its, it's an experiment. Um what I'm gonna do is – hang on I'm just gonna get it out of my pocket. I'm going to give you, Dominic, £10.
D: OK, can I keep it?
P: OK – for now. And you have to decide how much you're going to offer Heather.
D: OK.
P: And if Heather accepts then you divide the money as agreed. You get some and she gets some.
D: Right.
P: But, if Heather rejects your offer and she doesn't like the way you've split the £10 ...
D: Mmm.
P: ... then I get the £10 back and neither of you get anything.
H: Um.
D: Ah, OK.
H: OK.
P: Could you understand?
D: Yeah, I think so.
H: Yeah.
P: Are you sure?
H: Yeah.
D: Yeah – so I basically have to choose how much money I'm going to offer Heather.
P: Yeah.
H: And then ...
D: And if she's happy with it ...
H: I decide if I want it or not.
P: That's right, OK?
H: OK?

D: So ...
P: Right there you go.
D: Thank you, that's for me. That's a lot of money, I would quite like all of it. Uh, do I just say it now, out loud?
P: Yeah.
D: OK, uh I'm going to offer you £5.
P: Um.
H: Go on then, I'll accept that.
D: Yeah.
H: Yeah, I will yeah.
D: Great so we get a five, fiver each.
P: You do indeed and I, and I lose £10.
D: Yeah, that was worth it.
P: OK, so I mean that's really interesting. Why, why Dominic did you decide on that split?
D: Um, I guess, if I offered any less I didn't think you'd take it.
H: No.
D: So I thought this way.
P: But why, why, why would you?
D: Um, because it's, it's not fair, you know cos this isn't any more my money than it is hers really, just cos it's a game, you've given it to me.
P: Interesting.
D: Um it, it was.
P: And why, why did you accept?
H: Um, because I felt that it was equal you know an, an equal split, um, I thought it was very kind and yeah generous to give me half.
D: Uh.
P: OK and um, OK then – here's an interesting question. Heather, in your mind what would have ...
H: Um ...
P: been the lowest amount?
D: Ahem.
H: It act-
P: that you would have accepted?
H: It actually would have been £5 because I think any lower than that and I'd have felt sort of you know.
D: Hard done by.
P: Very interesting.
H: Hard done by, yeah, is the word, yeah.
P: Thanks guys, cheers.

UNIT 8 Recording 3

P = Presenter D = Dominic H = Heather

P: OK guys, uh we're gonna play another game now.
D: Um.
P: It's called the Dictator game. And, uh, I think I'm gonna be very out of pocket by the end of the day.
D: More money?
P: Yeah. Another £10 note.
H: Oh, a ten.
P: And, I'm gonna give it to you again.
D: Thank you.
P: But this time – instead of making an offer which you can, you Heather can accept or reject ...
H: OK.
P: You have to accept it.

D: Ah.
P: So Dominic ...
D: OK.
H: OK.
D: I have the power.
P: It's your decision. You have the power. It's your decision.
D: Um, OK so I just say it out loud?
P: Yeah.
D: Uh, the offer I'm going to give you this time is £1 and that means £9 will be for me.
P: OK.
H: Well then I accept that cos I have no choice.
D: You have no choice.
P: You have no choice. But, but the question here is how do you feel, how do you feel about that?
H: Yeah I feel a bit hard done by, to be honest. I feel a bit cheated really, um.
P: His fairness, from last time has all disappeared.
H: Yeah, mm.
D: Um I guess I gave you a pound to still show that I'm, you know, not heartless.
H: Ahem.
D: Uh, you know so, you know I want to keep all of it, but um I guess with the offer of being able to have more, without the choice.
H: Um.
D: Um, it sort of, it was easier for me, to say, I won't feel so guilty, I don't feel.
H: Yeah tempting, isn't it?
D: Feel a bit guilty now, but no I just thought – is, there's no option for her so I might as well keep more of it.

J = Jim L = Liz

J: Here's your coffee.
L: Thanks, Jim. Oh, I needed that.
J: No problem. Hey, Liz, there's something I've been meaning to talk to you about.
L: Oh yeah?
J: It's just that ... well ... you know you borrowed some money from me last week?
L: Oh, right. It was ten euros, wasn't it? I don't actually have that on me at the moment.
J: It's not that, it's ... I hope you don't take this the wrong way, but, um ...
L: Right.
J: ... it's just that this isn't the first time I've lent you money and er, well you haven't paid it back. I mean, I know it's not a lot, just small amounts each time but it kind of adds up quite quickly ... I dunno. Do you know what I mean?
L: Yeah. Sorry. I didn't realise. I know I'm terrible with money. I just forget. Look, I promise I'll give it back, but could you wait a week? Until I get paid.
J: Well, actually, you've said that once before. I don't want you to get the wrong idea, but ... it, you know, never happened. And it makes things slightly awkward. It makes me feel just a bit annoyed. Do you see where I'm coming from?

L: Oh. Yeah. I suppose so.
J: Look, I've got a suggestion. I'd feel better if we could work out how much is owed and then you could pay me back a little each week, you know, however much you can afford. How does that sound?
L: Yeah, yeah. That sounds reasonable.
J: OK, great so ...

UNIT 8 Recording 8

OK, here are some things that I think would be useful if you're visiting the States, especially if you're coming here to do business.
 So first of all, with names. When you first meet someone, it's considered good manners to use a title along with their surname, you know like Mr Smith or Ms Jones, and so on. But the funny thing is that in fact people will in most cases want to use first names, you know be on a first-name basis, like 'Hey call me "Bob"' and all that. That might not be comfortable for you but in fact if you stick to a more formal Mr Smith sort of thing, it's not going to be comfortable for them. I also think that once they know your name you'll find people use it a lot, so they'll say it periodically in a conversation. If you're not used to it, it can seem strange at first.
 Now with meeting people for the first time ... It's pretty normal for people to shake hands, or at least guys do. Women usually do, certainly in business, but not always. On the whole, Americans tend to avoid greetings that involve hugging and other close physical contact, except with family members and friends. Having said that, don't be surprised if someone gives you a hug the first time you meet them, either as a hello or a goodbye. You sort of have to keep your eyes open and try to anticipate what they'll do.
 When people sit down, like in a meeting, people like to get comfortable, so people cross their legs with one ankle on the other knee. I know this is rude in some countries but it's normal here. That reminds me, if you're chatting with someone in an office, standing up, they might sit on a desk, which I know is a big no-no in places like Japan. Other gestures? Well, if an American wants to show agreement, they'll sometimes give the thumbs up sign or they'll make a circle out of their thumb and index finger. Don't be offended if in your culture this isn't polite. It just means 'A OK' in the States.
 Last of all, timing: punctuality is very important for business occasions and it's unacceptable to be late, and if you are late it will be appreciated if you let your contact know if you are going to be late. It's the same for social occasions, you need to arrive on time.
 Of course, having said all this, it's important to remember that the United States is huge and there's a lot of variety in what's acceptable in different places. Anyway, I hope this advice helps.

Conversation 1

L = Lise J = Jeff

L: So what happened was, I was sitting in a café and this young couple – they looked like tourists – asked me to take a photo of them. And I took their photo, and they thanked me and left and then I looked at my seat and realised my handbag had gone, with my mobile, wallet, credit card, keys, everything.

J: No! What did you do?

L: Well, there was a guy on the next table and he saw I was really upset and I explained about the bag and he asked me which bank I was with and he said he worked for that bank and gave me a phone number and let me use his mobile to phone them and stop my credit card.

J: And you believed him?

L: Yeah, I mean I was in a real panic. I was really grateful for his help. Anyway, I phoned the number and talked to a woman from 'the bank' and gave her my name and address and my account number.

J: She sounded genuine?

L: Yeah, completely. I could hear the sounds of the call centre behind her. And she asked me to key in my PIN on the phone and she said they'd stop my card.

J: Wow. And you did? You punched in your PIN?

L: Yeah, unfortunately.

J: So it was a double scam. They got your bag and your bank account details.

L: I felt so stupid.

J: So who actually took your bag?

L: Well, it can't have been the young couple because I was looking at them all the time I was taking the photo. Their job was just to distract me. So it must have been stolen when I was taking the photo.

J: Was it the guy at the next table, then? The fake banker?

L: I think so. He must have taken my bag when I wasn't looking. Then he could have hidden it in his case or maybe he gave it to another member of the gang.

J: And then he gave you a fake phone number to call the bank.

L: Yeah, and they probably used a recording of a call centre so that it sounded like the real bank.

Conversation 2

D = Dan I = Ingrid

D: I was badly tricked a few years ago when I was working in a jewellery shop.

I: You never told me about that. What happened?

D: Well, this woman came in and was looking at necklaces. She was young, attractive, well dressed, and then a guy came in shortly afterwards and he was just looking around. But then the woman went to pay for a very expensive necklace that she'd picked out, and when she was counting out the money onto the counter, the guy grabbed her, flashed his police ID and said he was arresting her for paying with counterfeit money.

I: Fake money! Wow!

D: So he took the cash and the necklace as evidence, wrote down his contact details, and promised me he'd bring the necklace back by the end of the day. I didn't suspect anything. Then he took the woman away, presumably to book her at the police station.

I: And he didn't come back?

D: No, and stupid me, I didn't even begin to suspect anything until it was closing time, so then I phoned the police and they had no idea what I was talking about. That was it, end of story.

I: How much was the necklace worth?

D: £600. And my boss took it out of my salary. That's why I quit.

I: So the police ID was a fake.

D: Must have been. I just didn't check it.

I: And wait a second, was the woman a real customer?

D: No, the woman must have been working with the guy. She couldn't have been a real customer or she wouldn't have gone with him ...

I: But she might have had fake money.

D: I really don't think so.

I: Talk about an ingenious scam ...

UNIT 9 Recording 5

P = Police officer A = Alain

P: Hello, police. Can I help you?

A: Yes, I'd like to report a crime. I've been robbed.

P: I'm very sorry to hear that, Sir. OK, I'll need to take a statement.

A: A statement?

P: To write down some details, if that's all right.

A: Yes, sure.

P: Could you give me your name please, Sir?

A: Alain Girard.

P: Right. That's Girard with a J?

A: No, G, and it's Alain spelled A-l-a-i-n.

P: Right, Mr Girard. Could you tell me exactly when the incident happened?

A: Just now. About an hour ago.

P: Could you be more precise?

A: Excuse me?

P: Could you give me the exact time?

A: I think at 2.50 or 2.55.

P: That's about 2.50 on the seventh of June. And where did it happen?

A: Park Avenue.

P: Can you pinpoint the exact location?

A: Pinpoint?

P: Tell me exactly where.

A: Oh. It was near the entrance to the park. Just about fifty metres inside.

P: OK. Could you tell me what happened?

A: I was walking out of the park, and a man was running towards me and he hit into me hard –

P: He collided with you?

A: Yes and he said 'sorry' and something else, then before I realised what had happened, he had run on. It was only about thirty seconds later that I realised my wallet had gone and that he must have taken it when he hit me, collided with me.

P: But did it cross your mind that it wasn't just an accident?

A: No, it never occurred to me that he'd done it on purpose.

P: Did you run after him?

A: No, my mind just went blank and I stood there not knowing what to do.

P: But you were OK? Not hurt?

A: No, just very shocked.

P: OK. Could you tell me exactly what your wallet looked like and what was in it?

A: It's brown leather and it has my credit card and about 250 euros and –

P: Hold on a minute, credit card ... about 250 euros, yes?

A: And a photo of my girlfriend.

P: OK. So you saw the man. Can you give me a description?

A: Erm, about twenty, white, quite tall. And he was wearing a sweater, grey colour with a ... you know ... erm, something you put over your head ...

P: A hood? He was wearing a hoodie?

A: Yes, that's the word. So I didn't see his face, not clearly. But he looked as if he was just out jogging, you know, he was wearing some sort of dark trousers, for running or for the gym.

P: Tracksuit bottoms?

A: Yeah. I can't remember anything else, it all happened so quickly.

P: So that's a tall white male, about twenty, wearing a grey hoodie and dark tracksuit bottoms?

A: That's right.

P: And did he have any other distinguishing marks or features?

A: Sorry?

P: Anything special or different from normal? For example, a scar on his face or anything like that?

A: No, he just seemed like a normal guy, out running. Nothing special. Except ...

P: Yes?

A: He reminded me a bit of that actor, Vin Diesel. But younger. Do you know who I mean?

P: Vin Diesel, yeah. I'll put it down. And you said he said something to you.

A: Yeah, but I didn't catch what he said. It was too quick.

P: Right, one last question and then I'll take your contact details. Were there any other people in the vicinity?

A: Vicinity?

P: In the surrounding area – nearby. Any witnesses who saw what had happened?

A: No, there was no one nearby, in the ... vicinity.

P: Right, now I just need to take your contact details, Mr Girard, and I can also give you a phone number to ring if ...

W1: So, we really need to decide then what it is we get rid of and what is absolutely essential to keep on the life raft, I think that's probably the most important thing, isn't it?

M: I'm sure it's easy to get rid of a few things, isn't it?

W2: Like what?

M: Well, I'm not sure about the lighter. I mean, we can't really start a fire on a raft, can we?

W2: No.

W1: I suppose it depends on what the life raft is made out of, doesn't it?

M: Yeah, but it's not exactly top priority to be able to cook a hot meal, you know, when you really just need to survive.

W1: So no lighter?

M and W2: OK.

W1: OK. So what do you think is important?

W2: I'd say that a blanket is essential.

W1: Interesting choice. What for?

W2: Well, you can use it for a lot of different things. To keep you warm obviously, but you can use a blanket as a towel if you get wet –

W1: If you fall in the water.

W2: ... for example. And a blanket can protect you from the sun.

M: That hadn't occurred to me. OK, I'm convinced. So what else?

W1: Well I can't see the point of taking the hand mirror can you?

M: Actually, I can. Because if ...

UNIT 10 Recording 1

A: So come on then, favourite movie of all time.

B: Um, I would have to say, cos I love action films, uh, that it would be Speed – have you ever seen that?

A: Speed?

B: Yeah it's with Keanu Reeves and Sandra Bullock.

A: Oh, I like her.

B: She's very good isn't she? Um, so yeah, I just love any kind of action film. And I remember watching it when I was really young and watching it with my dad. And it's the sort of, like, a family-friendly action film, because it's not too violent, it's not too gory but it's just really tense. And I remember just like watching it, we had a cushion, me and my dad, and I was just like what's gonna happen next? Um, have you seen it?

A: No! I haven't I, I think I've seen bits of it, like trailers and things but ...

B: OK, it's um ...

A: No, I knew she was in it.

B: Yeah, so basically, he, uh, there's a baddy in it, as every action film it has a good baddy, and he's got no thumb. I remember that, that was like a memorable bit of it, he had no thumb. And so they sort of highjack this ... this bus. And it's set that it can only drive at a certain speed – hence the name. And so it's just basically driving through, through the city and it can't stop otherwise there's a bomb and it's gonna blow it up. Um, so, and there's a, Keanu Reeves he's, um, he's the goody he's uh a policeman. And he's ... he jumps on board the bus to try and stop this bomb from going off. And, uh, it's just all the different characters on the bus. It's just really ...

A: The whole film is on the bus?

B: Yeah and, but it's, it's, well not at the beginning, it sort of goes onto the bus. But uh, it's just I remember it being so tense and gripping, 'cos you just didn't know what was gonna happen. You didn't know.

A: It sounds really uncomfortable to watch, was it not?

B: It ... it's ... I just like that kind of that feeling of like pure suspense 'cos you just have no idea if it's gonna end well or not. And it did end very well. You have to watch it.

A: Well yeah, as long as there's, you know, a point when you can relax, 'cos I don't like feeling like that the whole way through a movie, anxiety.

B: Yeah, because you know when it's like driving along, and it, 'cos I think it has to stay at fifty miles per hour. And uh, so uh, if there's, driving along a motorway and it's, there's traffic and stuff you have to change the route and things, so you just don't know where it's gonna go.

A: Oh, OK.

B: And then they get to a bridge that's um, hasn't finished being built. Uh so you're not sure how they're gonna get over the bridge and stuff like that. So there's lots of moments where you just think, I have no clue what's gonna happen.

A: Good stunts?

B: Very good, and I heard that he did all his stunts himself, Keanu Reeves.

A: Yes, they always say that.

B: He likes a bit of action, doesn't he? So, and I think it always helps to have a very good heroine in a film and she's, she's beautiful, don't you think?

A: Yes, I love her. I think she's very funny, but tell me there's some comedy in there.

B: Um, there's not a huge amount of comedy. Uh, it's one of your traditional sort of American blockbuster action films. So yeah but it's, it's just, it's – there's not many action films with comedy in though are there?

A: I think that's why I don't watch them.

B: Oh really?

A: Yeah.

B: What's your sort of, your favourite type of film?

A: I don't like to feel uncomfortable so it's just comedy.

B: Watch Speed.

A: Mm mm OK.

Conversation 1

W = Woman M = Man

W: So here we are in Greenwich Village.

M: It looks very different from the rest of New York.

W: Yeah, the streets are quite narrow and the buildings aren't as high.

M: It does look quite village-like.

W: Yeah, but it's quite big. It extends out west that way to the Hudson River, north above Washington Square. We'll go up there in a bit.

M: And you lived here?

W: When I first came to New York, yeah. In an apartment just around the corner, on West Third Street. Actually, you can see the building over there.

M: Near The Blue Note Jazz Club?

W: Yeah.

M: I've heard of The Blue Note.

W: It's pretty famous. There are some great jazz clubs around the neighbourhood, and that's one of the best. We can see a show there one night if you want.

M: That'd be great.

W: Now up here on the left is the Café Reggìo. It's where I used to hang out and read when I wasn't working.

M: Looks good.

W: Their cappuccino is great. The story goes that the original owner brought cappuccino to America. You can see the original cappuccino machine inside.

M: Cool. We could stop and have a coffee.

W: Maybe a bit later? Let's head over to Washington Square Park and then circle back.

M: OK – lead the way!

...

W: A lot of these clubs we're walking by have a real history. As I'm sure you know, Greenwich Village has always been a centre of artistic life – very bohemian. It's always attracted famous writers, dancers and poets. And in the sixties, it was a big part of the folk music scene: Simon and Garfunkel, Joni Mitchell, Bob Dylan, you know.

M: Before my time! Now what's this?

W: This is Washington Square Park. We'll walk into the park on this side. Can you play chess?

M: A bit, yeah.

W: Any of these guys here would be happy to challenge you to a game of chess. They're here all day, every day.

M: Maybe next time – I'm not that good! What's the arch over there? It looks like the Arc de Triomphe in Paris.

W: Well it should, that's the Washington Square arch. It was modelled on the Arc de Triomphe and built in 1889 to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as president.

M: Could we sit down a second? I need a break.

W: Why don't we retrace our steps and go back to the Café Reggìo?

M: Sounds good. I could really do with a coffee.

Conversation 2

M1 = Man 1 W = Woman M2 = Man 2

M1: So, this is Radcliffe Square.

W: Wow! Is this right in the centre then?

M1: Pretty much.

M2: What's that?

M1: Hold on. Let's just get off our bikes ...

Right, so that building in front of us is the Bodleian, named after the founder – Thomas Bodley. Believe it or not, despite the fact that it's circular, it's actually a library.

W: Cool!

M1: Yeah, it gets a copy of every book published in the UK.

M2: Who can use it?

M1: Any student at the university. Of course, each college also has its own library – you know the university's divided into colleges, right?

M2: Right. How many colleges are there?

M1: Just under forty. Well, thirty-eight to be exact.

W: So that means thirty-eight libraries?!

M1: Mm but they're not all as big as the Bodleian. Anyway, we'll need to get back on our bikes for the next bit.

...

M1: Can you hear me if I talk as we cycle along?

M2: Yeah.

W: OK, but don't go too fast. I'm not very steady on this thing!

M1: So, here's the famous Bridge of Sighs, connecting two sides of Hertford College.

M2: I've seen the original.

M1: What, of the bridge? In Italy, you mean?

M2: Ja, it's in Venice. Beautiful.

M1: OK. We'll go past New College and then onto the High Street.

M2: Is that New College there?

M1: Yep.

W: How 'new' is new?

M1: Roughly 1370.

W: You're kidding!

M1: No, really! Interestingly, the oldest college was actually only founded a hundred or so years earlier! Uh-oh, watch out on this corner ...

M1: That's the 'Schools'. It's where the students take their exams. Apparently, the biggest room can seat somewhere in the region of 500 students although I haven't seen it myself. Anyway, we're turning right here. The street's cobbled, so be careful.

M2: How many students are there at the university in total?

M1: To be honest, it depends. In term time, you'd probably get upwards of 20,000.

M2: Many international students?

M1: Some, but most are from the UK. We'll finish by cycling down this way to Christ Church. We can actually go inside if we're quick. It's well worth a visit.

M2: Christ Church is another college?

M1: Yeah, the biggest and probably the most famous. Have you seen any of the Harry Potter films?

M2: No ...

W: I have!

M1: Oh, well, you'll recognise the Great Hall. It's where they have the feasts in Hogwarts School. You know that bit when Harry ...

S = Sarah T = Tim N = Nigel

S: Right, well, we have our shortlist for the new feature that we're going to put into the town centre, which one gets your vote, Tim?

T: I'm really in favour of the – the state-of-the-art multiplex cinema. I think that it would be most useful and beneficial for the community. I think it will be used a great deal, I think it would bring jobs to the area, and I think it would provide entertainment and activities for young people.

N: The only thing that would concern me though is that that's going to be very, very expensive.

T: Um hm.

S: I mean, I personally would prefer the botanical garden.

T: Oh.

S: Because I think that that will satisfy the needs of many different age groups. I think it would be very good for wheelchairs, for ... for blind people, for people with disabilities, there would be areas that would be excellent for young people, and lots of learning opportunities in the education centre. And we know from past experience that the older age group certainly enjoy gardens.

T: The only thing that would concern me on that is that you mention youth, but I don't think that you're going to get as many young people involved in a botanical garden. I think if it was interactive then it would be ... but just as a thing that was showing I'm, I'm not so sure.

N: Well, I don't want to harp on about costs again but we have to consider the maintenance of this botanical garden. There are very high maintenance costs involved.

S: Oh, so, Nigel what, what would you prefer?

N: Well, my vote would go to the theatre workshop space for young people. And I know we said we don't want to discriminate against any ... we don't want to leave out certain members of our society, but I think we've got a problem in this town about kids getting bored, hanging around on street corners, they need something to do and a theatre workshop space is going to get them ... it's going to give them a routine, it's going to give them a motivation, and then when they do their shows, they're bringing along their grandparents, their parents, I feel it's very inclusive.

T: Can you see the older generation wanting it, liking it?

N: I think the older generation want to be sure that kids aren't hanging about the streets with nothing to do.

S: And could that theatre workshop space be used for other things as well?

N: Absolutely.

S: Could it be used for meetings, for other sections of society?

N: ... Aerobics ... there's going to be a sprung wooden floor so there'll be dance classes, yoga, pilates, multi-purpose ...
